ALBERT HARDING NEWMAN

To the Class of Ninety-Five:

In submitting the third class report, I wish to thank you. I am grateful not only for the promptness with which you have so generally answered my request for information, but also for the earnestness with which so many of you have followed my suggestion to write a connected account of your life since the last report. In both these ways you have added to the interest of the report. It comes to you with the information more nearly of the present; it is less impersonal. However, the sketch under each man's name is not to be understood as a direct quotation. In some instances, indeed, the information given in the last report has been combined with the sketch written for this report in order to make a more complete account. If you will advise me of errors and omissions, I shall be glad to make corrections in the next report. I should like the addresses of missing men, particularly the holders of the A.B. or S.B. degree.

It is my very sad duty to record the deaths, since the last report, of the following eleven men: Edward Livingston Adams, Jr., James Wadsworth Cooke, David Wakeman Fenton, William Augustus Garst, Charles Sumner Griffin, Michitaro Hisa, Edward Bartlet Lambert, Lucius Page Lane, Arthur Maxwell Line, Joseph Trumbull Stickney, David Parsons Wilder. The short biographies of these men have been written in some instances by classmates, in others by friends and relatives, while the sketches of Charles Sumner Griffin and Joseph Trumbull Stickney are taken from the Harvard Graduates' Magazine.

I ask your careful consideration of the class treasurer's report.

ALBERT H. NEWMAN.

CLASS FUND

The Class Committee submits the following report of the '93 Class Fund, to which three hundred and forty-three members of the class have subscribed $9192. Fifty-six members are still indebted to the Fund to the amount of $1036, and eleven members who promised to contribute to the Fund died before entirely fulfilling their pledges, thus entailing a loss of $190.

MEMBERS OF THE CLASS

An asterisk (*) indicates death. Preceding a date at the right of the column it indicates the year of death. A degree of A.B. or S.B. out of course is indicated, as in the Quinquennial, by the year placed directly after the name. A superior numeral 1, 2, 3, or 4, printed before a name, indicates entrance in the class in the corresponding college year out of course.

RECORD OF THE CLASS

TRUMAN ABBE. After four years at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, I received M.D. degree from Columbia in 1899. Entered Mt. Sinai Hospital, New York City, on interne surgical staff in January, 1900. I escaped from Mt. Sinai Hospital six months earlier than planned, owing to good behavior and the illness of the man who was just ahead of me. From February 1 to June 1, 1902, on the house staff of the New York Lying-In Hospital. Practiced medicine in New York State for the summer of 1902, and then came back home to Washington, D. C., to settle, and have been practicing there ever since. I am assistant to the professor in surgery and to the professor in physiology at Georgetown University Medical School. Have written "Notes on the Physiologic and Therapeutic Action of Radium" and several other medical papers; edited the surgical and obstetrical portions of Wharton & Stillé's "Medical Jurisprudence." I am a member of the District of Columbia Medical Association and Medical Society, Harvard Club, University Club, and Cosmos Club.

CLARK HAMILTON ABBOTT. I am still practicing law in New York City. In 1902 I resigned my position as attorney for the Seamen's Branch of the Legal Aid Society and formed, with Bartholomew B. Coyne of the Harvard Law School, class of 1901, the firm of Abbott & Coyne, with office at 29 Broadway. I am assistant secretary and attorney of the New York State Board of Commissioners for Licensing Sailors' Hotels and Boarding-Houses; I am treasurer of the Atlantic Coast Marine Firemen's Union, and officer or adviser in all the other seamen's unions of the Atlantic coast (three); and I am interested in seamen's affairs generally. I have compiled a book on Dante and written a few articles on seamen. In 1901 I was delegate to the City Committee of the Citizens' Union, and in 1902 was chairman of the first Assembly District Committee. In 1901 I was on the committee of meetings and speakers during the successful campaign of Mayor Low. Last year I was defeated for State Senate, being Republican candidate from the tenth district, New York. I married in April, 1900, Helen Rosse, who died in October, 1902. I am a member of the Harvard Club, New York; the Seventh Regiment, New York; Dante Society, Cambridge; Knight Templar Palestine Commandery and Mystic Shrine, Mecca Temple, New York.

EDWARD LIVINGSTON ADAMS, JR., son of Edward L. and Emily Macy Adams, was born in Boston, November 17, 1873. He prepared for college at Mr. Hopkinson's School and at Mr. Cutler's School in Newton. In college he played on the class base-ball nine. After graduating he went into the employ of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company at Philadelphia, filling various positions in the engineering department in Pennsylvania and in New Jersey. He was offered the position of assistant engineer of the Connellsville Division of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, with headquarters at Connellsville, which he accepted, and soon after was made engineer of that portion of the division between Connellsville and Cumberland, Maryland, including branch roads. He took keen interest in his work and overtaxed his strength to such extent that he came home in January, 1903, to rest and recuperate. He was soon after ordered by his physician to go to Auburndale, Massachusetts, in hopes of benefit from the country air, but he continued to grow weaker until his death on May 3, 1903. He had been hoping to achieve a higher and coveted position in the railroad, and shortly before his death was notified the place would be his as soon as he recovered his health.

EDWARD MAX ADAMS. In September, 1902, I was appointed Principal of Grammar School No. 26, Buffalo,

New York. I am a member of the Independent Club, Buffalo, also of Blazing Star Lodge No. 694, East Aurora Chapter, Lake Erie Commandery K. T., Shrine.

IVERS SHEPARD ADAMS. I am superintendent of the East Cambridge factory of The Linen Thread Company. I am a member of Puritan and Country clubs, Boston, and Harvard Club, New York.

MORTON ARNOLD ALDRICH. I continue to teach economics and sociology, being, since 1901, associate professor in Tulane University, New Orleans. In addition, I am agent and expert in charge of investigations in rice irrigation in Louisiana and Texas for the United States Department of Agriculture. I was married, May 31, 1902, to Zoë Worthington Fiske, daughter of Asa Severance and Elizabeth Worthington Hand Fiske. We have two children: Helen Fiske, born March 24, 1903, and Elizabeth, born December 1, 1904. I belong to the Round Table Club, New Orleans.

HENRY VAN DYKE ALLEN. I received the degree of S.B. in 1896 from the Lawrence Scientific School. In April, 1897, I entered the employ of Chas. H. Davis, consulting engineer, New York City, and remained with him for one and a half years as draftsman and inspector, and in November, 1898, entered the testing department of the General Electric Co. at Schenectady, remaining there a year and a half. Held a position in the engineering department for a year, and am at present in the selling organization. I belong to the Harvard Club of New York and to the Mohawk Golf Club, Schenectady.

TIMOTHY FIELD ALLEN. I am still in the stock brokerage business, having been admitted to membership in the firm of Thos. L. Manson Company of 71 Broadway, New York City, November 1, 1903. Married, September 28, 1897, Laura Isabelle Woodford, and have three children:

Elizabeth Fairchild, born February 12, 1899; Timothy Field, 3d, born November 17, 1900; and John Woodford, born November 17, 1903.

WINTHROP AMES. I continued with the Bates & Guild Company, Boston, publishers of architectural and art books and magazines, as secretary (meanwhile spending vacation months abroad every year, and visiting, among other places, the coast of Dalmatia, Greece, Constantinople, Spain, and Tangier) till September, 1904, when I undertook, experimentally, a season as theatrical manager, and am at present joint manager of the Castle Square Theatre, Boston.

HENRY EDWIN ANDREWS. I was in the shoe business in Boston, 1896 to 1898, and then taught for a year in Bowdoin College and two years in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. I was manager of the New York office of the Leatheroid Manufacturing Company from June, 1901, to July, 1903. I have been in the home office of the Leatheroid Manufacturing Company, Kennebunk, Maine, since July, 1903. I am director of the Mousam Manufacturing Company, Kennebunk, Maine.

EDMUND KENT ARNOLD. I have continued the practice of law in Boston with the firm of Peabody & Arnold. I am treasurer of the Harvard Law School Association. I was married, June 27, 1901, to Luenna Pearl Butler, daughter of Richard Butler and Luenna Clough Butler. I have two children: Lois, born November 3, 1902, and Marie Butler, born October 26, 1904.

NEWTON SAMUEL BACON. I studied at the Harvard Medical School from 1895 to 1899, receiving M.D. degree in June, 1899. Was also assistant in chemistry at the Harvard Medical and Dental schools during the same period. Began practice, November, 1899, in Cambridge. Have been assistant in Hygiene I. at Harvard College since 1900. Married, November 6, 1902, Anne Rogers Dustin, daughter of John Knight and Lucy Davis Dustin, of Gloucester, Mass. A daughter, Margaret, was born to us May 11, 1904. I belong to the Massachusetts Medical Society and to the Cambridge Medical Improvement Society.

ALVIN WARREN BANCROFT. I am still with the Heywood Bros. & Wakefield Co., chair manufacturers at Gardner. In March, 1903, was promoted from assistant superintendent to superintendent of the wood-working department of Heywood Bros. & Wakefield Co., having charge of about six hundred men. Married, August 21, 1900, Emily Washburn. Have one son, Raymond Washburn, born October 13, 1901.

NEWELL ALVIN BARKER. Present address unknown.

FREDERIC HUNTINGTON BARTLETT. I have alternated between teaching and studying, having received the degree of A.M. from Columbia during my residence there, 1899–1900. Since my last communication, I have been a student at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York. The routine of life has little variety under these circumstances, but in my second year I upset somewhat the celibate traditions of the medical student by my marriage to Eleanor Brooks Pearson, June 16, 1902, daughter of George Frederick and Henrietta Taylor Pearson. In the summer of 1903 I was in England and on the Continent, spending six weeks in Berne, Switzerland, working in the physiological laboratory of the university. The results of my mild investigation were published in The American Journal of Physiology for October, 1903. I hope by the time of the class reunion to have put away childish things and to be in possession of a medical degree from Columbia.

GEORGE GRIFFITHS BARTLETT. I was three years in the Divinity School of the Protestant Episcopal Church in Philadelphia, graduating there in 1898. For the summer of '98 was at Holy Trinity Church, Philadelphia. In October, 1898, I joined the staff of Grace Church, New York, becoming rector's assistant in December, 1900. In November, 1902, I became rector of the Memorial Church of St. Paul, Overbrook, Philadelphia, where I still am. The only article I have written is a paper read before the Department of Young People's Societies of the Religious Education Association, at its Convention in Philadelphia, 1904, the title of which is "The Test of Success in Church Boys' Clubs." The article is published in the Proceedings of that convention, and has since appeared in Work with Boys for April, 1904.

HARRY ALBERT BATHRICK. Since the last report I have continued my work in the Cleveland schools, largely in the development of the secondary science work. This for many reasons is sufficiently exacting to exclude many other activities. I am a member of several pedagogical and technical societies only. My marriage to Caroline I. Slade occurred May 30, 1899. I have one daughter, Frances Slade, born November 2, 1900.

ITHAMAR MANSUR BEARD. I have taught school ever since leaving college in the following situations: 1895–96, teacher of English at New Hampshire Agricultural College; 1896–99, private tutor in Maine and in Boston; 1899–1901, teacher of history at St. Paul's School, Concord, New Hampshire; 1901–1905, master of the Chorister's School of Grace Church, New York City.

MARX BECHHOLD. Present address unknown.

HENRY CHAUNCEY BEECHER. I was at New York Law School 1894 to 1896, graduating in the class of 1896. Since then I have practiced law at Newark, New Jersey. Am a member of firm of Brown & Beecher. Married, September 18, 1894, Luella King Gorham. Have two children: Chauncey Gorham, born April 1, 1897, and Dorothy King, born December 21, 1898. I belong to the North End Club and to the Lawyers' Club of Essex County, and am also a charter member of Harvard Club of New Jersey, organized in Newark recently. Have been a member of the Royal Arcanum for about five years, a Mason three years, and a Shriner nearly two years.

MAX BENSHIMOL. I am still teaching in the Cambridge Latin School, where I began to teach in 1897, after two years' study in the Harvard Graduate School. I have been a master in the Cambridge Latin School since 1901. I was married, June 25, 1896, to Amie Schwartz, and have two children: Ernest, born May 23, 1897, and Harriet, born November 28, 1900.

NEWELL BENT. Since graduation I have been senior master in the Fay School, Southborough, Mass. Was married, December 22, 1904, to Margaret B. Stevenson, daughter of David Stevenson and Suwanee Marion Stevenson. Spent the summer of 1903 in England and Scotland. I am secretary and treasurer of the Southborough Golf Club, and a trustee of the town library.

LESLIE MELVILLE BIGELOW. Died March 24, 1898. See secretary's second report, page 22.

ASA WHITE KENNEY BILLINGS. After devoting two years to graduate work in physics at Harvard, I went into engineering, chiefly street railway construction work. In June, 1899, I went to Havana, Cuba, as an engineer in charge of the construction of an electric street railway. After two years I came back to the United States, but in June, 1902, returned to Havana to act as chief engineer of the Insular Railway Company. Directed the making of the preliminary studies for about one hundred miles of projected electric railway in Havana and Pinar del Rio provinces, and constructed a small portion of same. I am now chief engineer of this company and of the Havana Electric Railway Company. I was married, December 17, 1900, to Edna Peabody. Have one child, Kenney Peabody, born September 21, 1901. Member American Club, Havana.

NORMAN WILLIAMS BINGHAM, JR. For three months after graduation I worked on the Boston Journal, then spent three years in the Harvard Law School. Was graduate manager of athletics in 1897 and 1898. Since 1898 I have devoted my time to the practice of law in Boston. I was married at Bangor, Maine, on February 23, 1904, to Ethel Prescott Stetson, daughter of Arthur F. and Kate C. Stetson. For the past two years I have served as a graduate member of the Committee on the Regulation of Athletic Sports (commonly known as the "Athletic Committee"). On January 2, 1904, with Fitz-Henry Smith, Jr., and Donald M. Hill, I opened a new law office, under the firm name of Bingham, Smith & Hill, and I am now permanently located in the Monks Building, 35 Congress Street, Boston.

WILLIAM MARSHALL BLACK. After a connection of ten years with Western Maryland College, I resigned in the spring of 1901, in order to accept a more lucrative position in the Lynchburg High School, where I have charge of the work in German. This position had this attraction also, that it brought me back to my native town, — Lynchburg. December 2, 1903, I was married to Lucile Watkins, daughter of George Putnam and Jimmie Lelia Watkins. My advice to the men of '95 — who, if not married, are rapidly growing into old bachelors — is, "Go thou and do likewise." I am a member of the Oakwood Country Club, of the Teachers' Club; secretary and treasurer of the Concordia Glee Club; president of the Epworth League of Court Street Methodist Episcopal Church, South; and president of the K. R. F. Dramatic Club. This winter I am giving a course of lectures on German Literature before the Teachers' Club.

CHARLES BERTRAND BURWASH BOWSER. In June, 1902, I resigned as rector of Christ Church, Rochdale, Massachusetts, and in November, 1902, became the assistant minister of Grace Church, Lawrence, Massachusetts, where I still continue to perform my duties in due form and order.

AUGUSTUS JOSEPH BOYDEN. At the time of the last report I was with Geo. S. Baldwin & Co., stock brokers. This firm was dissolved and the business taken over by the firm of Codman, Grew & Co., with whom I am now connected. Served one year in the Beverly Common Council, and later offered to serve as an alderman, but the offer being declined by the voters, have since remained in private life.

JOHN ALFRED BREWSTER. After having taught four years in the department of mathematics in Armour Institute of Technology at Chicago, I applied, in 1903, for a year's leave of absence in order to have the opportunity of doing special graduate work. An arrangement was suggested by which I might retain my connection with the Institute while still carrying on graduate work in Chicago. However, the nature of the work I desired made this inadvisable at the time. My plans were delayed for six months by the death of a friend and the necessity of administering a large estate in Ohio, Illinois, and Colorado. In February, 1904, I became a graduate student at Columbia University. I am working in the departments of political science and mathematics. My special subject of study is sociology and statistics in connection with education. I have recently delivered a lecture upon "Modern Tendencies in Teaching Mathematics" in a college lecture course offered to the teachers of Greater New York. I am also connected with two educational publications, one of which is a review, while the other is a periodical devoted to special topics.

WALTER KIRKPATRICK BRICE. For two years after graduation I taught at St. Mark's School, Southborough. In fall, 1897, started on trip around the world. Spent much time in China. During the Spanish war I served as first lieutenant Third Regiment U. S. Vol. Engineers until January 1, 1899. I was a clerk in the Morton Trust Company, New York City, 1899 to 1901. Revisited China in 1903, where I took part in opening first section of Canton-Hankow Railway, first railway in southern China. Also travelled in Philippines and Japan. I belong to the following clubs: Harvard, University, and Racquet and Tennis clubs of New York, Tennis and Racquet Club of Boston.

FRITZ von BRIESEN. In September, 1895, entered the law office of Briesen & Knauth, New York, and in October entered New York University Law School. After graduating, in 1897, I took charge of the Washington branch office of Briesen & Knauth in 1900. Travelled abroad in summers of 1896 and 1899. In April, 1904, I again returned to the New York office of Briesen & Knauth. During my stay in Washington I attended the School of Comparative Jurisprudence and Diplomacy of Columbian University (now George Washington University), at which I obtained, in 1901, the degree of LL.M., and in 1902 the degree of D.C.L. The subject of my thesis was "Federal Protection of Aliens." In Washington I became a member of the Metropolitan Club and also of the University Club, both of that city.

WALTER MOTHERWELL BRIGGS. I drew out of business temporarily in December, 1902, though still keeping my membership in New York Stock Exchange. I took my family to California that winter, and visited various parts of the state, north and south. I returned to Dedham, Massachusetts, for the summer, bringing back eight ponies from the West, using them to play polo with Dedham and Norfolk clubs. In December, 1903, I went to Europe with three other Harvard fellows, via Azores and Gibraltar to Naples, travelled in Italy, Riviera, and France. We returned in February, 1904. Went to New Orleans for a month for the carnival and shooting; then went to Havana and around Cuba by Spanish line to Santiago — a week's trip; then to Jamaica, Porto Rico, Saint Thomas, Fort de France and Mont Pelée, Martinique, Barbadoes, Bermuda, and home. I have now bought a country place in Dedham. I am a member New York Stock Exchange, Union Club of Boston, Dedham Polo Club, Norfolk Country Club. I married, January 11, 1899, May E. Phillips, and have two children: Morton Phillips, born November 30, 1899, and Walter De Blois, born January 29, 1901.

WALTER DU BOIS BROOKINGS. I am still engaged principally in the manufacture of lumber, and am secretary and treasurer of the Brookings Lumber & Box Co., Redlands, California. In spite of my legal training I have become entirely commercial in my activities, and in addition to the lumber business I am interested in various other business enterprises. Here in Redlands we have a University Club of one hundred members, with a fine little club-house, and, as the Harvard contingent is strong, I manage to keep green the memory of my Harvard days.

EARLE BROWN. After working for three years with the Mechanical Fabric Company, Providence, Rhode Island, I studied law at Harvard. In 1898 served for seven months in the First Rhode Island Volunteers, stationed at Camps Alger and Fornance. Admitted to the Massachusetts Bar, January, 1902. Took degree of LL.B. at the Harvard Law School, June, 1902, and since have practiced law in Worcester, Massachusetts, being associated with the office of Smith, Gage & Dresser. Belong to the Quinsigamond Boat Club, Winter Club, Worcester Harvard Club, and Worcester Economic Club.

HENRY TUCKER BROWN. After graduation I was for some two years with Hallett Bros., dealers in wholesale wrapping paper, Boston. In March, 1899, entered the American Book Company, 100 Washington Square, New York City, where have been in charge of the advertising and circular departments since that time. Married Gertrude Clark, daughter of Paris Gardner and Mary Fairman Clark, at New York, June 1, 1904. I belong to the Harvard Club, New York, and the New York Alumni Association of Phillips Academy, Andover.

HOWARD WICKS BROWN. I am still a member of the law firm organized September, 1900, under the name of Weston-Smith & Walcott. The name of the firm, however, has been changed to Weston-Smith, Walcott, Peabody & Brown. Our offices are still in the Central Building, 70 State Street, Boston.

ISAAC HARVEY BRUMBAUGH. I am still at Juniata College, Huntingdon, Pennsylvania, where, as acting president, I am endeavoring to work out some Harvard ideals in a small institution. Besides my administrative duties, I continue to teach a few classes, and find my greatest pleasure in the latter work. My marriage to Amelia Henrietta Johnson, April 26, 1900, was recorded in the last report. We have two daughters: Barbara, born October 24, 1901, and Catherine Bulfinch, born November 22, 1902.

LINCOLN BRYANT. Since 1898, when I received LL.B. degree from the Harvard Law School, I have been practicing law in Boston. On June 1, 1903, George F. Wales, Amherst '93, Clifton L. Bremer, Harvard '96 and Harvard Law School '98, and I opened offices for practice of the law at 330, 331, 332 Tremont Building, Boston. We succeeded Governor Bates in these private offices, but, so far, have not followed him into any of his public ones. Later we were joined by Ellery H. Clark, '96. I am the only bachelor in the office, and as the brains have been said to be in the minority, I am preserving my status for the benefit of my associates. I have lived in Hingham since graduating from the Law School, and I am a member of most of the local clubs. I am also a firm believer in the advantages of life in the country, and an expert on train service. Two years ago I joined the Massachusetts Militia and became a member of Light Battery A, partly to get a taste of military service, and partly to keep in touch with younger Harvard graduates. I am also a member of the Harvard Musical Association.

FRANK JAMES BUCHANAN. Present address unknown. The last the secretary heard was that he had "gone to China to fill an official position."

HENRY ADSIT BULL. Have studied law with Lock & Milburn, Buffalo, and in the Buffalo Law School, where I graduated in 1897. Served during Spanish war as captain of 65th New York Volunteers Infantry, and have been in the National Guard till I resigned my captaincy in 1900, because of pressing law practice. In 1899 formed partnership of Wood & Bull with L. D. Wood (Cornell). On December 7, 1901, I was married to Cornelia Wilcox. Soon after last report withdrew from law partnership and practiced alone for two years. In May, 1903, formed partnership with Ansley Wilcox (father of Mrs. Bull), first under name of Wilcox & Miner, succeeding Mr. Miner, deceased, and later under name of Wilcox & Bull, which continues. Was lecturer on constitutional law and on code practice in Buffalo Law School, 1901–1904, serving part of that time on Committee on Student Organizations of University of Buffalo, supervising athletics, glee club, etc. Resigned because of interference with regular work. Secretary and treasurer Harvard Club of Buffalo, 1902–1904, and still on Executive Committee. I am a member of Saturn and University clubs, Buffalo. Appointed in 1903 by Appellate Division of Supreme Court a trustee of Law Library of the Eighth Judicial District. Since 1899 I have been Republican district committee-man in home district, taking active part in all political work. Active member (lay reader) in Laymen's Missionary League of Episcopal Church, and in charge, since 1903, of Saint Andrew's Cadet Corps, a regiment of four hundred boys maintained by the Episcopal churches of Buffalo. Have one daughter, Katherine, born December 22, 1902.

ALBERT WILLIAM BULLARD. I am engaged in the publishing and printing business, which I established in 1896 at Boston.

WALTER EDWARD BURKE. I remained with New York Life Insurance Company, as cashier, until March 1, 1902. I then took up real estate and insurance, and at present I am in that business. I am also treasurer of The Lubion Manufacturing Company. I was married, January 1, 1900, to Zayma King. Have one son, Roydon, born December 21, 1901, at Quincy, Massachusetts.

WILLIAM ALBERT BUTLER. Present address unknown.

LOUIS MAYER CAHN. I am still in the active practice of law in Chicago. The firm of which I was a member was dissolved by the death of my partner in August, 1904, since which time I have been practicing alone. I have continued to do work in connection with the Maxwell Street Settlement, of which organization I have been secretary and a member of the board of directors for several years. The summer of 1903 I spent in Europe, visiting England, France, Germany, and Switzerland. I am a member of the Harvard Club of Chicago.

WINFIELD HENRY CAMERON. After receiving LL.B. degree from Harvard in 1898 I practiced law in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, until December, 1900, when I made a nine months' trip abroad. On my return, in 1901, I became junior partner in the investment banking house of Oliver C. Fuller & Co., which was merged into the Wisconsin Trust & Security Co. in February, 1904. Was in the bond department of that company until December, 1904, when I resigned to become manager of the bond department of the Milwaukee Trust Co., which position I now hold. Married, October 15, 1902, Julia Greer, daughter of William T. and Harriet

E. Greer, of Louisville, Kentucky. Belong to Milwaukee Athletic, Milwaukee Town, Milwaukee Country, University, and Milwaukee clubs.

RANDALL THOMAS CAPEN. For three years after leaving college I was a student at the Newton Theological Institution, and, having spent the summer months following in Europe, studied for a year in the Free Church College, Glasgow, Scotland. Since then I have been in the Baptist ministry. On November 1, 1901, I accepted call to First Baptist Church, Madison, Wisconsin, where I remained until April, 1904. I resigned to go as a missionary to China. I was married, May 6, 1903, to Louise Huntley Barbour, daughter of Emma James White and Thomas Seymour Barbour. My wife died March 9, 1904, leaving a daughter, Louise Huntley Barbour, born March 9, 1904. My present address is Swatow, China.

ALBERT BENTON CARMAN. In 1897–98 I returned to Harvard to complete my college course, which I had been compelled to abandon at the end of my junior year. From 1898–1900 I was a special student in the Law School, receiving A.B. degree in 1899, as of '95. During the next two years I was with Carman, Smith & Company, Columbus, Ohio. Since that time I have been teaching in the public schools of New York City. My address is 5 West 125th Street.

ROBERT KELSO CASSATT. Was employed on the Pennsylvania R.R. from May, 1896, to September, 1898. Since then I have been assistant to president of the New York, Philadelphia & Norfolk R.R., and also since December, 1900, have been manager of the Keystone Coal Co. of Philadelphia. Married, January 22, 1900, Minnie Ruckman Drexel Fell. Belong to the Philadelphia, Rittenhouse, Country, Racquet and Radnor Hunt clubs, all of Philadelphia, to the Union Club of New York, and to the Sons of the Revolution.

WILLIAM WATSON CASWELL. My occupation, stock brokerage and bond business, has not changed. I am still a member of the firm of Lincoln, Caswell & Co., 18 Wall Street, New York City. I have resigned from a few clubs mentioned in the last report, and now belong to the following: The Union Club, New York City; Harvard Club, New York City; Country Club of Westchester, New York; American Yacht Club, Rye, New York; Apawamis Club, Rye, New York. I was married, December 2, 1896, to Pauline Starr, and have two children: William Watson, Jr. (November 25, 1897), and Dorothy (December 30, 1898).

WILLIAM ERVIN CATE. In September after graduation I became principal of the Littleton (Mass.) High School. After three years went to Leicester Academy as an assistant, and in 1899 was elected principal. I was married, August 28, 1900, to Florence Gertrude Spring. In 1897 I was president of the North-West Middlesex Teachers' Association. Since June, 1903, have been principal of the David Prouty High School at Spencer, Massachusetts. During summer of 1903 travelled in England, Belgium, Holland, Germany, Switzerland, Italy, and France. Have been member of the Wachusett Schoolmasters' Club, and am president of the Worcester County Schoolmasters' Club.

HENRY HARMON CHAMBERLIN. I received A.M. degree from Harvard in 1896, and spent the next two years as instructor in English at Harvard. During the following year, 1899–1900, I was the head of the English department at Packard's Business College, New York. I travelled abroad for several years, and since then for the most part I have lived at my home in Worcester. I have published a volume of verse entitled "The Age of Ivory."

JOHN HENRY CHASE. I am continuing in my profession, teaching in secondary schools. 1897–1901 taught in the Country School for Boys, Baltimore, Maryland. Since 1901 I have been teaching Greek and Latin in Middlesex School, Concord, Massachusetts. On July 20, 1899, I married Katharine Newell Denison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George William Denison. Mrs. Chase died June 29, 1900, leaving a son, John Denison, born June 26, 1900. I married, August 12, 1902, Margaret Lyon Denison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George William Denison.

JOHN MORGAN CHEEK. I am still engaged in farming in North Carolina, grazing being our specialty. Our sheep go to New York City markets, and our cattle are handled by exporters. I have also done some teaching for the last three years, having charge of the department of English at the Appalachian Training School, a state normal school for teachers. I was married, June 27, 1900, to Olive Virginia Cornett, and have one daughter, Laura Margaret, born June 8, 1901.

GEORGE CHASE CHRISTIAN. Since the last report I have continued in the business of manufacturing flour, operating mills at Minneapolis, Minnesota, Ashton, South Dakota, and Redfield, South Dakota, with the firm name of George C. Christian & Co., in which my brother, Henry H. Christian, is a partner. I have travelled a good deal, including several trips to California, Florida, etc., and a winter's sojourn in Egypt in 1901–2. I married, April 27, 1897, Carolyn Edwina McKnight. I am secretary of S. T. McKnight Co., Minneapolis; member of the Chamber of Commerce, Minneapolis; director of the Security Bank of Minnesota; director of the Hardwood Manufacturing Co., Minneapolis; director of the Midland Linseed Co., Minneapolis; vestryman of St. Mark's Pro-Cathedral, Minneapolis; chairman of the Anti-Tuberculosis Committee, Minneapolis; director of the Associated Charities, Minneapolis; life member of the Harvard Union, Cambridge; director of l'Alliance Française, Minneapolis; member Harvard Club of New York; member Harvard Club of Minnesota; member of Board of Governors of Minikahda Club, Minneapolis; member Minneapolis Club; member Minnesota Chapter of Society of Colonial Wars.

ELLIOTT BRADFORD CHURCH. The law firm of Lounsbury, Holbrook & Church, of which I became a member in 1899, was dissolved in March, 1903, since which time I have continued the practice of the law alone, my office being now with Messrs. Wm. S. Youngman and Jerome C. Smith at 832 India Building, 84 State Street, Boston. For the past two years I have been actively interested in the Good Government Association of Boston. Belong to the University Club and the Bar Association of Boston, and a number of other clubs and societies in Boston and Taunton, in which latter place I am now residing.

FRANK NATHANIEL CLAPP. For the first year after graduation I was in the banking business with Pfaelzer, Walker & Co. Since then I have been in the leather business, first with Frank W. Hunt & Co., and now with Lucius Beebe & Sons at 129 South Street, Boston. I was married, December 10, 1899, to Edith Gardner Reed, and have two children: Priscilla, born October 1, 1902, and Nathaniel Dudley, born February 12, 1905.

GEORGE IRVING CLAPP. I continued as superintendent of schools at Spencer, Massachusetts, until the summer of 1903, when I accepted my present position as superintendent at Woburn. I was married, July 21, 1897, to Lottie Knowlton Mowry, and have a daughter, Dorothy Mowry, born November 27, 1901.

WILLIAM EDWIN CLARK. Since writing the brief sketch for the last Class Report I have continued in the same business — electrical — in which I was then engaged. My classmate, Charles W. Mills, and myself have been successful in increasing the volume of our business, and in January, 1903, we incorporated under the name Clark & Mills Electric Company, consisting of Mr. Mills and myself, and one other actively, and two others financially interested. We have offices and stockrooms at Copley Square, Boston, Harvard Square, Cambridge, and on Central Street, Manchester-by-the-Sea. Our business consists largely of electrical construction and repair work in and about Greater Boston, but we have had a number of contracts for electrical installations in public buildings and country houses in various parts of New England. In the summer of 1903, with four Harvard men and one other, I helped to organize the International Instrument Company, aiming to establish here in America an instrument factory where high-class, accurately-made, scientific apparatus might be obtained, comparing in quality and in price with that now being imported from Germany, France, and England. It is more interesting, but less profitable, to make scientific instruments than to do electrical construction work, at least at the start. However, as this is a scientific as well as a commercial age, it would seem that with the great and increasing wealth of this country, and the greatly increasing interest in scientific education, there ought to be a promising field for this enterprise. On April 14, 1904, I was married to Miss Grace Anna Knight McKenzie, daughter of William Scott and Elizabeth Stanwood McKenzie. My wife's father received the Class Cradle of the noted class of 1855, and so it happens that I have become the possessor of a Harvard Class Cradle. As it is always interesting to learn the customs of former Harvard classes, I will quote a few lines concerning this cradle, taken from a report of the class of 1855, written by its secretary in 1865: "McKenzie was married on 1 October, 1857, in Gloucester, Massachusetts, to Elizabeth, daughter of David and Susan E. Stanwood. J. W. Merrill McKenzie, the CLASS BABY, was born in Andover, Massachusetts, on 11 July, 1858. 'Bright, healthy, frolicsome, and promising; if he lives, and goes to college, he will patronize Harvard. The deposit made by the Class in the Savings Bank in Boston for him is still there, and now amounts to nearly ninety dollars.'"[1]

[1] The class (1855) will remember that Theodore Lyman declared at our class meeting that the appropriation of seventy-five dollars for the

EWING COCKRELL. In 1894–95 I was a law student at the University of Virginia, taking LL.B. degree there. In 1895–96 was a clerk in Washington, District of Columbia, and also studied there, receiving degrees of A.M. and LL.M. from Columbian University. In 1896–97 I travelled through British Isles, Norway and Sweden, Russia and Siberia, and western Continental Europe. In 1897–98 I worked in Washington, writing foreign articles and doing clerical work. Since July, 1898, I have been practicing law in Warrensburg, Missouri. Was elected Prosecuting Attorney of the County, November, 1904. Have written "The Speaker of the House of Representatives" and "Congress or Parliament," both articles published in the Arena; have also written miscellaneous newspaper and magazine articles. Married, June 3, 1896, to Leacy Peachy Williams. Have two children: Anna Ewing, born June 22, 1898, and Flora McDonald, born June 14, 1900.

FLETCHER BARKER COFFIN. I spent three years after graduation at the Harvard Law School, receiving the degree of A.M. in 1896, and the degree of LL.B. in 1898. Was admitted to the Suffolk bar in September, 1898, and practiced law in Boston for a year. The following two years I spent in the Graduate School at Harvard, being assistant in quantitative chemical analysis. The following year I was teaching in Chicago, and since September, 1902, I have been with Stone & Webster, Boston, electrical experts and engineers. I am a member of the American Chemical Society and the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Class Cradle would infallibly drive any one who might receive it into bankruptcy, by tempting him into undue and lavish extravagance in furnishing the rest of his house to match a seventy-five dollar cradle. When the eventful day came, and our good classmate McKenzie, T. Lyman teste, was thus suddenly brought to the brink of ruin, the secretary, unwilling to plunge him into the abyss, ventured, after first buying a serviceable and handsome cradle and crib, to deposit the balance of the fund, $51.08, in a Savings Bank, for the benefit of the Class Baby when he should outgrow the cradle. This is the deposit to which reference is made.

CARY RICHARD COLBURN. After leaving college I was an attorney and counsellor at law in Eureka, Illinois. I am now at the Osaka College of Commerce, Osaka, Japan.

GEORGE FRANKLIN COLE. I entered the Harvard Graduate School in '94, where I remained two years, receiving the A.B. degree in 1895, and the master's degree — in modern languages and English — in 1896. Since then I have taught French and German in Worcester Academy, in the Worcester English High School, and in the South High School, Worcester, where I have been employed since the opening of the school in 1901. I have been abroad for the study of language and art during the summer several times, once to England and Scotland, once to France, and twice to Germany.

WILLIAM DENNIS COLLINS. For the first two years after graduation I was assistant in physics at Harvard, receiving A.M. degree in 1897. Since then I have held a professorship at Earlham College, Richmond, Indiana, gradually turning from physics to chemistry, until now I teach all of both that are taught at Earlham. In chemistry our main interest is in sanitary chemistry, and I have, with the help of students, made studies of some of the streams in the state with reference to their pollution by cities and factories. We have also worked on water supplies and sewage purification plants. Am a member of the Indiana Engineering Society.

WILLIAM WISTAR COMFORT. After spending two years in the Harvard Graduate School, where I received A.M. degree in 1896, I was instructor in modern languages for a year at Haverford College, Pennsylvania. I then studied abroad for three years. On my return, in 1901, I resumed my work at Haverford College, teaching French, Spanish, and Italian, at first as instructor and now as associate professor of Romance languages. I obtained the degree of Doctor of Philosophy at Harvard in June, 1902, and since that time have contributed occasional articles or criticisms to the following periodicals: Modern Philology, Modern Language Notes, London Athenæum, The American Friend, The Westonian, The Haverford College Bulletin. I was Alumni Orator at Haverford College, 1903. The following articles have been separately reprinted: "Notes on the Poema del Cid" (Modern Philology, October, 1903), "A Book we think we have read: Don Quixote" (Haverford College Bulletin, Ninth Month, 1903), "The Essential Difference between a chanson de geste and a roman d'aventure" (Publications of the Modern Language Association, March, 1904). Edited with notes and vocabulary: "La Vida es Sueño," by Calderón, for the American Book Co. (New York, 1904). I am a member of Modern Language Association and of Merion Cricket Club. A comparison of methods and opportunities in the small college and in the great university has convinced me that the former is a better place for the undergraduate and for the instructor alike, — at least in the early stages of the development of each.

ERNEST BANCROFT CONANT. I studied three years in the Harvard Law School, receiving LL.B. degree in 1898. I practiced law in Boston from July, 1898, until the first of January, 1903, when I accepted an appointment upon the faculty of the Illinois College of Law, at Chicago, as professor of torts and evidence. I was a member of that faculty from January to June, 1903, giving the courses on torts, evidence, and damages. I was at the same time engaged in general practice in Chicago. In May, 1903, I was offered the appointment as professor of law and dean of the faculty of the Washburn College School of Law, at Topeka, Kansas, which appointment I accepted, and moved to Topeka in August, 1903. Washburn College celebrates its fortieth anniversary in June, 1905, and is, aside from the several state universities, the largest college in the middle West, the registration this year being about eight hundred. The organization of the School of Law, its faculty, course of instruction, and general policy has been my own personal work. The school opened in September, 1903, and forty-one students attended the first year. The first graduates will receive their LL.B. degrees in June, 1906, — a class of about twenty. I am engaged in general practice of law in Topeka, with an office in the Columbian Building.

JOHN EDWARD CONNELLY. Since 1898, when I received my LL.B. degree from Harvard, I have been practicing law in New York City. At present I am practicing law at 15 Wall Street, New York City. Married, December 27, 1899, Julia Agnes Brougley, and have two children: Margaret, born March 9, 1901, and John, born March 4, 1904.

JAMES WADSWORTH COOKE. Died at Mountain Farm, Plainfield, New Jersey, May 19, 1903. He was born at Catskill, New York, February 25, 1874. He was a pupil in one of the public schools of Buffalo, New York, and later at the Michigan Military Academy. He entered Harvard as a special student, but became a regular member of his class in his senior year, and was graduated with it in 1895. In the fall of 1895 he entered the service of the publishing house of Dodd, Mead & Co., New York, from which he resigned in June, 1896, to enter the law office of Murphy, Boyd & Lloyd. While with them he studied at the New York Law School, and was admitted to the New York bar in June, 1898. After Mr. Boyd withdrew from the firm Mr. Cooke continued with Murphy & Lloyd until October, 1902, when he left them to enter upon the position of junior assistant Corporation Counsel, to which he had been appointed under Mr. George L. Rives, then Corporation Counsel of the City of New York. In March, 1903, he was promoted to the position of assistant Corporation Counsel. Very soon after his health failed, and in May he was given leave of absence from his duties, which he was never able to resume.

ALFORD WARRINER COOLEY. I declined a renomination to the New York Legislature in 1901, and in the autumn of that year I was appointed clerk of the Surrogates Court of Westchester County. In June, 1903, I was appointed United States civil service commissioner, which position I still hold. I was married, December 1, 1904, to Susan Dexter Dalton, daughter of Henry Rogers and Florence Chapman Dalton. The following are the clubs to which I belong: Union Club, New York; Metropolitan Club, Washington; Chevy Chase Club, Washington; Loyal Legion; Association of the Bar of the City of New York.

JULIAN LOWELL COOLIDGE. After spending two years at Balliol College, Oxford, where I received the degree B.Sc., I taught in Groton School for two years. Since September, 1899, I have been an instructor in mathematics in Harvard. In the spring of 1902 I was promoted from a yearly appointment at Harvard to be instructor in mathematics without limit of time, and member of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences, and furthermore granted a two years' leave of absence (without pay). In October, 1902, I went to Europe and spent six months studying mathematics in Paris. Then followed a summer semester at the University of Greifswald in Pomerania. The autumn and winter of 1903–4 were passed, also, in mathematical study at the University of Turin. The summer semester of 1904 was passed at my sixth university, Bonn, in Prussia, and there I received the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in July, 1904. I am at present settled in Cambridge, and am occupied in teaching freshmen and graduates, and in mathematical writing. I have published a number of articles upon mathematical subjects in Europe and America. I belong to the Oxford University Mathematical Society and the American Mathematical Society; also to the Union Club of Boston and Harvard Club of New York. I was married, January 17, 1901, to Theresa Reynolds, and have two children: Jane Revere, born July 17, 1902, and Julian Gardner, born September 30, 1903.

JOHN STUART COONLEY. Since graduation I have lived in Chicago, engaged principally in the care of trust estates, but in 1903, with Howard Coonley, '99, and Prentiss

L. Coonley, '03, I organized the Coonley Manufacturing Company, for the manufacture of enamelled ware, commonly called granite ware. Our offices and factory are located at Clyde, — three miles from Chicago. I am secretary of Hyde Park Improvement Association, the aim of which is to improve the district known as Hyde Park, but really a part of Chicago. I married Louise Sherwood Root, June 12, 1895, and have three children: Lydia Avery, born January 3, 1897; John Stuart, Jr., born February 3, 1900; and Frances Root, born October 5, 1901.

ABRAM HARRISON CORNISH. I studied law for two years at Plainfield, New Jersey, and from May, 1897, until November, 1900, I practiced law for myself in Newark. I then accepted position of settlement officer in Fidelity Trust Company, Newark, New Jersey. In January, 1902, I was appointed assistant title officer of the same trust company, and took charge of its business in Union County, New Jersey, with office at Elizabeth. I have held that position ever since. I was married, June 25, 1903, to Anna Mildred Hubbard, daughter of Charles B. and Anna M. Hubbard.

HENRY CARTER CORSON. Died November 18, 1896. See secretary's second report, page 36.

ROBERT WHEATON COUES. From 1895 to 1898 I was a student in the Harvard Graduate School, receiving degree of A.M. in 1896. In April, 1899, I was appointed assistant recorder in Harvard University. In 1902–3 I was instructor in English in the Browne and Nichols School, Cambridge.

GEORGE WILBERT COX. In the spring of 1902, after having served the schools of Stockbridge for two years, I was elected for the third time with an increase in salary. During the following summer I was elected superintendent of schools at Ware, Massachusetts. Accordingly, I resigned the position at Stockbridge and accepted that at Ware, which I have since held. Have been closely identified with one of the leading clubs of the town, known as the Study Club. I was a member of the executive board one year. Have prepared two papers for this club: one on "Canadian Reciprocity" and the other on "Education for the Masses." The latter elicited favorable comment throughout the town, and, at the solicitation of the executive committee of Ladies' Social Science Club, it was delivered before this body. I married, September 24, 1881, Evangeline Ethel Davidson, and have one child, Laurie Wilbert Davidson, born August 18, 1883. I have filled the following offices in the masonic lodge: secretary, senior warden, and worshipful master. I was vice-president of Hampshire County Teachers' Association for the past year.

PEMBERTON HALE CRESSEY. In 1898 I received the degree S.T.B. from Andover Theological Seminary, and in November of the same year I became minister of the Congregational Church, North Conway, New Hampshire. In November, 1902, I resigned the pastorate of this church, and in April, 1903, accepted a call to be minister of the First Parish Church (Unitarian) in Groton, Massachusetts, which position I still hold. I was married, November 26, 1900, to Elizabeth Breed Wolcott. Have one son, Wolcott Hale, born September 5, 1903.

ALLEN CROSBY CROCKER. Until 1900 I was engaged in teaching in secondary schools in New England. In that year I accepted a position with an engineering party who were surveying for a new railroad in New Mexico. Since then I have been working on ranches, trading with the Indians, etc. My present address is Estey City, New Mexico. Hope to have more to report next time.

JOSEPH EDGAR CROCKER. Present address unknown.

GEORGE CROMPTON. From March, 1897, to October, 1900, I was with Crompton & Knowles Loom Works as treasurer and director. In spring of 1903, with others, I started the Crompton Thayer Loom Company, of which firm I am now a partner. Belong to Union Club, Boston; Worcester Club, Winter Club, and Grafton Country Club, of Worcester. Married, in 1896, Alice Hastings, and have one son, George Crompton, Jr., born May 17, 1897.

ARTHUR LYON CROSS. I have devoted myself to the study of history, receiving from the Harvard Graduate School, in 1896, A.M. degree, and in 1899, Ph.D. degree. For four years I was instructor of history in the University of Michigan, and in the spring of 1904 was appointed assistant professor. Lectured for six summers, from 1899 to 1904 inclusive, in the Harvard Summer School. Since the last report my publications have been: "The Anglican Episcopate and the American Colonies," Longmans, Green & Co., 1902; "The Relations between Greek and Roman History," School Review, May, 1902; "Sir Frederick Pollock, University of Michigan," Inlander, November, 1903; "English History and the Study of English Law," Michigan Law Review, May, 1904; and have ready for the press "A History of St. Andrew's Church, Ann Arbor." Besides this, have assisted in the last revision of Higginson and Channing's "English History for American Readers," helped to prepare for publication Botsford's "Ancient History for Beginners," and have written numerous reviews, mainly for the American Historical Review. Have given some public lectures, among them to the Daughters of the Revolution and Colonial Dames of Detroit, and was one of the speakers at the New England Dinner at Detroit, December, 1904. Have been made a member of the University of Michigan Research Club, and have joined the University Club, Detroit, and the recently formed Michigan Harvard Club.

FRANCIS HATHAWAY CUMMINGS. Died September 19, 1897. See secretary's second report, page 38.

PHILIP CURTIS. Since graduation I have been engaged in banking and brokerage. I am now a member of New York Stock Exchange and of the firm of Lincoln, Caswell & Co. Married, April 19, 1899, Mary Olyphant Emmet. Belong to the Union and Harvard clubs of New York City.

HERBERT ERNEST CUSHMAN. After spending two years in the Harvard Graduate School, where I received the degrees A.M. (1896) and Ph.D. (1897), I have been teaching philosophy at Tufts College, where I am now a professor. From September to June I have the routine work with classes, teaching nearly all the subjects that come under the general rubric of "philosophy." The eager desire for original and research work that one takes away from the Graduate School at Harvard remains with one only a short time, and is likely to be consumed in pressing pedagogical duties. Still I have published, under favorable opportunities, two little monographs. One is "The Truth in Christian Science," which was originally a lecture before the College Club of Boston; another, "What is Christianity?" which was also a public lecture — the Russell lecture at Tufts College. I have been at work for some time on a two volume text-book on the "History of Philosophy," which will not aim to be original so much as to be readable and workable. These publications added very little to my income, but by occasional lecturing and by editorial work on a New York paper I have been able to increase that by a moderate amount each year. This, you may say, is not the eventful and strenuous life — this life of a college professor. Yet as I look around I am unable to choose a profession that I should personally prefer to my own. Each summer, from July until September, I have spent at the Crawford House in the White Mountains, or at some other mountain resort, where I have devoted my time entirely to golf and mountain climbing. Last February (1904) I married Miss Abby B. Corbin, daughter of Charles L. and Elizabeth B. Corbin of Metuchen, New Jersey.

JONAS PETER DALEEN. Present address unknown. At last accounts was "somewhere in Sweden."

PEGRAM DARGAN. Has not replied to the secretary's requests for information for this report.

PHILIP WHITNEY DAVIS. Has made no reply to secretary's letters.

JOHN ALLEN DECOU. Since leaving college I have chiefly been engaged in teaching in secondary schools. At the time of the last report I was principal of the Red Bluff Union High School, Red Bluff, California. In 1904 I gave up teaching to become district agent of the Provident Life and Trust Co. for North California. I received A.M. degree from Haverford College, 1897, and from the University of California, 1902. I am a member of the American Philological Society and the California Schoolmasters' Club.

ARTHUR ADRIAN DODD. First year after leaving Harvard I taught in the State Normal School, Warrensburg, Missouri, where I had taught for eleven years. Resigned in fall of 1896 to take charge of the Scarritt Grammar School at Kansas City, Missouri. In the fall of 1897 I was put in charge of the mathematics in the new Manual Training High School of the same city, where I am still engaged. This school has grown till it now requires a teaching force of seventy-three, nine of us handling the mathematics. In the year 1899 "Dodd and Chace's Plane and Solid Geometry," inductive method, was published. In 1902 "Introduction to Geometry and Algebra" was published by the same authors. In 1903–1904 was chairman of the mathematics section of the State Teachers' Association of Missouri. Married, June 24, 1886, Laura Johnson, Maitland, Missouri. A son, Paul J., was born, February 1, 1889, at Warrensburg. Have been blessed with a happy family, though called upon to give up three little ones. I have been very busy and have not lost a day's work since leaving Harvard. My earnest desire is to visit my alma mater ere many more years pass by. I love to read the reports of other classmen. I am a member of the Greenwood Club (literary and scientific) of Kansas City.

EDWIN SHERRILL DODGE. After receiving S.B. degree in 1896 from Massachusetts Institute of Technology I went to Paris, where I remained as a student at École des Beaux Arts till October, 1902, when I returned to America. I practiced architecture in Boston from that date until July, 1904, at first working in various offices. In February, 1903, I began work for myself at 1 Somerset Street, later moving to 6 Hancock Avenue. In the summer of 1904 I went abroad, and in November, at Paris, I was married to Mrs. Karl Evans, daughter of Charles F. and Sara M. Ganson, of Buffalo, New York. The present winter has been spent at Cap Martin near Menton.

NATHAN PHILLIPS DODGE, JR. I received LL.B. degree from Harvard in 1897, and was with Hutchins & Wheeler, lawyers, Boston, from 1897 until 1900. Since then have been in Omaha, Nebraska, in various occupations: manager of Omaha Realty Company, formed to liquidate an insolvent bank; president of Midland Guarantee and Trust Company; real estate broker, under the name of N. P. Dodge & Co.; president of the Farm Magazine Co., publishing an agricultural monthly magazine, now in its infancy with 40,000 circulation. For an avocation I have taken an active interest in politics, serving as a member of the Republican City Central Committee and County Central Committee; was secretary of city committee a year. In 1904 I was elected a member of the State Legislature, and am now in Lincoln, serving as a member of the Lower House. Have had a very interesting experience and some exciting fights to pass certain bills. I am a member of the Omaha Racquet Club, Omaha Club, Fontenelle Club (political), and Omaha Country Club. I have been too busy to think of domestic felicity.

ALLAN EDWARD DOUCETTE. Died January 7, 1901. See secretary's second report, page 41.

HORATIO WILLIS DRESSER. My residence since leaving college has been Boston, and my occupation, author, lecturer, and editor. Was editor of The Journal of Practical Metaphysics, 1896–98; associate editor of the Arena during 1899; and editor and publisher of The Higher Law, 1900–02. Have published the following books: "The Power of Silence," 1895; "The Perfect Whole," 1896; "In Search of a Soul," 1897; "Voices of Hope," 1898; "Voices of Freedom," 1899; "Methods and Problems of Spiritual Healing," 1899; "Education and the Philosophical Ideal," 1900; "Living by the Spirit," 1900; "The Christ Ideal," 1901; "A Book of Secrets," 1902; "Man and the Divine Order," 1903. Married, March 17, 1898, Alice Mae Reed. Have one child, Dorothea, born December 18, 1901. Travelled in Holland, Switzerland, and England in summers of 1898 and 1899. In 1902 I returned to Cambridge to complete my philosophical training, and have now nearly finished the requirements for a Ph.D. in philosophy at Harvard. Since September, 1903, I have been assistant in philosophy at Harvard and Radcliffe, and in 1904 I was Professor Royce's assistant in the Summer School. With the publication of "Man and the Divine Order" my work as a popular writer and lecturer was completed, and I am now fitting for a professorship in the history of philosophy and ethics.

HOWLAND DUDLEY. After taking the full course at Harvard Law School I have been practicing law in Boston. I have served three years in the Cambridge Common Council. I married, June 8, 1903, Helen Fuller, daughter of Robert Oliver and Sarah Parker Fuller. Have one child, a son, Sanford Harrison, born July 14, 1904. I belong to the Economy Club of Cambridge and to the Massachusetts Club.

ARTHUR DURWARD. Since 1897, when I received A.M. degree from Harvard, I have been teaching in secondary schools in California. Since September, 1902, I have been teacher of science (physics and chemistry) in the Pomona High School, Pomona, California; have also been vice-principal of the school for the past two years. Married, November 30, 1899, Clara Dell Pitzer, and have a daughter, Ruth Elizabeth, born April 18, 1902.

NORMAN SALISBURY EASTON. Since graduation I have been engaged in teaching. Am now principal of the Davis Grammar School, Fall River. I married, April 3, 1899, Lillian Marcelia Phillips, and have two children: Doris Sherman, born April 10, 1900, and Marion Phillips, born December 18, 1902. I am president of the Fall River Society of Natural History, and member of Boston Society of Natural History. Have delivered lectures before teachers and societies on geography and geology.

JOHN WHITTEMORE EDDY. I was connected with the salt business of the Pacific Coast until the government closed up our salt company on the ground of violation of the anti-trust law. I am now living at Port Blakely, Washington, as resident owner and general manager of the Port Blakely Mill Co. Our company is said to be one of the oldest and largest lumbering concerns in the country. My duties consist in employing about a thousand men and having them run the sawmill, railroad, logging camps, etc.

ARCHIBALD WILKINSON EDES. My address, Whitman, Massachusetts, remains unchanged.

GOLDMANN EDMUNDS. I am still practicing law at 720 Tremont Building, Boston, and residing at Wellesley Hills. My life during the past four years has been so devoid of variety and excitement that I can hardly sound "the personal note." At present I happen to be chairman of the Wellesley Republican Town Committee, but my experience to date has not convinced me that it is an office of profit; whether of honor or trust depends upon the point of view.

FREDERIC SHERWOOD ELLIOT. I have nothing of importance to add to previous report. I have been practicing law by myself the last two years. My office now is in the Old South Building, Boston. I am a member of the A. F. & A. M.

ARTHUR ELSON. For two years I studied at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, receiving degree of S.B. in 1897. Then I was assistant chemist in print works of the Norwich Bleachery, Norwich, Connecticut, for a year and a half. Taught chemistry at the Georgia School of Technology in Atlanta, Georgia, for six months, afterwards working as dyestuff chemist in New York and Boston. I am now living in Boston. Was for one year assistant in descriptive geometry at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Have written four books: "A Critical History of Opera," "Orchestral Instruments and their Use," "Woman's Work in Music," and "Modern Composers of Europe." I am a member of Arcanum Club, Norwich, Connecticut, and Technology Club, Boston.

WILLIAM EMERSON. Since graduation I have studied architecture at Columbia and at the École des Beaux Arts in Paris, and from February, 1899, to April, 1900, I practiced in New York. I returned to Paris in April, 1900, to continue my studies at the École des Beaux Arts, where I stayed until the summer of 1901, having in the meanwhile travelled among the cathedral towns in the north of France, the Romanesque towns in the south of France, and in the north of Italy and south of England. I returned to New York in September, 1901, and worked for two years and a half in offices of different architects in the city, opening an office of my own on the 15th of February, 1904. Am a member of the Harvard Club, Society of Beaux Arts Architects, and Society of Columbia University Architects.

ROBERT WALES EMMONS, 2d. I retired from the firm of E. Rollins Morse & Bro., brokers, Boston, January 1, 1903, and have also resigned from the Boston Athletic Association and the Brookline Country Club. I am now a member of the Union Club, Tennis and Racquet Club, and the Somerset Club, all of Boston. On February 5, 1896, I was married to Helen Brooks, and have one son, Robert Wales, 3d, born July 11, 1897.

PERCY FRANKLIN EMORY. I am now secretary and treasurer of the Atlas Gun Company of Ilion, New York. I belong to the Fort Schuyler Club of Utica, New York.

JAMES TUCKERMAN EMOTT. I was admitted to the New York bar in 1897, but have never practiced. At present I am secretary and treasurer of the Artcraft Co. Photo-engravers, New York City. I am a member of the Morristown Field Club, Morris County Golf, and the Harvard Club of New York.

WALLACE FAIRBANK. In the fall of 1895 I entered the Congress Gold Company, Congress, Arizona, later taking position of assistant superintendent. Returned to Chicago in summer of 1900, entering the Tiffany Enameled Brick Company and Clay City Coal Company, — director of the former and general manager of the latter. In February, 1901, I returned to Arizona as assistant secretary and treasurer of the Santa Fé, Prescott & Phœnix Railway Company, with headquarters at Prescott, Arizona. In November I was made secretary-treasurer and director of this company and subsidiary companies. Elected director of the Congress Consolidated Mines Company, Limited, in March, 1901. Married, January 19, 1901, Josephine Nelson, and have one son, Nathaniel Kellogg, born November 29, 1902. I belong to the University Club of Chicago; American Institute of Mining Engineers; the Yavapai Club, Arizona; and Das Leppe Club.

JOHN ARCHIBALD FAIRLIE. I continue to hold my position as assistant professor of administrative law at the University of Michigan. I have published "Municipal Administration" (Macmillan Co., 1901), "The National Administration of the United States" (Macmillan, 1905), and articles in the Quarterly Journal of Economics, Political Science Quarterly, Michigan Law Review, Proceedings of the National Municipal League, and other periodicals. Am a member of the American Economic Association and the American Political Science Association; secretary of the Michigan Political Science Association, and the League of Michigan Municipalities. I also belong to the Harvard clubs of New York City and Michigan. Visited Great Britain in the summer of 1901.

MARSHALL BRYANT FANNING. From 1895 to 1897 I was sub-master of the Powder Point School, Duxbury, and headmaster of that school from 1897 to 1900. Since then I have been teaching in the Volkmann School, Boston — an uneventful period of my life, in which nothing worthy of record has happened. Have been so constantly engaged in preparing candidates for the entrance examinations, that there has been no time for anything else. I was married, August 4, 1897, to Mary Lydia Murray.

SYDNEY KINSMAN FENOLLOSA. I entered the Medical Department of the University of Pennsylvania in 1898, and was graduated with the degree of M.D. in June, 1902. For six months I served as resident physician at The Children's Sea Shore House, Atlantic City, and at the Polyclinic Hospital, Philadelphia, for twenty months. Since then I have been in private practice at 4634 Fifth Avenue, Pittsburgh, and assistant to Dr. John Alden Lichtz. I am a member of the Harvard Club of Western Pennsylvania, and of the Pittsburgh Alumni Society of the University of Pennsylvania.

DAVID WAKEMAN FENTON. Died, March 7, 1903, of consumption, at Redlands, California. He was born at Memphis, Tennessee, June 13, 1872, and prepared for college at the Buffalo High School. In college he was a member of the Mott Haven team in his Freshman and Sophomore years and an editor of the Crimson. Ill health obliged him to be away from Cambridge during part of the college course. He also spent two years after graduation travelling in the Western States. He then became a director of the Erie Preserving Co. of Buffalo, New York, and looked after the Colorado interests of that company. He was married, January 17, 1900, to Lida Adèle Mitchell, who died the month previous to his death. He had one daughter, Anna Louise, born January 17, 1901, at Redlands, California.

WILLIAM WRIGHT FISHER. In September, 1901, I was married to Margaret May Landon, daughter of Francis Wesley and Margaret Landon, of Fairmount, Maryland, a graduate of Brown University, class of 1896. Since our marriage we have lived continuously in New York, spending our summers at my old home, near Lewes, Delaware. I am now in my tenth year as instructor in Greek and English Literature at the Collegiate School, 241 West 77th Street, New York. Our first child, William Gooding, was born January 9, 1904, and was the class baby on his mother's side.

CHARLES MACOMB FLANDRAU. Have travelled in Europe and in this country; my residence, however, has been Saint Paul. Occupations various: assistant in English at Harvard; reader on Youth's Companion; associate editor of the Northwestern Miller (Minneapolis) and writer. Have published "Harvard Episodes," November, 1897, and "The Diary of a Freshman," May, 1901.

ROLFE FLOYD. After receiving M.D. degree from Columbia in 1899 I spent a year and a half in the Roosevelt Hospital, New York City. In the spring of 1901 I went into Dr. Francis Delafield's office as his assistant. I am still with him. I was assistant demonstrator of anatomy at the College of Physicians and Surgeons in 1901–03. Then I gave up this work and went into the Vanderbilt Clinic as a clinical assistant in medicine, where I still am. I contributed an article to Dr. E. L. Mark's anniversary volume, which appeared about a year ago. While keeping up some anatomical studies I am devoting myself almost entirely to the study and practice of medicine. I was married, June 21, 1901, to Emily Delafield, and have one son, Rolfe, Jr., born July 13, 1902. Richard, who was born May 4, 1904, died February 16, 1905.

EDWARD JAMES FLYNN. In October, 1898, I opened law offices in Somerville and Boston, being now at 445 Tremont Building, Boston, and at 5 Bow Street, Somerville. My residence is at 199 Prospect Street, Cambridge. For five years, until I changed my residence from Somerville to Cambridge, I was a member of the Somerville School Board.

JUSTUS WATSON FOLSOM. For four years after graduation I was in the Harvard Graduate School, receiving the degree S.D. in 1899. During the following year I was professor of natural sciences at Antioch College, Yellow Springs, Ohio, and since then I have been instructor of entomology in the University of Illinois. I have published a large number of papers and pamphlets, the more important being: "Japanese Collembola," "The Anatomy and Physiology of the Mouth-parts of the Collembolan, Orchesella cincta L.," and "The Development of the Mouth-parts of Anurida Maritima Guér." I am a member of Naturalists of the Central States, American Society of Zoölogists, and of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

EDWARD WALDO FORBES. After three years of ill health I studied for two years in Italy and Greece. I then spent two years at New College, Oxford, coming back to America in July, 1902. I spent the first part of the year 1903 on work in regard to buying some land between Mt. Auburn Street and the river for the benefit of Harvard. In September, 1903, I began to teach English and French at the Middlesex School, Concord, Massachusetts. Unluckily, however, I was laid low by the grippe at the time of the Easter vacation, and so was obliged to leave the school for the rest of the year. I went abroad again in July to study art in London, and went also to some of the important picture galleries in Belgium, Holland, and Germany. I am studying the history of art at present, and am going to Italy soon to continue my studies there. I have also been interested in getting works of art to America, particularly to Harvard, and to the Boston Art Museum. I am at present a trustee of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, and serving on the committee of the Museum. I am also on the committee of the Fogg Museum of Harvard, and am one of the trustees of Public Reservations in Massachusetts and of the New England Conservatory of Music. I am a member of the St. Botolph Club.

MARCUS CLIZBE FORD. I was graduated from the Law School of the University of Wisconsin in 1897, then went upon the stage. Belong to the Phi Delta Phi, University of Wisconsin Law School; the Psi Epsilon Fraternity, Rho Chapter, Madison, Wisconsin; the Harvard Club, New York City; and the Players, New York City.

HERBERT BALDWIN FOSTER. I was a student in the Graduate School the first year after graduation, and then, after teaching for a year, I spent three years at Johns Hopkins, where I received Ph.D. degree in 1900. During 1900–01 I was acting professor of Greek at St. Stephen's College, Annandale, New York. From 1901–04 I was professor of Greek at the University of South Dakota. While there I gave two public readings: the "Ulysses" of Stephen Phillips in March, 1902, and the "Birds" of Aristophanes before the Summer School in 1904. I took part twice in amateur theatricals given by members of the Faculty, and did the coaching and superintended the production of the Sophomore play, "She Stoops to Conquer," in April, 1903. I was chosen "Class Professor" by the class of 1905, and assisted in the editing of their Junior Annual (The Coyote) in 1904. In addition I was a member of the Athletic Committee (1901–02), the Library Committee (1903–04), the Oratorical Board of Control (1903–04). During emergencies in the year 1903–04 took charge for a month or more at one time of the department of Latin and at another of the department of French. Was president of the University Choral Society, 1903–04. During the present year (1904–05) I am acting professor of Greek at Lehigh University, South Bethlehem, Pennsylvania. Have in hand, probably to appear in the fall of 1905, a translation from the Greek of "Dio Cassius's Roman History," the first ever made in English. The work will be issued under the title of "Dio's Rome," in four to six volumes, by the Pafraets Book Co., Troy, New York. Since 1903 I have been a member of the Archæological Institute of America.

HERBERT FRAZIER. Ever since I left the Law School I have been practicing law, at first with the firm of Parsons, Shepard & Ogden, until its dissolution, and afterwards with the firm of Parsons, Closson & McIlvaine, New York City.

CHARLES STRATTON FRENCH. I am still practicing law in Boston, and although I have withdrawn from the law department of the Boston Elevated Railway Company, where I spent my first five years of practice, I am still engaged in the trial of the Company's cases, which occupy nearly all of my time. My work is in the Superior Court, and I have been assigned to jury work for the past three years. My office is now at 68 Devonshire Street. In April, 1903, I took three months' vacation in Europe, spending most of the time in Italy, although I made a short stay in England before returning. A year ago last July I took a three weeks' trip over and back, looking for results, and got them. I was married, March 28, 1905, at St. Thomas Church in Washington, to Isabel Rockwood Mauro, daughter of Philip and Emily Johnston Mauro. The only clubs I now belong to are the Longwood Cricket Club and the New England Kennel Club, being engaged, for the interest and pleasure of it, in breeding beagles.

LEO VICTOR FRIEDMAN. I have continued the practice of medicine in Boston, devoting myself especially to obstetrics and gynecology. I have become a staff surgeon for diseases of women at the Boston City Hospital, and at the Boston Dispensary. I still continue on the staff of the Boston Lying-In Hospital, and am teaching in the Medical School. From April to July, 1903, I travelled in Italy and Switzerland, mainly for rest and recuperation. For one year (resigned recently) I was district physician, caring for the sick of the North End tenement district. I have published several technical papers in current medical journals, and have devised an obstetric instrument which has obtained some popularity. I am a member of various medical societies.

ROY RICHARDSON GARDNER. I studied music three years in Vienna, one year in Berlin, and one year in Boston. Since then I have been teaching music in Boston and writing musical criticisms for the Boston Transcript. On June 23, 1903, I was married to Margaret Chase, daughter of J. Eastman and Isabel Stetson Chase of Winchester, Massachusetts.

WILLIAM AUGUSTUS GARST, son of Henry Garst, D.D., was born in Westerville, Ohio, September 13, 1873. He prepared for college at the Otterbein Preparatory School, and graduated from Otterbein University in 1894. In the fall of 1894 he entered Harvard, and graduated with the class of 1895. He was a brilliant student and an omnivorous reader of books and current events. In breadth of knowledge and mental grasp he had few equals among men of his age. In stature he was not large, but he was of robust health and very athletic, having been captain of the Otterbein football team, on which he played for four years. In 1895 he entered the Law School of the Ohio State University at Columbus, taking his LL.B. degree there in 1898. He began at once the practice of law in Columbus, devoting himself largely to bankruptcy cases. In this work he showed marked skill, and at the time of his death had a larger practice in this line than any other lawyer in Columbus. On April 8, 1903, he was married to Myrtle Lester, at Cambridge City, Indiana. In a few days after his marriage he was stricken with scarlet fever, and died at his home in Columbus, April 19, 1903. This sad ending of a career so brilliantly begun was a great blow to all who knew him.

FRANK JULIUS GEIB. Spent four years at the Harvard Medical School, where I received degree M.D. in 1899. After a year at the Massachusetts General Hospital I spent a few months in New York City hospitals. I then went to Cleveland, Ohio, where I practiced medicine until August, 1902. Up to that time I taught as instructor of medicine in the Western Reserve Medical School, when I resigned to assume practice of medicine in Ashtabula, Ohio. In September, 1902, I went to Somerville, Massachusetts, where I was married to Julia Annie Hill, daughter of John L. and Elizabeth Trask Hill, October 1, 1902. Since then we have lived at 54 Centre Street, Ashtabula, Ohio. On the 28th day of November, 1904, a daughter was born to us, whom we have named Margaret Hill Geib. I am a member of the Cleveland Academy of Medicine and of the Ashtabula County Medical Society, of which latter society I was a member of the Board of Censors until August, 1904.

FRANCIS LYMAN GILMAN. Am still with the Western Electric Co. of New York City in telephone engineering work, and am living in Montclair, New Jersey. I want to say a word about a custom in this town which will surely be of interest to college men in other similar places. There are a good many college men here, but not enough from any one institution to form a very formidable gathering. For some years it has been the custom to have a dinner on or near Lincoln's birthday to which all college men in the vicinity are invited. These occasions have been very popular; last year nearly one hundred sat down to the tables. It is a grand good thing for college men to get together, not only when they are all from the same college, but also when they are from many colleges. If you are anywhere near Montclair on Lincoln's birthday any year, come to the dinner and see. You 'll be very welcome. Probably all '95 men living in New Jersey already know about the Harvard Club of New Jersey, which was organized a little less than a year ago. If not, find out about it and join. Shall be glad to give any one the secretary's address. The club has had several good times and is trying to increase the knowledge of, and therefore the interest in, Harvard throughout New Jersey. On October 22, 1896, I married Harriet Frances Hart, and have a daughter, Frances Hart Gilman.

ROGER GILMAN. After graduation I taught for three years, lived four years abroad, and entered the École des Beaux Arts in Paris, as architect. Since 1902 I have been working in New York City.

WILLIAM LYNCH FRANCIS GILMAN. After three years at the Boston University Law School I passed the Suffolk Bar examinations and began practicing law in Boston. In February, 1900, I opened offices with my brother, John E. Gilman, Jr., '94. Since the last report I have nothing to add further than that I have been very steadily at the practice of law in the firm of Gilman & Gilman, with new offices at 1114 Old South Building, Boston.

HENRY GILSEY, JR. Since September, 1897, I have been practicing law in New York City. My office is at 26 Liberty Street.

ELLIOT HERSEY GOODWIN. In the autumn of 1895 entered the Graduate School to study history. In June, 1896, received the degree of A.M. from Harvard; then went abroad to study in Germany. In the winter of 1900 received the degree of Ph.D. from the University of Leipzig. My stay in Germany was not continuous, and in the winter of 1898–99 I was back at Harvard studying history. In the autumn of 1899 I was offered the position of assistant secretary of the National Civil Service Reform League and the Civil Service Reform Association. Since January 1, 1902, I have been the secretary of these organizations. I belong to the Harvard and City clubs of New York.

JOSEPH WILLIAM GOODWIN, JR. In 1896–7 I was at Wilmington, Delaware, teaching and tutoring. The following year I spent at the Harvard Law School, and since that time I have been practicing law in New York City. At present I am associated with G. H. and F. L. Crawford at 32 Liberty Street.

ROLAND GRAY. I am still in the practice of the law as a member of the firm of Ropes, Gray & Gorham. Was admitted to bar of Supreme Court of the United States April 20, 1903. Travelled in Europe in summer of 1903.

EDMUND HOWARD GREEN. I am still a member of the firm of Green & Co., wholesale dealers in produce, at 82 South Market Street, Boston. Married, May 10, 1899, Mabelle Gertrude Dustin, and have a son, Howard Dustin, born April 11, 1903.

MORRIS EDWARD GREENBERG. I practiced law with Cunneen and Coatsworth until 1897, then with Hon. John Cunneen until 1898. I opened office for myself in 1898; am still practicing law at 85 West Eagle Street, Buffalo. Member of Delta Chi.

DANIEL CROSBY GREENE, JR. I received M.D. degree from the Harvard Medical School in 1899, serving also the last year as house-officer at the Children's Hospital, Boston. I began practice in Boston July, 1899, and have continued in the practice of medicine, devoting myself especially to diseases of the throat and nose. In 1901 I received the appointment of assistant in the throat department of the Boston Children's Hospital, and in 1903 that of assistant physician to out patients with diseases of the throat at the Massachusetts General Hospital. In 1904 I was elected a member of the American Laryngological, Rhinological, and Otological Association. I have written two articles which appeared in the Boston Medical and Surgical Journal: "An Apparatus for Etherizing in Operations about the Nose and Throat," April 30, 1903, and "Congenital Inspiratory Strides," June 11, 1903. I was married, September 15, 1904, to Marion Lockwood, daughter of Rhodes and Henrietta Lockwood.

RANDOLPH CLARK GREW. I am now a member of the firm of Codman, Grew & Co., stock brokers, 19 Exchange Place, Boston, which succeeded Geo. S. Baldwin & Co. on December 1, 1903. I belong to the Somerset Club, and the Tennis and Racquet Club, Boston; the Harvard Club, New York; and the Norfolk Hunt Club, Medfield, Massachusetts. I have been secretary and treasurer of the Essex County Club, Manchester, Massachusetts, for three years.

CHARLES SUMNER GRIFFIN was born in Lawrence, Kansas, October 15, 1872. After graduating from the Kansas State University he went to Harvard, where he received the degree of B.A. in 1895, and that of M.A. one year later. After two more years at Harvard he went to Europe, as holder of a travelling Fellowship from Harvard, to continue his studies, spending most of his time in Germany. His specialty was economics, and he now studied mainly the question of the sugar industry, on which he began to write a book.

It was during his stay in Germany that, on the recommendation of President Eliot, he received the offer of a professorship at the Tokio Imperial University. This came as a surprise to him, and it is said that he hesitated to accept it, because he feared that it might prevent him from completing his work on the sugar industry. Having finally decided to come to Japan, Professor Griffin zealously and energetically took up his new duties. He lectured on economic principles, history of economic theories, transportation and communication, commercial and colonial policy. Beside his work at the university, he also lectured on industrial policy at the Higher Commercial School. He soon became very popular with his colleagues and students; for his devotion to work and his untiring energy awakened esteem, while his genial ways and open heart won him many friends. He was especially kind to the students, being ever ready to answer their questions or to assist them in their difficulties, so that any barrier that might have existed between himself and his pupils on account of the difference of language or mode of thought was completely cleared away.

Professor Griffin's publications were not many or important, for his great work was to come later. The only products of his pen are a few articles in newspapers and magazines, among which the most elaborate is his essay on "The Sugar Industry and Legislation in Europe," in the Quarterly Journal of Economics. He also published full summaries of his lecture courses, and edited Ricardo's "Essays on Currency and Finance," for the use of his students. He was, however, preparing himself for a more mature work. Since his arrival in Japan he began to take a strong interest in this country and its people. He said once: "I want to become an authority on things Japanese, especially economic questions." These words express succinctly what he intended, and he went to work at it with his characteristic energy. He read many books and documents, he ransacked the libraries, and obtained materials from his friends; he employed students to make translations for him. This, however, was not all. He studied not only the spoken, but also the written language of Japan; for he wished to obtain information at first hand so as to insure greater accuracy. Only those who have essayed the task can fully appreciate the difficulties of thoroughly learning Japanese. Since it is written with Chinese ideographs, one has really to learn two languages at the same time. Yet such was the progress made by Professor Griffin that in the brief period of five years he was able to speak the language, and had also mastered a large number of Chinese characters. This year, at the annual commencement dinner, he made a speech in Japanese, which those present declared was the best of the evening, — better than those of his native colleagues.

His immediate object was to study the history, the institutions, and the finances of Japan; but his future plans were probably more far-reaching. As Professor Vickers, his most intimate friend in Japan, well puts it: "Knowing his capacities and his qualities so well, knowing that he had already the foundation and the plans, and that he was fast bringing together the materials for a sublime and useful structure, and yet realizing that the superstructure of his life work can never rise to commanding view, I feel it a duty to let others know that in his untimely death more than the inner circle of his friends have suffered irreparable loss."

During the summer vacation he went as usual to Hakoné, taking two of his best qualified students to translate and annotate some Japanese books. There were at that time many invalided soldiers in the village, sent there on account of its healthy situation. To them Professor Griffin was very kind. He cleared away with his own hands grass and bushes from a pleasantly located knoll, and had some seats made for the use of the soldiers. He placed his private boat at their service, and he presented them some games which he had intended for his own children. So by the side of the pleasant lake, in the company of his family, he passed probably one of the happiest summers of his life. On September 10, just two days before he was to return to his duties at the university, he and his family went on a boating excursion, when the fatal event occurred. It is needless to dwell on the details. It suffices to say that he was drowned while swimming in the lake. When the news of the awful calamity reached the village, which is somewhat distant from the place where the accident occurred, people flew to his assistance, and the doctors of the Red Cross Society hastened to the scene, but it was of no avail.

The Harvard Club of Japan, acting through its executive committee, passed the following resolutions: —

"Whereas in the sudden death of Mr. Charles Summer Griffin, '95, Professor in the Tokio Imperial University, struck down before the prime of a vigorous manhood, the Harvard Club of Japan has lost a most valuable member and a genial companion; be it therefore

"Resolved, that we deeply regret the untimely close of a life full of promise for useful works, and that we deplore his loss as a deep personal bereavement; and

"Resolved, that we in sorrow extend to his grief-stricken widow and family our heartfelt sympathy in their great affliction; and

"Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be recorded in the minutes of the Club, and that copies be sent respectively to his widow, to his parents, to the Harvard Graduates' Magazine, and to the Japan Club of Harvard."

Mr. Griffin married, July 29, 1901, Mary Avery Greene, daughter of the Rev. D. Crosby Greene, of Tokio, Japan.

TOKIO C. KIKKAWA, '83.

FRANK WASHBURN GRINNELL. I graduated from Law School in 1898, and entered office of Richard W. Hale, with whom I have been in partnership since 1899 under firm name of Hale & Grinnell, at 10 Tremont Street, Boston. Have lived in Roxbury ever since leaving college; have not travelled; have not gone into politics. A few months ago we moved our offices to 60 State Street, where we now are. I have written nothing except two technical articles on the "Law of Discovery in Massachusetts," which appeared in the Harvard Law Review, and one of no special interest except to local practitioners. I have joined the St. Botolph Club.

FREDERICK ORVILLE GROVER. I remained in the Graduate School at Harvard for three years after receiving my A.B., receiving A.M. degree in 1896. Since 1898 I have been at Oberlin College, first as assistant professor, and then (1900) as full professor. In 1900 I was also appointed registrar of Oberlin College and still hold that office. Since my last report I have become a member of the Society of Botanists of the Central States, of the Society of Naturalists of the Central States, and of the American Society of Naturalists. I have done nothing of note, but have been quietly teaching. I have no wife, children, honorary degrees, offices of profit, honor, or trust; belong to no clubs; and have visited no foreign countries, unless Canada be so considered. I spent four weeks of the summer of 1903 on a canoe trip of 150 miles through the Temagami Lake region, just south of James Bay, Canada. It is a glorious country, and an ideal region for one who likes fishing and canoeing, — all sorts of water, with plenty of elbow room. Another summer was spent among the glaciers on the Divide of the Rocky Mountains in Northern Montana. The only thing I have written or published is "A Preliminary Key to the Trees of the Northern United States based upon their Winter Characters."

GEORGE LIVINGSTONE HAMILTON. Since graduation I have been teaching, studying, and travelling, having, since the appearance of the last report, been more or less of a wanderer. In 1901–1902 I was studying in Paris. The next year I was professor of Romance languages in Trinity College, Durham, North Carolina, and incidentally received my degree of Ph.D. from Columbia in the spring of 1903. The last two years I have been teaching the Romance languages in the University of Michigan. As far as publications go, I have contributed only a few original articles and reviews to the Reports of the Cambridge Dante Society, Modern Language Notes, and American Journal of Philology.

JOHN CLIFFORD HANCOCK. I have spent the time since the last writing in the practice of my profession — medicine —at Dubuque, Iowa, taking an occasional trip for pleasure and study. From time to time I have written articles on professional subjects, of which the following have been published: "Some Aspects of the Present Smallpox Epidemic," in Medicine for 1902; "Mycosis Fungoides, Case Report with Autopsy and Histologic Report," in the Journal of the American Medical Association, March 12, 1904; "Appendix Vermiformis concealed in the Postcæcal Retroperitoneal Space," in Annals of Surgery, November, 1904. I am a member of the American Medical Association, the Iowa State and Illinois State Medical Societies; the Dubuque County (Iowa), and Jo. Daviess County (Illinois) Medical Societies; president Physicians' Library Club of Dubuque; surgeon to Finley and St. Joseph's Mercy hospitals; assistant surgeon Iowa National Guard; assistant surgeon of Dubuque division of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad; medical examiner Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York and National Life Insurance Co. of Vermont; member Dubuque Harvard, Gun, and Golf clubs and Dubuque Club.

JAMES CHESTER HANSON. Died May 11, 1899. See secretary's second report, page 55.

EDWARD HARDING. I am still practicing law in office of Carter, Ledyard & Milburn, 54 Wall Street, New York. I am a member of New York Bar Association, Harvard Club, University Club, County Club of Westchester County.

ROBERT WAITE HARRISON. Since 1898, when I graduated from the Harvard Law School, I have been practicing law in San Francisco. On March 1, 1903, I formed a law partnership with Ralph C. Harrison, Richard C. Harrison, '90, and Robert H. Countryman under the firm name of Harrison & Countryman. This firm was dissolved January 1, 1904. On that date I formed a law partnership with my brother, Richard C. Harrison, '90, Harvard Law School, '93, under the firm name of Harrison & Harrison, with offices at 614 Crossley Building, San Francisco, since which, and up to the present time, I have been practicing law as a member of this firm at the above address. For the past four years I have been an assistant professor in the Hastings College of the Law — the law department of the University of California — giving three courses. I am at present giving a series of lectures on commercial law to the San Francisco Chapter of the American Institute of Bank Clerks. I was married, June 13, 1899, to Susan Ellen Wardner, and have two children: Elisabeth, born May 1, 1903, and Helen Wardner, born December 7, 1904.

HARRY FAIRBANKS HARTWELL. I received M.D. degree from Harvard Medical School in June, 1898, and then spent eighteen months in Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston. In the early part of 1900 I spent four months in Göttingen under Professor Orth. In the summer went to the exposition at Paris, and made a walking trip through Switzerland with Dr. J. D. Weis, '95. Then I spent two months in Berlin, and after this was for seven months in Vienna, working at pathology and various clinical work. June, 1901, I spent at Bern with Professor Kochen. I returned to Boston in August, 1901, and since then I have practiced medicine, with an office at 224 Marlborough Street. In the fall of 1904 I was one of three doctors with the football team at Cambridge. I belong to several medical clubs, and to the Puritan Club.

WALTER THOMAS HARTZELL. After completing a three years' course at the Harvard Law School and receiving LL.B. degree I began the practice of law in New York City. My office address is 31 Nassau Street (Bank of Commerce Building).

NATHAN HAYWARD. I studied at Massachusetts Institute of Technology two years, and taught there one year. Since then I have been with the Bell Telephone Company of Philadelphia. Belong to the Philadelphia Barge Club, the Philadelphia University Club, and to the Mathematical Physical Club. Spent one summer in England and France.

FOREST ALEXANDER HEIZER. The work of the last examination at Harvard disabled my eyes, and, after two subsequent attempts at studying and a trial at newspaper work, I went into farming and stock raising on my farm near Lorimor, Iowa, where I now am. I was married, January 22, 1902, to Luella Mearns, daughter of Lewis Foster and Anna Weeks Mearns. Have one son, Hughes Andrew, born June 22, 1903.

GEORGE STUART HENRY. In 1895 I took up irrigation work in Colorado, work for which I had aimed my course at Harvard. In November, 1896, I went to the city of Mexico, where I engaged in mining and street railway construction until March, 1901, when I returned to Nebraska to take charge of the construction of an irrigation canal at Gering. After completing the construction on this canal in the fall of 1901, I returned to Denver, which became my permanent headquarters, from which I directed the various irrigation interests my father and I had in hand. A considerable amount of actual construction work was done under my direction, and a number of surveys and irrigation enterprises were inaugurated through our firm during the succeeding three years. In the fall and winter of 1904 I made a trip to Mexico for pleasure and rest, spending some time at Tampico and in the city of Mexico. In September of 1904 I again returned to Mexico, and took the resident managership of the Compañia Ferrocarrilera y Maderera de Mexico y Morelos, S. A., having my headquarters at a station of the Mexican Central Railroad called Fierro del Toro. This company is extensively engaged in exploiting the wood and lumber on a large mountain territory, the concession for which is obtained from the native Indian tribes, or pueblos. I have two sawmills, some twenty kilometers of track with heavy grades, on which we operate Shay engines. The scenery is of the very wildest, and would be hard to surpass even in my native state. The natives are a simple folk, very suspicious of us foreigners, but exceedingly serviceable when once their confidence is gained. This, in brief, is an outline of the events of the past four years. Events is hardly the word to use; as the years move on, events grow rarer and incidents more frequent. In May I plan to return to the United States, where personal interests demand attention, and where I propose to remain, except for these trips to Mexico. May I add, since it is requested that club membership be acknowledged, that in the fall of 1903 several college men and others met with me one night at a prominent hotel in Denver, and we formed what was afterwards called the Mile High Club. The object of this club was to dine cheaply once a month, to get together the brightest and most representative young men of the town, to air our views, and to entertain passing notables, when occasion might offer. There was evidently a want for such a club, for it at once made a place for itself, and now has a membership of fifty, with a large waiting list. Money and social distinction, per se, are not deemed qualifications. During the two years I was president we entertained, among others, William Jennings Bryan, E. H. Sothern, W. W. White, the dramatic critic, and others. I mention this at length in the hope that others may take a hint and try such a club. The pleasure is unbounded.

BENJAMIN ALEXANDER HEYDRICK. After leaving college I spent part of a year in graduate study at the University of Chicago; appointed Fellow in English there in 1896. Resigned fellowship to take position as head of English department in the First Pennsylvania State Normal School, Millersville, Pennsylvania, where I remained seven years. In 1903 appointed assistant in English in the newly established High School of Commerce of New York City; in 1904 I was made chairman of the department. I have been elected to Phi Beta Kappa, Allegheny College Chapter, as a member of the class of '93; member of Phi Beta Kappa Alumni Association of New York City. Travelled in Europe summer of 1901. Have published: "How to Study Literature," New York, Hinds & Noble, 1901, third edition, 1903; and "Short Studies in Composition," Hinds & Noble, 1905.

LOUIS PHILIP HEYMAN. On account of ill health I gave up newspaper work in the fall of 1900. In the spring of 1901 I began merchandising. Am now a member of the firm of Lee, Heyman & Co., West Point, Georgia. I am manager of the furniture and house furnishings department. I belong to the West Point Lodge No. 43 A. F. & A. M.

ANDREW ALBERT HIGHLANDS. I was graduated from the Harvard Law School in 1898, and began practice with Melvin O. Adams in Boston. In July, 1901, I started the practice of law as senior member of firm of Highlands & Ward, with offices in Barristers Hall, Boston, and have continued my connection with that firm to date. Have written no books, and had no degrees conferred upon me, and am a member of no learned society. Have done no travelling outside this country, but I have been all over this country during the past three years, on business for above named firm. Have simply continued in the practice of law, with some small degree of profit to myself, and with an abiding faith and hope that such profit will increase as time goes on. Married, April 18, 1900, Lucy Inez Blake. I am a member of the Brae Burn Country Club, the Albemarle Golf Club, the Newton Club, and the First Corps Cadets. Am also a member of the B. P. O. Elks, Brookline Lodge.

FREDERICK BRACKETT HILL. In the autumn of 1895 I entered Columbia Law School, where I spent one year. Spent two years at the University of Pennsylvania Law School, receiving the degree LL.B. in 1898. In the fall I returned to Boston, and began practice with my brother, M. F. Hill, '90. In 1899 we organized the American Roller Bearing Company, for the manufacture of a roller bearing invented by my brother. On the death of our classmate, Edward B. Lambert, in July, 1903, I was chosen his successor as treasurer of the American Roller Bearing Company, and have continued in that capacity and as secretary since that time. Immediately after his death our plant in South Boston was completely destroyed by fire. We immediately equipped a new and larger plant in South Framingham, and soon after I took up my residence there. The same summer I lost my father, Frank A. Hill, secretary of the Massachusetts Board of Education. Since then have been living "the simple life" in the quiet village of Framingham, enjoying golf and tennis as a member of the Framingham Country Club. Am an automobile enthusiast, being treasurer of the national organization, The American Motor League, and a director in a recent corporation formed for the sale of certain standard machines in this territory. I married, June 14, 1900, Edith Pickering Draper. Have two sons: Leroy Draper, born March 15, 1901, and Fredrick B., Jr., born November, 1903. Speaking of the "simple life," I would add that, since leaving the noise and worries of the metropolis, I have gained ten pounds and lost all former ailments of both body and mind. Others take warning: back to the woods and enjoy life.

MICHITARO HISA died in Japan, May 11, 1902, after a long illness. The secretary did not hear from him after he left college, but the following sketch, which he wrote in 1895 in his "class life," will be of interest:

"I was born in Japan in a fishing town situated on the Pacific Coast, almost opposite San Francisco. Often I stood on the seashore, gazing towards the horizon, five thousand miles beyond which lay the American continent, and speculating what kind of country the land of Washington and Commodore Perry would be. But I hardly imagined that not many years later I should be staying in that country and seeing the Washington Elm and the relatives of the Commodore.

"After I graduated from the grammar and high schools in my native town I entered a boarding-school in the neighborhood in order to study Chinese classics, which still form in Japan one of the necessary accomplishments of educated men, and remained there three years. When I reached the age of seventeen I came up to Tokio, which is the centre of learning as well as politics in Japan. There I began my study of the English language, using Webster's spelling-book and the first volume of National Reader. During the first few weeks I found the task pretty discouraging; but shortly afterwards I entered a Presbyterian college, called Meiji Gakuin, in which many English text-books are used.

"I graduated from Meiji Gakuin in June, 1894. Just at that time the admission examinations for Harvard were held in Tokio, Japan, for the first time, so I immediately applied for the examinations and passed them. In this way I happened to register myself as a member of Class of '95.

"During my college years I have spent my time mostly in studying, writing, and lecturing, though not without occasional sport. At all events, the sojourn of four years in Cambridge has been most instructive and advantageous to me. Though I have to go back to Japan very soon, yet the pleasant memory of Fair Harvard and my beloved class will remain ever fresh in my mind."

The following is the translation of a Japanese letter received by the college, June 18, 1902: —

KONAHAMA-MACHI IWAKI, JAPAN,
May 24, 1902.

TO HARVARD UNIVERSITY,

Greeting, — My son, Michitaro Hisa, who was so kindly treated during his stay at your college, died at 6 o'clock P. M., on the 11th inst., after a long illness. We held the funeral service in his native province according to the Buddhist rite. I wish to inform the president, and the professors and his acquaintances, of this sad news.

Yours truly,

YOHEI HISA.

JOSEPH CLEMENT DELANO HITCH. About the time of the last report I moved from Nutley, New Jersey, where I had been living since my marriage, to the upper west side of New York City. I lived there two years, then came out to South Orange, New Jersey, where I have lived ever since. On July 1, 1903, I was admitted as a partner in the export commission-house of Allerton D. Hitch & Co.,

of New York and Washington, by which I had been employed as a clerk ever since October, 1896. At the same time I became a partner of the firm of Henry Forster & Co., of Pernambuco and Maceio, Brazil, the oldest foreign firm in Brazil, having been founded by my grandfather in 1824. In September, 1903, I sailed for Pernambuco. I spent three months in Brazil, visiting the ports of Pernambuco, Maceio, and Bahia, and taking several trips into the interior, where coffee and, especially, sugar and cotton plantations abound. Since my return to New York nothing of interest has occurred until yesterday, March 22, 1905, my fourth child, Adeline Van Nostrand, was born. My marriage to Adeline Van Nostrand Dorr occurred October 2, 1897, and my three elder children, Henry Forster, 2d., Nancy Higginson, and Joseph Delano, were born October 10, 1898, April 28, 1901, and January 31, 1904, respectively.

FREDERICK RICHARD HODGE. I was principal of the Glover School, Milton, 1895–6, and have been principal of the Belmont School, Malden, since 1896. Married, September 7, 1897, Emma R. B. Merrill, daughter of Orlando and Roxana Merrill. Have one child, Frederick Merrill, born April 3, 1903.

WILLIAM F HODGE. After leaving college I studied law at the Harvard Law School for one year. In the fall of 1896 I came to Syracuse, New York, and continued the study of law in the office of Goodelle & Nottingham of this city. Was admitted to the bar in January, 1898, and in March, 1898, I opened an office for the general practice of law, with Robt. H. Slocum, under the firm of Hodge & Slocum, which continued until May, 1902, when I associated myself in the practice of law with Jay B. Kline, then mayor of Syracuse. This partnership continued until May, 1904. At that time Mr. Kline withdrew from the firm, owing to press of other business interests, and at present I am practicing alone, with offices at 36, 37 Syracuse Savings Bank Building. August 14, 1900, I married Katharine Eleanor Bailey. I have always been more or less active in politics, as a Republican, and have always done a fair share of campaign work. Belong to the Chamber of Commerce of this city, the Citizens' Club, the University Club, the Syracuse Harvard Club, the Current Events Club. Reside at No. 6, "The Kenyon."

GEORGE HOGG. I am still practicing law, with an office at 87 Milk Street, Boston, being connected with the firm of Foster & Turner. I have been specializing in the defence of street railway accident cases, having charge of all jury-waived and district court cases against the Massachusetts Electric Companies, with the exception of those brought in one county. I was married, January 25, 1899, to Ann Phelps Card, and have three children: Catharine, born February 19, 1902; Ann Card, born March 17, 1903; and George, Jr., born August 30, 1904.

BRADBURY HOLBROOK. From 1895 to 1899 was a student in the medical department of the University of Pennsylvania, and received the degree of M.D. there in June, 1899. Served as an interne or house physician in the General Memorial Hospital, New York City, from October, 1899, to June, 1900. Have been practicing medicine in West Newton, Massachusetts, since July 20, 1900. Belong to the Newton Medical Club, Massachusetts Medical Society, and the American Medical Association.

EDWARD JACKSON HOLMES. Since receiving LL.B. degree from the Harvard Law School in 1899 I have been practicing law in Boston. I was married, July 8, 1897, to Mary Stacy Beaman.

SUMNER RICKER HOOPER. Since the publication of the last report, in 1901, I have remained in Milton Academy as instructor in mathematics and house-master of Forbes House. In 1902 I assumed the proprietorship of the Kahkou Camp and Canoe Tours, Caucomgomoc Lake, Maine. This year I am establishing a new camp for younger boys on Moosehead Lake, called Camp Wildwood. This camp will be devoted to outdoor life and sport on the edge of the great northern wilderness. Boys from ten to sixteen will be received here. After that age they are old enough to derive more benefit from Camp Kahkou. I have lectured before the Appalachian Mountain Club on "Northern Maine: from Moosehead Lake to Fort Kent," and also have several other lectures which I am occasionally called upon to give. I spent the summer of 1904 in Europe, visiting England, Holland, Germany, Switzerland, Italy, Prussia, and France. I am a member of the following societies and clubs: the Twentieth Century Club, Appalachian Mountain Club, National Geographic Society, State of Maine Club, Travellers' Club, Lecturer's Association of Boston, New England Alumni of the Phillips Exeter Academy, Harvard Teachers' Association, New England Mathematical Teachers' Association, New England Association of Teachers of English, Massachusetts Audubon Society, Massachusetts Forestry Association, American Canoe Association.

LOUIS HOW. Have published "Penitentes of San Rafael" (1900) and "Life of James B. Eads" (1900). Enlisted as a private in Battery A. First Connecticut, the so-called Yale Battery, and served until October 25, 1898. Was stationed at Niantic, Connecticut. Belong to the Harvard Club, New York, and to the Country Club, Saint Louis.

(This was published in the second report. The secretary has received no reply to his requests for information for this report.)

CHARLES TILDEN HOWARD. Since the publication of the second report I have continued in the practice of medicine in Watertown, Massachusetts, and now consider myself well established. I have devoted a great deal of time to surgery, with the idea of specializing along this line, and I have opened an office at 160 Newbury Street, Boston, where I confine myself entirely to surgical cases. In June, 1901, I was appointed assistant obstetrician to the maternity department of the Massachusetts Homœopathic Hospital. In January, 1902, I was advanced from second to first assistant surgeon at the same hospital, and am doing a large amount of operating there. For the past two years I have held the position of lecturer on minor surgery at the Boston University School of Medicine. I belong to all the leading homœopathic medical societies, and have from time to time presented papers before them. I am still unmarried, and at present have no prospect of becoming a Benedict.

HENRY ADAMS HOWE. I entered the employ of the Metropolitan Water Board, August 5, 1895, as rodman, and was a member of the engineering force until June, 1904, having at that time the grade of assistant engineer. June 1, 1904, I entered the Reclamation Service of the United States Geological Survey, as assistant engineer on the Uniompahgie Valley Project of Colorado. The work under my charge is the alignment and levels for the Gunnison Tunnel construction, with about the first mile of open canal. My quarters, in the shape of log cabins, are located near the tunnel exit, called the Cedar Creek Postat, and at a point about two and a half miles west of Cedar Creek Station, on the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad, via Marshall Pass. I was married, May 19, 1896, to Elizabeth Isaminger. Have two children: Margaret, born September 23, 1897, and William Donald, born June 26, 1899.

WILL DAVID HOWE. In the year 1895–96 was acting professor of English language and literature in Butler College, University of Indianapolis. From 1896 to 1899 studied in the Harvard Graduate School, receiving the A.M. degree in 1897 and the Ph.D. degree in 1899. Since 1899 have been professor of English literature in Butler College, University of Indianapolis. In the summer of 1899 travelled in England; in the summer of 1901 in Italy and Switzerland. In summer of 1904 taught Chaucer and Anglo-Saxon in the University of Chicago. At present, editor of "Reader's Study" in Reader Magazine. Have written various articles on literary subjects for papers and magazines. I married, December 20, 1902, Elizabeth Poulson, daughter of J. P. Poulson and Kate Gery Poulson. I have one boy, Robert Poulson, born January 22, 1904. I am president of Irvington Athenæum, president Indianapolis Century Club, member of Indianapolis Literary Club and Harvard Graduate Club.

WILLIAM WOODS HOWE. In the fall of 1895 I was elected principal of Gordon Academy, Ogden, Utah. Held position one year, when, on account of competition with a growing public school system, the academy was leased to the public schools. In the fall of 1896 I began to teach in Boston, first as a substitute. From December, 1897, to April, 1901, held position of assistant in the Robert G. Shaw Grammar School. In April, 1901, was elected sub-master of the Martin School, Huntington Avenue, Boston, and still hold that position. I am serving also my third year as assistant in the Central Evening High School, Boston. Passed the summer months of 1895–1901, that of 1896 excepted, as purser on the boats of the Nantasket Steamboat Company. The past three summers have been passed in Maine, where I have taken up my residence at Mere Point, Brunswick. On the 25th of June, 1902, was married to Janet Prudden Thompson, daughter of Charles P. and Elizabeth Bowman Thompson, of Winchester, Massachusetts. I have one child, William Thompson, born on the 3d of May, 1903. Belong to the Phi Delta Theta Club of Boston, in which I hold the office of treasurer. Am also a member of the Massachusetts Schoolmasters' Club, and the Boston Sub-masters' Club.

THOMAS BERNARD HUGHES. I am still plugging away at the law, the only change since the last report being the removal of my offices from the Exchange Building to 50 Congress Street, Boston. On November 23, 1903, I married Elizabeth Cecelia Walsh, daughter of James and Hannah Walsh. We have one child, Margaret Walsh Hughes, born March 10, 1905.

EDWARD VERMILYE HUNTINGTON. From 1895 to 1897 I studied in the Graduate School, receiving A.M. degree in June, 1897. For the next two years I taught mathematics at Williams College, and then went to the University of Strassburg, Germany, where I received Ph.D. degree in 1901. After returning from Germany in August, 1901, I was appointed instructor in mathematics at Harvard, a position which I still hold. Most of my work is in the Scientific School. I was made a member of the faculty in September, 1904. Since 1903 I have been one of the editors of the Annals of Mathematics, an entertaining quarterly to which all members of the class should subscribe. Joined the American Mathematical Society in 1901, and have contributed a number of articles in the mathematical journals — mostly on the foundations of mathematics. For three years I have taught in the Harvard Summer School, spending the rest of the summer largely in the Berkshires. In September, 1904, I went to St. Louis to present a "ten minute address" at the Congress of Arts and Science. Expect to perpetrate a book before the next "report," on the foundations of algebra — an entertaining volume which all members of the class will buy for summer reading. My friends tell me I 'll never get married till I shave off my beard, which resembles a tortoise-shell cat.

EBERLY HUTCHINSON. Have had neither residence nor occupation of sufficient permanence to require mention. Have journeyed almost continuously during the last six years in the Pacific states and in Europe.

(This was published in the second report. Letters sent to his last address are now returned.)

WILLIAM EDWARD HUTTON. My course since the last report has been in an easy jog, marked by no startling incidents such as I was formerly able to record. I have n't dared to repeat the triplet incident: in fact, I am just now fully recovering my normal self-possession, which was rudely disturbed by that extraordinary event. For the benefit of friends who were in doubt after reading my last report, I assure them that the event referred to was not a repetition of the Aucassin and Nicolette episode, wherein the king figured. I am still practicing law in Denver. It has been an uphill fight since three years ago, when I gave up a comfortable salary from an Employers' Liability Company and plunged up the steeps of independent general practice. I believe the hardest of the climb is nearly over and a better prospect comes into view. During the past two years I have given considerable attention to local political affairs, taking especial interest in a campaign for an improved city charter for Denver. I was secretary of the campaign committee favoring a proposed new charter, which, however, was defeated by fraudulent votes. Following this defeat, a League for Honest Elections was organized, of which I was one of the promoters. An active and, to a considerable extent, successful campaign has been waged against election frauds and criminals. Out of this campaign grew certain legal proceedings before the Supreme Court of Colorado, regarding which I wrote an article for The Green Bag, Boston, published in the March number, 1905. I am at present acting as special assistant to the United States Attorney for Colorado. I married, June 29, 1899, Alida Platt Lansing. I had triplets: Helen, John Lansing, and Katherine, born April 12, 1900, but Katherine died April 13, 1900.

SEIHIN IKEDA. Has not replied to secretary's letters.

ALEXANDER DUER IRVING, JR. Am secretary of the American Branch of the Phœnix Assurance Company of London. Belong to the Union, University, and Racquet clubs of New York.

(This was published in the second report. The secretary has received no reply to his requests for information for this report.)

ELLERTON JAMES. I spent October and November, 1902, travelling through France and Italy; December, January, February, and March in Egypt, going up the Nile in a dahablah, and keeping on to Hartoum; spent April in Sicily, and May in England, returning home in June. Have continued to practice law in Boston, and have done work for the Good Government Association and Public Franchise League. I married, July 6, 1898, Olivia Buckminster Tappan. Belong to the Boston Athletic Association and Racquet and Tennis Club.

HERBERT WENDELL JAMESON. I have been unable to finish my medical course, which I had to discontinue on account of ill health. Most of my time since the last report has been spent on my brother's farm in West Medway, Massachusetts. At present I am living in Jamaica Plain.

ARTHUR CHARLES JOHNSON. I am still teaching in secondary schools. In 1902 I resigned my position at Littleton, Massachusetts, to become principal of the High School at Hopedale, Massachusetts, my present abode. Here was born my daughter Eleanor, December 3, 1902, and my second child, Elizabeth, was born and died. I am a member of the Roundabout Club. As recorded in the preceding report, I was married, August 31, 1899, to Grace Cordelia Daniels.

RALPH MILLER JOHNSON. Have been with the Chicago and Northwestern Railway since graduation, and am now their general agent in Philadelphia, in charge of traffic matters that interest the company in the states of North and South Carolina, Virginia, Maryland, Delaware, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania. My club membership is limited to the Harvard Club of New York, and the Union and Saddle and Cycle clubs of Chicago.

REGINALD HATHAWAY JOHNSON. I received the degree LL.B. in June, 1898, from the Harvard Law School, and was admitted to the bar in September of that year. I began to practice at once as a student in the offices of the firm of Storey & Thorndike, where I remained as an associate until January, 1902, when I was admitted to the firm as a junior partner, the firm's name being changed to Storey, Thorndike, Palmer & Thayer. My work has been almost entirely outside of the court-room, consisting mainly of the organization of corporations within and without Massachusetts, the issue of their stock and bonds, and other matters in connection with their formation and the conduct of their legal affairs. My vacations have generally been spent either cruising from Boston to Mount Desert or in the Adirondack Mountains. The former I can recommend as ideal to any lover of the salt water, for, although it may smack of bliss born of ignorance, I doubt if there is finer cruising ground in the world for small boats than between Portland and Mount Desert. The Adirondack Mountains also have their charms for a New Englander, like myself, whose horizon has hitherto been somewhat narrow. I sometimes reproach myself that I have not gone into politics, or in some other way demonstrated that I am not entirely lacking in a sense of my obligation towards my fellow-men, but my work and the calls of my life in Boston leave little time for such reflections. In a word, I am leading what some of my married classmates would perhaps term "An Unhappy Bachelor's Existence," with small prospects for the present of a change. I am a member of the Oakley Country Club, the Eastern Yacht Club, the Union Boat Club, the Harvard Musical Association, the Economic Club, and last, but not least perhaps, the Massachusetts Civil Service Reform Association.

SHIRLEY EVERTON JOHNSON. During 1896 I was literary critic with Lamson, Wolffe & Co., Boston, and for the next two years was assistant Sunday editor of the Louisville (Kentucky) Courier-Journal. In 1899 I was treasurer of the Union Title Insurance Company, Louisville; from 1900 to 1903 was manager of the publication department of The Sun Life Insurance Company of America and editor of The Sunbeam (monthly) and Sunlight (weekly).

Since January, 1903, I have been connected with Fisk & Robinson, Bankers, 35 Cedar Street, New York, being their southern and western representative. I was married, June 8, 1904, to Willis Cecil Nield, daughter of Charles Smedley and Lucy Adams Nield. I have published "Conquering a Smallpox Epidemic in Kentucky," State Board of Health Report (Kentucky), 1898–9; "The Story of Galveston and the Sun Life," 1901; "The Cult of the Purple Rose — a Phase of Harvard Life," Badger, Boston, 1902; and countless newspaper and magazine articles and poems. Belong to Preston Lodge No. 281 F. & A. M., Eureka Chapter No. 101 R. A. M., De Molay Commandery No. 12 K. T., the Pendennis Club of Louisville, the Filson Club of Kentucky, the Harvard Club of Kentucky, and the St. Louis Club.

FREDERICK CHARLES JONES. For two years I lived in Boston, studying and practicing chemistry with T. Metcalf Company and at the Massachusetts General Hospital. Since then I have practiced chemistry in California. In 1902 I engaged in chemical work for the California Light & Fuel Co. The latter erected a plant at Oakland, for the California Gas & Electric Corporation, for which company I then went to work. I have been with this company since November, 1902. The gas set at Oakland is the largest in the world. My work consists in analysis of cokes, coals, oils, and gases, and is, as such work has always been, congenial to me. I live in San Francisco, and go across the bay to Oakland every day, just reversing the order of the usual San Francisco commutor.

JULIO JUAN JULBE. Died April 20, 1897. See secretary's second report, page 65.

JOHN GLASS KAUFMAN. For three years after graduation I was engaged in teaching as principal of the Sidney (Ohio) High School. I then spent two years in a law office in Philadelphia, giving up the study to become administrator of the Santos Varones Mining Company, Zacualpam, Mexico. In August, 1904, I returned to the States, and took up my residence at Philadelphia. I completed the law course of the University of Pennsylvania with the class of 1904. Since July, 1904, I have been practicing law in Philadelphia, being associated with V. Gilpin Robinson, Esq., 1218 Stephen Girard Building. December 18, 1900, I was married to Mary Magdelene Loughlin, and have two children: John Loughlin, born January 21, 1902, and Mary Eliza, born August 28, 1904.

GUSTAVUS ADOLPHUS KAVEN. I am practicing law, not principally for myself, but rather for the Lawyers' Title Insurance Company, 37 Liberty Street, New York City. I married, April 4, 1900, Mary H. Howard. My only clubs are the Harvard Club of New York and the West Side Republican Club.

HENRY HAWLEY KEELER. Since leaving college I have been engaged in teaching. I am now teaching at Ridgefield, Connecticut.

GILBERT FALCONER KENNEDY. I am still engaged in the practice of law, but my time is mainly devoted to business interests. I have written no books, and have taken no degrees. I am secretary and assistant treasurer of the Lincoln Company, Ltd., of Pearl, Idaho, and Salt Lake City, Utah; president and treasurer of The Cal-cura Company of Kingston, New York; member of the firm of Dr. David Kennedy's Sons of Rondout, New York; director of the State of New York National Bank of Kingston; and director or trustee in a few other concerns. I have never held any office, although I have been a candidate for office on the Democratic ticket. I belong to the Harvard Club of New York, the Columbia University Club of New York, the University Club of Albany, and the Chi Psi Club of New York. I am also a member of some local boards, associations, clubs, etc., such as the Board of Trade, the County Bar Association, Board of Church Trustees, Kingston Club, Country Club, etc. I was married, September 20, 1900, to Helen Clifford McCormick, and have one daughter, Charlotte Falconer, born October 7, 1901.

THATCHER RAYMOND KIMBALL. I was graduated from the General Theological Seminary, New York, in June, 1898, and in the same month I was ordained to deaconate in the Episcopal Church. The following year I was ordained to the priesthood, and took up my work at once. In January, 1902, I was called to St. Stephen's Church, Boston, to become one of the associate ministers, and I am still there. My department of work, besides preaching and regular parochial calls and duties, has been the neighborhood work, organizing industrial classes for the Jews and Italians that surround us along college settlement lines. I have also taken a good deal of interest in labor questions, and am now president of the Boston Chapter of the Church Association for the Advancement of the Interests of Labor. Am also chairman of the Boston City History Club, an organization I started, to teach good citizenship to young Italians and other foreign-born children by means of the study of Boston's local history. I have done a great deal of work in the Actors' Church Alliance, and I am in the Council of the Boston Chapter.

DELCEVARE KING. Since leaving Harvard I have been treasurer of two or three small companies. At present I am treasurer of the Eureka Silk Manufacturing Company (Boston office, 126 Summer Street) and the Quincy Real Estate Trust, a director of the Citizens' No-License League, Massachusetts Total Abstinence Society, National Granite Bank, New England Watch and Ward Society, Quincy Y. M. C. A., and a member of the Appalachian, Congregational, Economic, Trade, and Twentieth Century clubs. I am much interested in my Sunday School class of about forty fellows — Makaria Fraternity I call it.

EDWARD KLEIN. I am still in the electrical construction business, with office at 628 Telegraph Avenue, Oakland, California. Since the birth of my two children, Una Marie, January 16, 1902, and John Archibald Russell, September 11, 1903, I have decided to make Oakland my permanent home, and with that in view built a cottage on Sherman Street. My marriage to Anna Cathryn Zimmerman, February 17, 1901, was recorded in the preceding report.

EUGENE RICHTER KNAPP, JR. Died May 19, 1898. See secretary's second report, page 67.

DANIEL REMIGIUS KREHBIEL. After spending several years as principal of the Newton (Kansas) High School I left educational work for business, and I am at present treasurer of the Moundridge Milling Company, Moundridge, Kansas. I married, October 13, 1898, Terrie Onessa Kinney, and have two children: Susanna Jane, born January 14, 1901, and Bertrand Isaac, born September 15, 1902.

WILLIAM ANDREW LACKEY. In the summer of 1901 I was elected superintendent of schools and principal of high schools of Webster, Massachusetts, where I remained two years, until the dual position was abolished. During the past year I have been engaged in stock and bond business, acting besides as manager of a private investment company and real estate interests. Last summer I was offered a position in the college at Honolulu to take charge of the entire Latin department, and to exercise supervision over a part of the athletics. This offer, owing to the great distance from home, I could not accept. I have now been engaged in teaching for over eight years, and may decide to go into business whenever the right opportunity occurs. I am a Mason, having taken my degrees in the Blue Lodge in Webster. I am still a bachelor, and am therefore out of trouble for the present.

EDWARD BARTLET LAMBERT died, after a short illness of typhoid fever, at his home in Cambridge, on July 12, 1903. He was born in West Newton, Massachusetts, September 20, 1872, but his family moved to Cambridge in 1884, and he was educated in the Cambridge schools. Entering college a sturdy, square-shouldered, alert youth, independent and self-reliant, but quick to respond to proffered friendships, he developed early the faculty of seeing life in its true proportions and judging people at their true worth. A democratic instinct gave him a sympathy with all sorts of men, but a remarkably mature judgment made him discriminate between charm of character and temporary college popularity. His manly qualities and charming personality won him an exceptionally large and pleasant acquaintance and many warm and intimate friends. It was inevitable that he should have been one of the group of class athletes. He early won a seat in the class boat and became recognized in other lines of sport. It was at the tiller of his yacht, however, when he was cruising upon the New England coast, which he needed no chart to navigate, that he found the most complete fulfilment of his love for the active life. At such times his coolness, courage, love of rivalry, and strength impressed themselves, perhaps for the first time, upon persons who before had known only his sunny good-nature. After graduating from college he entered the banking-house of Kidder, Peabody & Co. in Boston. A few years later he became interested with F. B. Hill, '95, in the American Roller Bearing Company. He was elected its treasurer, and in December, 1901, he gave up the banking business and devoted the last two years of his life to the creation of a new and promising industry.

LUCIUS PAGE LANE died at Boston, May 29, 1903, after an illness lasting several months. He was born, January 7, 1872, at 623 Tremont Street, Boston, and lived there nearly all his life. He studied at the Boston Latin School and then entered the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Graduating from Technology with the degree of S.B. in 1894, he entered Harvard, and received the degree of A.B. with our class. During the next year he was a graduate student at Harvard, and received the A.M. degree in 1896.

He then worked for a year in Brentano's bookstore in New York. In 1897–98 he was a student at the State Library School, Albany, New York. Returning to Boston in 1898 he was an assistant in the statistical department of the Boston Public Library for two years. He then became cataloguer in the same library. From this position he resigned in February, 1903, on account of illness. He wrote "Aids in the Use of Government Publications" in Publications of the American Statistical Association, June, 1900. He was deeply interested in the Public School Association of Boston, being at one time a member of the executive committee, and he also devoted much time and attention to the church work of the Union Congregational Church, Boston.

NORRIS HASTINGS LAUGHTON. I received A.M. degree from Harvard in 1897, and since that time I have been teaching English. In 1902 I secured the position as instructor in English at the Hebrew Technical Institute. This school is situated on the lower East Side in New York City. Its purpose is to turn the immigrant Jew from the mercantile business and make him a self-reliant mechanic. As my department alone yields ethical interests, I find that the mere teaching of English is a small part of my work. If a man in my position can make the immigrant boy feel as does the ordinary American boy, and develop in him a love of country and a desire for the higher ideals, such a teacher is, I believe, doing the very best kind of work. I publish about twice a year articles on English, which appear in the various educational periodicals. On the whole, I am very glad that I am engaged in my present occupation. I feel, also, that the education I received from Harvard has proved an invaluable aid in my work among the most interesting people I have ever come in contact with. I was married, December 30, 1903, to Louise Ella Means, daughter of John Hamilton and Louise Mack Means.

SYDNEY ALLEN LAWTON. Since 1895 I have been in the stock brokerage business in New York City, first with Work, Strong & Co., then with Strong, Sturgis & Co., and later a member of the firm of Lawton, Flint & Co. In 1903 my firm of Lawton, Flint & Co. was dissolved, and since September, 1903, I have been with Wrenn Bros. & Co., 24 Broad Street, at the head of their bond department. Was married on June 29, 1901, to Harriet Sheldon Lawton, daughter of Benjamin Evans and Sarah Douglas Grew Lawton. Have two children: Sarah Douglas, born October 19, 1902, and Katherine Whitney, born October 14, 1904. I am member of the Harvard and University clubs, New York City, and Apawamis Club, Rye, New York, of which club I have been one of the board of governors and also secretary since January, 1901.

ARTHUR SOWDON LEAROYD. I entered the accounting office of the Fitchburg Railroad, July 7, 1895, and remained there until May, 1896, when I went to Worcester into the local freight office of the same company. January 1, 1901, I left the Fitchburg Railroad and entered the employ of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad. On May 15, 1901, I was made the division freight agent at Easton, Pennsylvania, which position I still hold. I married, January 10, 1897, Caroline Bertha Williams.

GIFFORD LeCLEAR. Since the last report I have been engaged in the practice of general consulting engineering with E. D. Densmore, '94, under the firm name of Densmore & LeClear. I was married, October 15, 1903, to Helen Francis Parker, daughter of George Judson and Adeline Parker of Boston. I am now living at Waban, Newton.

JOHN HOPKINS LEETE. I am connected with the Pennsylvania State College as associate professor of mathematics. Am also secretary of the faculty and registrar. Married, December 20, 1895, Edith Payne, daughter of Augustus F. and Mary Payne. Have one son, Alexander Payne, born March 4, 1903.

JOHN HART LEWIS. After receiving the degree A.M. at Harvard in 1896 I travelled for two years in Europe, and then spent three years at the Harvard Law School, receiving the degree LL.B. in 1900. For a little over a year I practiced law in New York City, but I concluded that advancement was too slow in the East and left New York City. I came to Fargo, North Dakota, and stayed there two months in a law office. Then I came to Minot in May, 1902, securing here an appointment as United States Commissioner. This is a country where free government homesteads are being taken up, and, while I have practiced law to some extent, most of my time has been employed as United States Commissioner, in taking the final proofs of homesteaders, of residence and cultivation of their farms, a business which has proved very profitable. I am also dealing in real estate and loans. On April 29, 1903, I married, at Cambridge, Ethel Appleton Putnam, daughter of Frederic Ward Putnam, professor of American archæology and anthropology at Harvard University and at the University of California, and of Adelaide Edmands Putnam. I took a government homestead ten miles from town, and we lived there during the summer of 1903, although I still continued my business in town. Since then I have lived in town. I have taken some part in politics during the last year. This region developed from the ranching stage into the farming stage four or five years ago. It is fairly well settled, and progressing rapidly toward Eastern conditions. The long distances promote outdoor life, and this and the differences between it and the East make it a very interesting place to an Easterner. It is an excellent place for an energetic young man to make money. The thoroughness of an Eastern training, in a country where most men are deficient in education, is of the utmost value to him provided he does not flaunt it and learns the Western spirit.

ALEXANDER LINCOLN. For two years after graduation I was at the Harvard Graduate School, receiving A.M. degree in 1896. During the winter of 1898–99 I was in the University at Göttingen, after which I returned to the Harvard Law School. I am now practicing law in Boston, in the office of Whipple, Sears & Ogden.

ERNEST LINDSEY. Since leaving college I have lived in Marblehead almost entirely. Worked from March, 1896, until April, 1897, in the freight auditing department of the Fitchburg Railroad. Since then I have been with the N. B. Lindsey Company, Marblehead, manufacturers of fancy biscuit and cracker specialties. I am now treasurer of this company. Married, February 23, 1899, Edith Adelaide Stanley. Have two daughters: Anna Blaney, born August 17, 1900, and Elizabeth Stanley, born September 14, 1904.

DR. ARTHUR MAXWELL LINE died at Wilmington, Delaware, May 29, 1904, very suddenly, of heart failure. He was born in Cincinnati, Ohio, June 1, 1871, and prepared for Harvard at Phillips Academy, Andover. After graduating from college he studied four years at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York City, and received the M.D. degree in 1899. He was also a member of Troop A, New York Volunteer Cavalry, from June 9, 1898, to October 28, 1898, and saw foreign service in Porto Rico. From 1899 to 1901 he was on the staff of Bellevue Hospital, New York City. In that year, 1901, he entered the regular army as assistant surgeon, and was first stationed at Fort Sheridan, then at Washington, District of Columbia, and afterwards at Fort Riley, Kansas. He resigned from the army in November, 1902, and took up the practice of medicine at Wilmington, Delaware, where he lived until his death. Dr. Line married, October 23, 1901, Mary Sweetser of Marion, Indiana, and had two children: Mary Sweetser, born July 31, 1902, and Arthur Sweetser, born September 23, 1903.

EDWIN STANTON LIVINGOOD. After graduation I studied law for a year at Reading, Pennsylvania, and then for a year at the Dickinson School of Law, Carlisle, Pennsylvania. During 1897 and 1898 I was ranching and farming in Wyoming and Nebraska. Since then I have been practicing law in Reading, Pennsylvania.

GEORGE CABOT LODGE. Studied in Paris (1896) and Berlin (1897). Served as ensign in the United States Navy throughout the Spanish War, 1898; being stationed on the coast of Cuba. Published "Song of the Wave," 1898; "Poems — 1899–1902," 1902; and "Cain," 1904. Have also contributed poems to Scribner's, Harper's, The Century, and Atlantic Monthly magazines. Married, August 18, 1900, Matilda Elizabeth Frelinghuysen Davis. Have two children: Henry Cabot Lodge, 2d, born July 5, 1902, at Nahant, Massachusetts; and John Davis Lodge, born October 20, 1903, at Washington, District of Columbia. Member of Somerset Club, Boston, and Players' Club, New York.

HAROLD WESLEY LOKER. In 1895–96 I taught at Pembroke Academy, Pembroke, New Hampshire; 1896–1901 taught at Portland High School, Portland, Maine. Since 1901 I have been principal of the High School at Needham, Massachusetts. Married, June 29, 1904, Emma Nelson Pond, daughter of Edmund George and Hannah Elizabeth Beals Pond of Needham. I am a member of Norfolk Lodge A. F. A. M., Needham; Newton Royal Arch Chapter, Newton; and also vice-president of the Norfolk County Teachers' Convention.

PERCIVAL HALL LOMBARD. After graduation I studied for three years at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, receiving S.B. degree in 1898. During the year following I was with the American Bell Telephone Company. Since December, 1899, I have been in various departments of the General Electric Company at Lynn, Schenectady, and San Francisco. I am member of the Harvard clubs of New York and San Francisco, associate member American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

ARTHUR HENRY LONGFELLOW. I studied law at Columbia, receiving LL.B. degree in 1898: and was admitted to New York bar in October, 1897. Have been member of firm of Lee, Longfellow & Foster since September, 1898; offices at 141 Broadway, New York City. I belong to the Harvard Club, New York. On April 17, 1903, I was married to Blanche Osbourne Cram, daughter of Henry Osbourne and Frances Bibber Cram.

FREDERIC REEVES LORING. Since I left Cambridge in 1896 I have been a teacher in the Pottstown High School, Pottstown, Pennsylvania. I return every summer for a two months' vacation on the shore of Massachusetts Bay, combining with the much hard work in my profession the pleasures of out-door life, both in the fertile hill country of the Schuylkill valley and on our historic South Shore. The years have been busy and pleasant, though uneventful.

THORNTON KIRKLAND LOTHROP, JR. I was admitted to the Suffolk County bar in 1898, and for several years practiced law with the firm of Lowell, Smith & Lowell. Since my last report I have ceased to be connected with this firm, although I continue to occupy the same office as before, now sharing it with the Frost (Samuel T.) that the members of the firm gave me at parting. They often give me the glad hand still, and occasionally a case or two, but I am afraid they sized me up correctly some time ago as a student with a champagne appetite for facts and a small beer digestion for the law. Nevertheless my time passes merrily away, occasionally eating my peck of dirt in a real estate transaction, sometimes making my professional brethren eat theirs, and getting an injunction out to prevent their eating mine. The rest of my time has been filled with shirking, loafing, travelling, yachting, bathing, eating, and sleeping, like most men, whether Harvard graduates or others equally wise. As to countries I have visited, I have been in London; Paris during the Bloody Monday Rush, known as "Mi-Carême"; Madrid during two bull fights and a socialist rising; Chicago on a Saturday night; and Georgia in the "no fence" country, but I still think "Old Cambridge" the best spot on earth.

FREDERICK McKENDRIE LOWE. I was instructor at Shattuck School, Faribault, Minnesota, until 1899; student "Courses in Medicine," University of Chicago, 1899–1901, receiving degree of M.D., Rush Medical College, Chicago, 1903. I am at present interne, Milwaukee Hospital, Milwaukee, Wisconsin. I belong to the following clubs: Delta Upsilon Fraternity, University of Chicago; Phi Rho Sigma Fraternity (Medical), University of Chicago; Alpha Omega Alpha Fraternity, Senior Society, Rush Medical College; Royal Arch Mason; and chairman Student Council, Rush Medical College, 1903.

FREDERICK ELDRIDGE LOWELL. The first year after leaving college I was a clerk in the State Street Trust Company, Boston. The next year was in the South, studying cotton. From 1897 to 1899 was with Howel Cotton Company, cotton brokers, Boston. In the autumn of 1899 was with Planters Compress Company, and from then until July, 1904, I was in Robert H. Gardiner's office, Boston. In July, 1904, I opened an office of my own at 18 Tremont Street, Boston, for the care of property and administration of trust estates. Married, April 30, 1903, Isabel P. Shaw, daughter of George R. and Emily Mott Shaw. I have one daughter, Mariana, born in Boston, May 28, 1904.

HENRY EASTMAN LOWER. I was with Helman-Taylor Company and Burrows Bros. Publishing Company, Cleveland, Ohio, until May, 1900. Since then I have been at the Library of Congress, Washington, District of Columbia.

DANIEL EDGAR LYNCH. Studied law at Albany, New York, until January, 1898. Since then I have been practicing law at 346 Broadway, New York City. I married, June 4, 1902, at Brooklyn, New York, Josephine M. Blanchfield, daughter of William and Ellen T. Blanchfield.

PETER STEPHENS McADAMS. I was graduated from the Harvard Medical School in 1899, and then went to Vienna, where I remained thirteen months, engaged in special study of the eye under Professor Fuchs. After leaving Vienna I made a tour of Europe, returning to Boston at the end of 1900. I am now located at 1075 Boylston Street, Boston, practicing opthalmology.

JERE JOSEPH McCARTHY. Studied at the Harvard Law School, receiving LL.B. degree in 1898. Since 1897 have been practicing law in Boston; office 10 Tremont Street.

(This was published in the second report. The secretary has received no reply to his requests for information for this report.)

WILLIAM JOSEPH McDONALD. Since graduation from the Harvard Medical School in 1899 I have been practicing medicine at 116 Main Street, Charlestown. I am a member of the Harvard Medical School Alumni, the Massachusetts Medical Society, and the American Medical Association.

WILLIAM EDWARD McELFRESH. After graduation I continued work as graduate student and (from 1896) assistant in the physics department of Harvard College until February, 1902. At that time I removed to Williams College as instructor in physics, and have served in this institution ever since, with rank of assistant professor since 1903. I was married, June 25, 1903, to Georgiana Frances Adams, daughter of George Z. and Joanna F. Adams. I am a member of the American Physical Society, and the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

FELIX FRANCIS McGIRR. After graduation I studied medicine at Harvard Medical School, receiving M.D. degree in 1899. I was house officer at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Boston, till July 1, 1900. Since the first of October, 1900, I have been practicing medicine in Cambridge. Belong to Boylston Medical Society, Massachusetts Medical Society, Cambridge Medical Improvement Society, and Dwight Club. For the past two years I have been physician to the Cambridge Diphtheria Hospital.

JOHN FRANCIS McGRATH. Am an attorney-at-law, 145 Main Street, Fitchburg.

EDMUND OTTO von MACH. For two years I studied at the Harvard Graduate School, receiving A.M. degree in 1896. Spent the year 1897–98 travelling in France, Germany, Greece, Italy, Russia, Turkey, Persia, and India. The next year I studied at the Harvard Graduate School. Since September, 1899, have been instructor in History of Greek Art at Harvard and instructor in History of Sculpture at Wellesley College. Received Ph.D. degree from Harvard in 1900. Have published "Sculpture, Greek and Roman," in Progress, No. 4, Chicago, January, 1901; "Greek Sculpture, Its Spirit and Principle"; "Handbook of Greek and Roman Sculpture." Edited: "University Prints," a collection of five hundred reproductions of Greek and Roman sculpture. On June 23, 1903, I was married to Mary Ware Peirce, daughter of Joseph Dexter and Martha Peirce. I belong to the Cambridge Folk Lore Society, Copley Society of Boston, Portland Camera Club, and several Harvard clubs.

JOHN MACK. For two years I was assistant editor of the Youth's Companion. Now I am practicing law at 6 Beacon Street, Boston.

JAMES MEDBERY MacKAYE. I am still with Stone & Webster, Boston. Since the last report nothing of interest has occurred to me.

JOHN SHERWOOD McLUCAS. From February, 1896, to the present have been assistant professor of English at Clemson Agricultural College, South Carolina, with the exception of the year 1898–99. That year had leave of absence and studied at Harvard Graduate School, receiving A.M. degree in June, 1899.

SEWARD BAILEY McNEAR. Since our last report there has been no marked change in my work or life. I am still president of the Port Costa Milling Co. This company operates flour mills of twenty-five hundred barrels' capacity, does a local business throughout California and an export business to the Orient and Europe. We have a branch office and mill at Los Angeles, and operate a line of warehouses in the Imperial Valley, under the name of The Desert Grain Company. I was married, December 5, 1895, to Josephine Lee Barroll, and have two children: BARROLL (Class Baby), born October 7, 1896, and Amanda Maria, born March 12, 1900. There have been no additions to my family since the last report. BARROLL, the Class Baby, is now attending school — Hitchcock's Military Academy at San Rafael. I belong to various social clubs, namely, Pacific Union, University, and Lagunitas Country clubs.

EAMES MacVEAGH. Ever since leaving college I have lived in Chicago. I worked in my father's wholesale grocery business, known as Franklin MacVeagh & Co.; am now a member of that firm. I usually pass my vacations at Dublin, New Hampshire. Spent the winter of 1896 in Rome, where my uncle, Wayne MacVeagh, was United States Ambassador. From July, 1900, to May, 1901, I travelled round the world, and in February, 1904, I made a cruise of the Mediterranean. I am a duffer at every form of sport, and as I have been unlucky in love about four thousand times, I am not married, and I have never done anything to distinguish myself. I belong in Chicago to the Chicago Club, the Chicago Athletic Association, the Caxton Club, the University Club, the Harvard Club, and two country clubs; and elsewhere to the Harvard Club of Keene, New Hampshire; the Society of the Cincinnati, the Society of Colonial Wars, and the Sons of the American Revolution.

WINTHROP LAIGHTON MALOON. In 1895–96 I made a voyage to River Platte and Buenos Ayres in a sailing vessel, and then went into business. I served two months as a private in First Volunteer Cavalry, stationed at San Antonio and Tampa. Since the last report I have been in Boston almost continually; for the last two years in mill supply business.

ALBERT MANN. Worked in shops of the Western Electric Company in Chicago, Claussen & Bonwell in St. Paul, Minnesota, and Two Rivers Manufacturing Company, Two Rivers, Wisconsin. In 1896 opened an office in Buffalo for electrical construction work. In the spring of 1902 sold the electrical construction business in Buffalo and accepted a position with John A. Roebling's Sons Co. of New York, as their New England agent, with headquarters at 10 Post Office Square, Boston. I was married to Helen Lacy Baker, daughter of Howard H. and Annie E. Allen Baker, October 1, 1902, at Buffalo, New York, and am now living at 45 Sewall Street, West Newton, Massachusetts.

SAMUEL VERNON MANN, JR. I have been in business in New York City as a note broker since May, 1896, first with F. S. Smithers & Company, since then with my father, S. Vernon Mann, office at 38 Wall Street. I was married, April 11, 1899, to Helen Wagstaff Colgate. My eldest son, Samuel Vernon, 3d, was born August 16, 1900. The only change of importance in my affairs since the last report is the birth of two sons: Robert Colgate Vernon, born September 10, 1901, and Lloyd Onderdonk Vernon, born September 8, 1902. I have been very busy for the last five years and unable to get away from New York, and the only connection I have had with politics is that I have been, for the last two municipal campaigns, on the Citizens' Union Committee of our district. I belong to the Harvard Club of New York and to the Sons of the Revolution.

ROBERT LIVERMORE MANNING. Have continued the practice of law in Manchester, New Hampshire, as a partner, since 1902, in the firm of Burnham, Brown, Jones & Warren. I was married to Frances F. Sawyer, October 23, 1900, and have a daughter, Margaret Hoyt, born September 23, 1903. Have taken an interest in politics, and held several local offices. Am connected with various local clubs, political, athletic, and social, and am a member of the Massachusetts Commandery, Military Order of the Loyal Legion.

WILLIAM AUDLEY MARSHALL. "Working for the same corporation, at the same job, for more money" (Massachusetts Mills in Georgia).

GEORGE ADAMS MARTIN. From 1896 to 1900 I was engaged in mining in California, and then I went into the banking business in San Francisco. At present I am secretary and treasurer of the Arizona Warehouse Company, doing business in San Francisco. Married, September 12, 1900, Clara Florence Hamilton, and have a child, Florence, born January 22, 1902.

DANIEL GREGORY MASON. Since the last class report I have published "From Grieg to Brahms," a volume of musical essays, The Outlook Company, 1902; and "Beethoven and His Forerunners," The Macmillan Company, 1904. Since January, 1903, I have been editor of Masters in Music, a monthly magazine published by the Bates & Guild Co., Boston, the idea of which came, by the way, from our classmate Winthrop Ames. I have been lecturer on music in the New School of Methods in Public School Music in Boston and in the New York City Normal College. As lecturer in the university extension department of Columbia University I have given this winter (1904–5) some "popular" free lectures under the auspices of the Board of Education of New York City. The only important event in my private life since the last report is my marriage, on October 8, 1904, to my former sister-in-law, Mrs. Mary Lord Mason, born Mary Lord Taintor, daughter of Joseph Lord and Elizabeth Comstock Taintor. Aside from my "Elegy" for pianoforte, in memory of P. H. Savage, Harvard, '93, mentioned in the last report, I have published no musical compositions. My belief is that American musicians to-day must devote at least a part of their energy and time, and, if they are financially dependent upon public favor, a large part, to the gradual cultivation and refining of public taste for music. Until we have an intelligent public interest in the art at the back of artists we cannot expect great results from them. In the present crude state of taste it is therefore obviously the duty of all who care for art to do what is in them to foster better things. I should like to think that Harvard bore her part in this work. In past generations Harvard has stood for the best traditions and ideals of American intellectual life, and if she is to continue to hold her position her young graduates must endeavor to meet conditions as they are, while always working towards the higher ideals which the Harvard spirit has helped to make real to them. The Harvard spirit is a curious thing. One cannot really understand it, I think, so long as one stays in Cambridge. There it is too much overlaid and hidden by the frivolity of undergraduates and the pedantry of the scholastic graduate class. But when one comes to a city like New York he realizes how Harvard stands for loyalty to artistic and spiritual ideals in a country necessarily chiefly occupied with material progress.

VALENTINE HORTON MAY. I entered the employ of the Wisconsin Central Lines, at Milwaukee, Wisconsin, immediately after graduation. On January 1, 1899, I was made assistant tax commissioner, and since August 1, 1903, I have been assistant land and industrial commissioner of the Wisconsin Central Railway.

JOHN HANSON MEADER. My occupation — the manufacture of hats — has continued the same as before. I am secretary of the Guyer Hat Co., and have also become superintendent of the factory. Married, April 18, 1900, Nelle Helene Wooton. One child has been added to our family, John Stuart, born November 13, 1902. I have done little travelling in the past few years, except a few short trips into the middle West and South, chiefly for pleasure.

EDWARD MELLUS. I studied medicine in Boston, 1895–98, when I enlisted as private in Hospital Corps, U. S. A., at Boston. I was sent to Washington, District of Columbia, then to Port Tampa, Florida. In June I went with Shafter's expedition to Siboney, Cuba, and was detailed as acting hospital steward, July 15, at Yellow Fever Hospital. Sailed for Montauk August 25, 1898. Later I was stationed at Winthrop in charge of Post Hospital, and was discharged February 20, 1899. Practiced medicine in Worcester until 1900. From 1900 to 1904 I was assistant physician at the Massachusetts Hospital for Dipsomaniacs and Inebriates, at Foxboro. Since then I have been assistant physician at the Worcester Insane Hospital, Worcester, Massachusetts. I received my M.D. degree from Harvard in 1903.

EDWIN GODFREY MERRILL. Early in 1903, after carrying on the banking business of Merrill & Co. for about two years, I incorporated the business, under a special charter from the Maine Legislature, as the "Merrill Trust Company," with a view to enlarging its scope in many ways. The new company began business in June, 1903, and I have been president of the company since its foundation. With other college men in Bangor, I became interested last year in organizing a "Citizens' League," modeled after similar organizations in other cities. In spite of the size of the community, a surprisingly fruitful field of work has developed; the League is now engaged in a fight for absolutely pure water, as well as for comparatively pure politics, and it seems to be steadily gaining in membership and in influence. My literary activities have been confined to newspaper letters on local affairs, and to pamphlets incidental to modern bank advertising. My marriage to Adelaide Isabel Katte, January 21, 1902, was recorded in a previous report. I have two small sons: Edwin Katte Merrill, aged a little more than two years, and Dudley Merrill, aged a little more than one year. I belong to several local clubs, to the Harvard Union of Cambridge, and to the Harvard Club and the University Club of New York City.

FRANK WHITE MERRIMAN. Since 1896 I have been a member of the firm of Merriman Bros., manufacturers of tackle blocks, 162 Commercial Street, Boston.

DWIGHT DANA MILLER. I am still employed as salesman by The Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company, in the New York office, having come there from the works at East Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, in June, 1899. For the past three years I have had charge of the northern New Jersey territory, which includes New Jersey north of Newark and Trenton to the state line of Pennsylvania. About a year ago all the coal-carrying roads entering New York City through New Jersey were also put in my charge, which greatly enlarged the territory under my supervision and necessitated longer and more frequent trips. While handling this territory, as I found it almost essential to make my residence in New Jersey, in the fall of 1901 we moved to Upper Montclair, where we lived for two years. It was here, at 4 Inwood Place, that my little girl, Barbara Channing, was born, January 16, 1902. In November, 1904, I was transferred from the New Jersey territory and put in charge of developing the electric drive for printing establishments in New York City and immediate vicinity, on which work I am now employed. I find it much more agreeable, as it does away with all travelling. I am a charter member of the Harvard Club of New Jersey, a member of the New York Electric Society, and an associate member of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

CHARLES HENRY MILLS. January 1, 1899, I entered the office of F. S. Moseley & Co., note brokers, Boston. In November, 1900, I took charge of their New York office, and have continued to reside in New York. Was admitted to the firm on January 1, 1902. Belong to Union Club, Boston; Racquet and Tennis Club; Harvard Club of New York; and Ardsley Club, Ardsley-on-the-Hudson.

CHARLES WILSON MILLS. After teaching for a year in the Decatur (Illinois) High School I formed, with W. E. Clark, '95, the firm of Clark & Mills, electricians, Cambridge and Boston. January 1, 1903, Clark & Mills incorporated under the name of the Clark & Mills Electric Co., continuing the business of electric wiring and all kinds of electric construction. My name appears as the vice-president of this corporation, and a new member, Arthur D. Perry, of Boston, as treasurer. Business is in a prosperous condition. Offices are located in Cambridge, Boston, and Manchester-by-the-Sea. Since my last report I have been married, being joined by the Rev. Samuel Crothers of Cambridge, May 21, 1902, to Florence Naomi McNeil, daughter of Edmund Johnson and Mary Naomi McNeil, of Cambridge, formerly of Nova Scotia. June 19, 1903, a daughter, Alice Elizabeth, was born to us. I am still, as always, studiously and domestically inclined, and am seldom away from home except in pursuit of the duties of my regular vocation. Have recently, however, joined the Arlington Boat Club, and am interested in bowling and other seasonable recreations possible there.

GEORGE THOMAS MOORE. I have been continuously engaged in botanic work — chiefly cryptogamic. Since the last report I have been made director of the Laboratory of Plant Physiology, United States Department of Agriculture. As the result of investigations carried on in this laboratory, I have discovered a practical means of growing and distributing certain nitrogen-fixing bacteria which, by being added to the soil, enable some plants to dispense with nitrogenous fertilizer. A popular account of this work appeared in The Century Magazine for October, 1904, and a technical discussion of the subject, with reports from farmers all over the country, is published in Bulletin No. 71, Bureau of Plant Industry, Department of Agriculture. Investigations have also been carried on in my laboratory, resulting in the discovery of a cheap, efficient, and harmless method of preventing the bad odors and tastes in water supplies, — for which no adequate remedy had previously existed. The application of the method to the destruction of typhoid, cholera, and similar disease germs promises to be of great importance. This work is also described in The Century for December, 1904, and the original announcement was in Bulletin No. 64, Bureau of Plant Industry. Have written numerous short scientific articles describing these and other work. Am one of the American editors of the Botanisches Centralblatt, and one of the botanical revisers for the Century Dictionary. Have visited Holland, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Russia, Germany, Austria, Belgium, France, and England since last report. Spent some weeks in St. Petersburg in the Laboratory for Experimental Medicine. Married, December 30, 1896, Emma L. Hall of Indianapolis, and have one daughter, Harriet Hall, born September 21, 1904. Am now member of Botanical Society of America, American Bacteriological Society; am past president of Society for Plant Morphology and Physiology, Botanical Society of Washington, Cosmos Club, American Association for Advancement of Science, Society of Plant Morphology and Physiology, New England Botanical Club, Vermont Botanical Club, and the Phi Gamma Delta Fraternity.

JAMES HARVEY MOORE. Am a chemist with the Solvay Process Company, Syracuse, New York.

(This was published in the second report. Letters sent to his last address are now returned.)

CHARLES JOHN MORRISON. I received LL.B. degree from Harvard in 1897, and began practicing law in Milwaukee; but I have been in Chicago since 1899, and am practicing at 1406 Tribune Building. I belong to the Quadrangle Club and the Chicago Athletic Association.

ROBERT THOMAS WOODWARD MOSS. Present address unknown.

ERNEST AUGUSTUS MOTT-SMITH. I have lived in Honolulu, Territory of Hawaii, since graduation. Studied law with Gen. Alfred S. Hartwell, September 1, 1896, to October 1, 1897; with Kinney & Ballou, October 1, 1897, to July, 1898; and was admitted to the bar of the Supreme Court of the Republic of Hawaii, March 4, 1898; appointed a Commissioner of Immigration, July, 1898; appointed Minister of Foreign Affairs, ex-officio Minister of Public Instruction, March 29, 1899; appointed a Commissioner of Public Instruction under the Territory of Hawaii, June 14, 1900; resumed the practice of law, interrupted by appointment of March 29, 1899, upon the expiration of the office, on June 14, 1900, and I am now engaged in following that occupation. I am president of the American Sugar Company, Ltd., and vice-president of the Pacific Sugar Mill Company of Hawaii. I am a member of the University Club of Honolulu, and trustee under the will of W. C. Lunalilo, deceased, King of Hawaii. I married, August 17, 1896, Annie Elizabeth Paty. Have four sons: Stanley, born August 19, 1897; Ernest C., born January 19, 1899; Robert Hartwell, born October 10, 1901; and Paul Herbert, born July 16, 1903.

LEONARD BOWDOIN MOULTON. I continued teaching in the Medford High School until June, 1904. In September of the same year I came to the Beverly High School, where I am one of the submasters and head of the department in English. I am also principal of the Evening School. I married, June 26, 1902, Nina R. Fowler, daughter of Fred N. and Lydia E. Fowler of Springfield, Massachusetts.

WILLIAM BROOKS MOULTON. Since 1896 I have been engaged in the practice of law at Chicago. Take an active part in politics, and was a delegate at the last Republican State Convention; also a member of the Committee on Resolutions which drafted the state platform of the Republican party. My interest in politics lies mainly in the furtherance of Civil Service Reform legislation. In this connection I am president of the Illinois Civil Service Association. Belong to the Hamilton Club, Chicago Legal Club, and the City Club of Chicago.

THOMAS PATRICK MULLINS. Since the last report my address has changed to 11 Chisholm Park, Roxbury.

GUY MURCHIE. For a year after graduation I travelled in Europe and Newfoundland. On returning I entered the Harvard Law School, where I received LL.B. degree in 1899. Since then I have been practicing law in Boston, being now associated with Wm. M. Butler. From May to September, 1898, I served as a private in Troop A, First United States Volunteer Cavalry, at Washington, Tampa, Cuban campaign, San Antonio, and Montauk. I was married, April 16, 1904, to Agnes Donald, daughter of Dr. Elijah Winchester and Cornelia Clapp Donald.

FREDERICK HAPGOOD NASH. In October, 1900, I accepted the position of assistant attorney-general of Massachusetts, which I still hold. I was married, June 26, 1899, to Mary Franz Rich. Have three children: Mary Elizabeth, born June 28, 1900; Edward Knowlton, born July 11, 1901; and Margaret Nash, born October 7, 1904.

HENRY PHILIP NELSON. I was in the insurance business at Nashville, Tennessee, until 1901; since then I have been with the Western Tube Company, Kewanee, Illinois. In July, 1904, I was appointed sales agent of the Western Tube Company, with my office at St. Louis. Married, January 5, 1897, Charlotte Ely. Have two children: Mary Charlotte, born March 7, 1900, and Margaret, born December 12, 1902. I have not much time for clubs or politics.

GEORGE SNOW TAFT NEWELL. Died January 20, 1902. See secretary's second report, page 83.

ALBERT HARDING NEWMAN. Immediately after college I went into the office of Kidder, Peabody & Co., Boston, remaining there two years and a half. Since February, 1898, I have been a member of the firm of Blodget, Merritt & Co., bankers, 16 Congress Street, Boston. I married, October 18, 1897, Jeanie Stevens Smith, and have two boys: Albert Lee, born December 9, 1898, and Harding Carruth, born August 20, 1903. I am a member of the Exchange and University clubs, Boston, and the Harvard Club of New York.

SIDNEY CARLETON NEWSOM. Taught English and Latin one year at High School, Houston, Texas, 1895–96, and five years at High School, Indianapolis, Indiana, 1896–1901. Sailed, May 23, 1901, for the Philippine Islands, and am at present division superintendent of schools, Philippine Islands, residing at Lingayen. Received A.M. degree from University of Chicago in 1899. Have published "Burke's Conciliation Speech," 1899, and "Selections, Shelley and Keats," 1900, Macmillan & Co. Married, June 24, 1898, Levona Hamlin Payne, daughter of Philander and Mary Payne.

(This was published in the second report. Letters sent to his last address are now returned.)

PHILIP NICHOLS. Graduated from the Harvard Law School, June, 1898. Since then I have been practicing law in Boston. In September, 1898, I was appointed assistant City Solicitor of Boston. This position, the name of which has been changed to assistant Corporation Counsel, I still hold. Belong to the Boston Athletic Association and the Puritan Club.

PHILO GATES NOON. Since graduation I have been a rover in pursuing my vocation — philanthropic work among the foreign people in the cities, especially among the children. For the last five years I have been in public school work in Newark, New Jersey. I am now vice-principal of a grammar school. Am a thorough believer in the oft-stated doctrine that the public school is the one great agency to Americanize the children of the immigrants. For that reason, I prefer the broader, though harder teaching of the elementary school to that of the high school or college, and prefer to teach in the poor and foreign quarters of the city rather than in the "kid-gloved" districts. I am a member of the National Educational Association. (Never did we Harvard men have occasion to feel prouder of President Eliot than in the Boston convention of 1903, when he impressed his personality upon the thirty-five thousand teachers that attended the convention.) I am also a member of the New York Educational Council, of the Harvard Club of New Jersey, and of the Masons (Northern Lodge, Newark). I was married to Nellie Olson, January 1, 1900.

LEWIS JOHNSON NORTON. I taught in Clark University, Atlanta, Georgia, and then in the Connecticut Literary Institution, Suffield, Connecticut. Left Suffield, December 28, 1902, to go to Pittsfield, Massachusetts, where I took charge of the packing and shipping in the D. M. Collins & Co. Woolen Knitting Mills. I was there a year and six months. From there I came to Newport, Rhode Island, as bookkeeper in the United States Navy Pay Office. It is a government position, secured through a civil service examination. Married, April 5, 1897, Jennie May Snow. I have three children: Harold Lewis, born May 5, 1898; Mary Snow, born December 19, 1899; and Theodore Roosevelt, born March 9, 1903.

CARLETON ELDREDGE NOYES. In the spring of 1904 I resigned my position as instructor in English in Harvard University, which I had held since 1899. At present am lecturing on English Literature for the University Extension Society of Philadelphia. In 1903 I published "The Enjoyment of Art," Houghton, Mifflin & Co., Boston. In the summer of 1903 spent four months in Europe. Belong to the Colonial Club, Cambridge; St. Botolph and Authors' clubs, Boston; Harvard Club, New York. Am trustee of North End Savings Bank of Boston.

WILLIAM BICKNELL NOYES. After six years' teaching, on April 22, 1901, I entered the service of the General Telephone Company. I left this company in September, 1902, to begin work for the Russell Car & Snow-Plow Company as secretary and treasurer. Moved to Ridgway, Pennsylvania, the first of October of the same year. April 1, 1904, took up the work of secretary with the Ridgway Machine Tool Company, where I now am. In summer of 1904 I built a house at 514 Kearsarge Street, where we moved on the 6th of August, 1904, and where we still reside. I married, August 19, 1897, Susie Ethel Dow, and have a son, Russell Dow, born November 18, 1898.

WALTER BURLINGAME ODIORNE. I still live at 66 Beacon Street, Boston, associated in the practice of medicine with Dr. J. Collins Warren, '63. I have written several articles for medical journals, and in April, 1905, was appointed surgeon to out-patients at the Massachusetts General Hospital.

HARVEY OFFICER, JR. From September, 1895, to June, 1898, attended General Theological Seminary, New York City, receiving S.T.B. degree in 1899. From June, 1898, to August, 1899, was in charge of St. Philip's (Episcopal) Mission (colored), at St. Paul, Minnesota. Ordained deacon, June 5, 1898; priest, December 17, 1898. From August, 1899, to September, 1900, was priest in charge of St. Paul's Church, St. Paul, Minnesota. Travelled abroad for three months in the fall of 1900, and on January 17, 1901, was received as a novice of the Order of Holy Cross, Westminster, Maryland. This is a religious order of the Episcopal Church. Left novitiate of the Order of Holy Cross in July, 1902. In October, 1902, went to Princeton, New Jersey, as curate at Trinity (Episcopal) Church, to work especially among Episcopalian students in Princeton University.

RAPHAEL DORMAN O'LEARY. Since graduation I have been teaching English literature at the University of Kansas. Since September, 1901, I have been associate professor of English in this university. In 1902 I helped to establish an alumni periodical known as the Graduate Magazine of the University of Kansas. I have been one of the managers in charge of this periodical from the beginning, and have done a large part of the editorial work on it, and have written most of its editorials. I was married, August 19, 1896, to Mathilde Augusta Henricks, and have two children: Dorman Henricks, born June 23, 1897, and Paul Martin, born November 29, 1901.

ALFRED JAMES OSTHEIMER. Owing to various circumstances I gave up the practice of medicine in 1902 and entered the employ of Ostheimer Brothers, export and import commission merchants of Philadelphia, New York, and Paris. I was admitted to partnership in the firm in 1904, after the death of my father. I have been abroad three times since the last report, visiting Paris and Berlin. I belong to the University Club of Philadelphia, Huntingdon Valley Country Club of Noble, Pennsylvania, and the Harvard Club of New York and Philadelphia. Since graduation the following degrees have been conferred upon me: M.D., 1898, University of Pennsylvania; L.R.C.P., 1900, London; M.R.C.S., 1900, London.

EDWARD SAMUEL PAGE. In 1897 I received LL.B. degree from Harvard, and began practicing law in Boston. The partnership of Wellington & Page, in which I am now practicing, was formed January 1, 1901, with offices at 845 Tremont Building. I was married, June 22, 1898, to Susie May Flint. Have three daughters: Dorothy, born March 19, 1899; Frances Hibbard, born September 16, 1901; and Priscilla Pyncheon, born June 26, 1904.

CHAUNCEY DAVID PARKER. I am still a member of the firm of Jose, Parker & Co., bankers, 78 Devonshire Street, Boston, with whom I associated myself on my return from Europe in 1896. Have been abroad once since then, in 1902, when I spent three months in Europe. I am a member of the Brookline Country Club, the Oakley Country Club, the University Club, and the Longwood Cricket Club. Am still free from all encumbrances matrimonially.

TORRANCE PARKER. Admitted to the bar in Boston, 1896. Am member of the firm of Southard & Parker, attorneys at law, 18 Tremont Street, Boston. Married, October 22, 1896, Jessie Southard. Have two children: Katherine, born October 10, 1901, and Torrance, Jr., born November 2, 1904.

WILLIAM SAMUEL PATTEN. I was in the insurance business in Boston from August, 1895, to March, 1901, when I entered the firm of Holbrook, Cabot & Daly, engineers and contractors, Boston. The firm of Holbrook, Cabot & Daly is now incorporated Holbrook, Cabot & Rollins Corp., of which I am secretary and treasurer. We have built foundations for the new East Cambridge bridge, and have now begun work on the Charles River dam. I was married, June 16, 1904, to Anna Morton Thayer, daughter of Nathaniel and Cornelia Street Barroll Thayer. I have a daughter, Anna Thayer, born March 29, 1905. Am a member of Light Battery A, M.V.M., and divide my time as reasonably as possible between that organization, my business, and farming.

ALBERT MANSFIELD PATTERSON. Since graduation I have been a woolen manufacturer at Waterloo, New York, and commission merchant at 377 Broadway, New York. I belong to the Union, University, and Merchants' clubs, all of New York.

WILLIAM RODMAN PEABODY. Was at the Harvard Law School three years, receiving LL.B. degree in 1898; the next two years was in the law office of Lincoln & Badger, Boston. I then entered the law firm of Weston-Smith & Walcott, 70 State Street, Boston, where I now am. My home is in Cambridge. I have been for four years one of the teaching force at the Harvard Law School — two years as an instructor and two years as lecturer on criminal law.

I am now serving my second term as a member of the Massachusetts House of Representatives.

CHAUNCY RUSCH PERRY. Immediately after leaving college I was employed by the Boston Transit Commission as assistant engineer on the design for the steel framework for the Boston subway. Leaving that position in May, 1898, I entered the office of J. R. Worcester, consulting engineer. While with him I was engaged in the design of portions of the Boston Elevated Railway and other structural work. Since May, 1901, have been connected with the engineering department of the Boston Bridge Works, being next under the chief engineer in this department and having charge of designs made during his absence. During this time I have also done some consulting engineering work, but this to quite a limited extent. I married, June 21, 1896, Helen Mabel Tuttle. I have three children: John Tuttle, born August 26, 1897; Helen Margaret, born November 4, 1898; and Chauncy Valentine, born August 6, 1900.

EDWARD LUTHER PERRY. During the past five years I have continued the practice of medicine in St. Louis, and am gradually specializing in diseases of the lungs and air passages. I have been a member of the St. Louis Homœopathic Medical Society since 1901, and in 1902 was its secretary. I have been instructor in pathology in the Homœopathic Medical College of Missouri for the past four years, and on the attending staff of the Christian Hospital and the Mothers' and Babies' Home for the same length of time. Have given some attention to militia work, and am now gun corporal in Light Battery A of Missouri; also a member of the Missouri Athletic Club. I was married, June 17, 1897, to Jemima Pauline Holman. I have three children: Edward Luther Holman, born April 21, 1898; Jemima Pauline, born December 15, 1899; and Baker Holman, born June 12, 1901.

ANDREW JAMES PETERS. Since receiving LL.B. degree in 1898 from Harvard I have practiced law in Boston, first with Gaston & Snow, and then with Warren & Garfield, 60 State Street, Boston. Travelled in England and France three months in summer of 1895 and again in summer of 1899. In 1902 was made a partner in the firm of Warren & Garfield, with which firm I am practicing law at the present time. Was elected a member of the Massachusetts Legislature for 1902, representing one of the wards of Boston. In 1904 and in 1905 I was elected to the State Senate, representing certain wards of Boston. Am a Democrat. I belong to the Tennis and Racquet and Country clubs.

MORRISON PETTUS. Residence and occupation since leaving college, " Burlington Route."

(This was published in the second report. The secretary has received no reply to his requests for information for this report.)

PHILIP DEWITT PHAIR. I studied in the Harvard Graduate School 1895–97, receiving A.M. degree in June, 1896. From 1897–99 I was instructor in political science at Trinity College, Hartford, Connecticut. Since 1899 I have been chief assistant in the Division of Documents and Statistics, Library of Congress, Washington, District of Columbia. I was married, January 2, 1905, to Bertha McIntyre, daughter of Hugh F. and Matilda Smith McIntyre, at St. John's Church, Presque Isle, Maine.

JAMES PETER PHELAN, 2d. Am shoe manufacturer at Lynn, James Phelan & Sons. Married, November 21, 1900, Helen C. Dempsey, daughter of Patrick and Margaret D. Dempsey.

(This was published in the second report. The secretary has received no reply to his requests for information for this report.)

STEPHEN WILLARD PHILLIPS. After graduation from the Harvard Law School in 1898 I began practicing law in Boston. Married, June 15, 1899, Anna Pingree Wheatland. Since the last report I have lived quietly at my home in Salem, Massachusetts, generally passing my summers near by, at Topsfield. My law office is in the Delta Building, 10 Post Office Square, Boston. I have interested myself a good deal in local politics, and have served two years in the Salem City Council, and am now a member of the Massachusetts House of Representatives, as a Republican, from the 17th Essex district. My avocation is research and study into the local history and traditions in which Salem is so rich. I am a director of the Essex Institute, and much interested in its historical and antiquarian work, and have done some slight editorial work in their publications. I am an officer in several of our charities. My favorite recreation is a camping trip in Maine each year. I also travel a good deal for pleasure, and have made short trips to Europe.

ARTHUR STANWOOD PIER. In January, 1896, I joined the staff of the Youth's Companion, and have been engaged in editorial work on that publication since. Have written, since last report, "The Triumph," 1903, published by McClure, Phillips & Co., New York; and "Boys of St. Timothy's," 1904, published by Charles Scribner's Sons, New York. Am a member of the Longwood Cricket Club and the Tavern Club.

CHARLES SUMNER PIERCE. I continued in private practice of law in Boston, after receiving Harvard LL.B. in 1900, until 1904, when I became assistant solicitor of Boston & Maine Railroad. I was a representative in Massachusetts General Court from the towns of Milton and Canton in 1904 and 1905, and have been director of the Blue Hill National Bank (Milton) since January 1, 1904.

HORACE DAVIS PILLSBURY. I am still practicing law in San Francisco, California, being a member of the firm of Pillsbury, Madison & Sutro. Most of my time is devoted to corporation practice. I was married, May 4, 1898, to Elizabeth Taylor, and have two children: Olivia, born March 27, 1899, and Evans Searle, 2d, born September 26, 1903. Belong to University Club, Harvard Club, Burlingame Country Club, and San Francisco Golf and Country Club.

RALPH SHAW PITTS. My address is East Side High School, Denver, Colorado. I was married, November 28, 1895, to Inez Eugenie MacCallum, and have had three children: Ralph Eugene, who died December 1, 1897; and twins, Inez Magnolia and Rolf MacCallum, born October 28, 1899.

EUGENE HILLHOUSE POOL. From 1895 to 1899 I was at Columbia College, where I received M.D. degree. After travelling abroad for six months, I entered the New York Hospital as an interne. Since completing my service there I have been practicing medicine in New York City. My present address is 57 West 45th Street. Married, April 30, 1904, Esther Phillips Hoppin at New York City.

FRANKLIN OSBORNE POOLE. Since graduation I have been engaged in library work: October, 1895, to August, 1896, at the Amherst College Library; October, 1896, to March, 1902, Boston Athenæum Library. In March, 1902, was made first assistant librarian of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, and have been acting librarian thereof for two years. Was assistant editor of the Third Supplement to "Poole's Index to Periodical Literature"; compiled the Index to "A Catalogue of the Washington Collection in the Boston Athenæum"; and had charge of the publication of "The Literature of American History." Belong to the American Library Association, the Massachusetts Library Club (of which I was secretary in 1899–1901), the New York Library Club, and the Harvard Club of the city of New York. Was married, September 25, 1901, to Helen Bigelow Kendall, daughter of Charles B. and Anna Gertrude Pike Kendall. Have two sons: Franklin Osborne, Jr., born February 1, 1903, and Thornton Brodhead, born July 12, 1904.

JAMES FOSTER PORTER. Entered Graduate School at Harvard in September, 1895, and received A.M. degree in June, 1896. Travelled and studied during the following year. Spent a year at the Architectural School of the Art Institute, Chicago, and then a year at Columbia College. Since May, 1899, I have been in architects' offices in Chicago. Married, June 16, 1898, Ruth Wadsworth Furness. I have three children: Nancy Foster, born January 5, 1900; Eliot Furness, born December 6, 1901; and Edmund Clark, born February 8, 1904. Am trustee of the Foster Humane Fund and of the Maurice Potter Memorial Hospital for Children. Belong to the Harvard Club of Chicago, University Club, and the Skokie Country Club.

CHARLES ANTHONY POTH. After graduation I studied law at Harvard, receiving LL.B. degree in 1897. I was admitted to the bar in Allegheny County, Pennsylvania, December, 1897, and have been practicing in Pittsburg since that date.

ALEXANDER CARLETON POTTER. In 1899 I was graduated from the Harvard Medical School, and during the following year I was an interne in the Massachusetts General Hospital. Since last report I have continued the practice of medicine, with an office at 186 Commonwealth Avenue, Boston. My specialty is surgery. For past three years I have been assistant to Dr. W. M. Conant. In March, 1903, I received the appointment to St. Elizabeth's Hospital as out-patient surgeon. I am also alternate examiner in the National Life Insurance Company. I belong to the following clubs: University, Boston Athletic Association, Brookline Country Club, Oakley Country Club, Massachusetts Medical Society, and Boston Society of Medical Sciences.

AUSTIN POTTER. After graduation I attended the Harvard Law School for three years. Was admitted to the Massachusetts bar in October, 1898, and began practicing law with the firm of Gaston, Snow & Saltonstall. In the autumn of 1899 I entered the partnership of Raymond, Potter & Westengard, attorneys, with offices at 62 Devonshire Street, Boston. This partnership was dissolved in the spring of 1904, and since then I have been in the general practice of the law, with an office at 62 Devonshire Street, Boston. Since graduation, during summer vacations, I have visited England, Ireland, France, Belgium, Germany, and Holland. I belong to the Tennis and Racquet Club of Boston; the Country Club, Brookline; and the Racquet and Tennis Club of New York City.

MURRAY ANTHONY POTTER. During the first year after leaving college I was in business in California, returning to the Graduate School in 1896. I received A.M. degree in 1897, and Ph.D. in 1899. Since 1899 I have been teaching Romance languages, and since 1901 I have been an instructor in Harvard. The summer of 1902 I spent in California, and those of 1901, 1903, and 1904 in Europe. Have written "Sohrab and Rustem," published by Alfred Nutt, London. I married, April 17, 1900, Bessie Lincoln of Boston.

PLINIO da SILVA PRADO. Since January, 1896, have been managing coffee plantations and in the coffee business at Santos and S. Paulo, Brazil; first with Prado, Chaves & Company, then Prado & Oliveira. Married, April 7, 1896, Lucilla Pacheco e Chaves, daughter of Elias A. and Anezia P. Pacheco e Chaves. Have two children: Roberto da Silva, born April 15, 1897, and Plinio da Silva, Jr., born May 31, 1901.

(This was published in the second report. The secretary has received no reply to his requests for information for this report.)

JAMES STURGIS PRAY. In 1898, after pursuing, at Harvard, special studies leading to the profession of landscape architecture, I was graduated "as of 1895." During the next year I began work with Olmsted Brothers, landscape architects, Brookline, Massachusetts. In October, 1902, I was appointed assistant in landscape architecture in Harvard University, and on March 3, 1903, instructor, from September 1, 1903. In April, 1903, I gave up my position in the employ of Olmsted Brothers, and devoted to independent practice what time was not required for my Harvard work. By a special arrangement with my employers, I had long been devoting a regular portion of my time to my own business, which practically dates from December, 1900. In September, 1903, I opened my present office at 2A Park Street, Boston, and on January 1, 1905, I announced my partnership with Percival Gallagher, under the firm name of Pray & Gallagher; and, in accordance with what seemed to be a well established custom, I ventured to have copies of this announcement mailed to all my classmates. Our business is widely distributed, not merely over New England, but through the Middle and Southern States. While I find the strain of my twofold work — my business and my teaching — considerable, I know that each side contributes to the quality of the other. Since the last report I have held office in various organizations, largely professional, or at least related to my work; e. g., secretary, and afterwards chairman, Committee on Forestry and Roadside Improvement of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society from 1898 to 1903; Councillor of Improvements, Appalachian Mountain Club, 1902–04; and member of the Executive, Gypsy Moth, and Publication committees of the Massachusetts Forestry Association, and was for some years associate editor of its organ — Woodland and Roadside. I am a member of some twenty organizations, — professional, educational, and social, — including American Society of Landscape Architects, the Architectural League of New York, the American Scenic and Historic Preservation Society, the American Civic Association, the Cambridge Municipal Art Society, the International Society of Arboriculture, and the American, Canadian, New Hampshire, and Massachusetts Forestry Association. My marriage, October 30, 1901, to Florence Mabel Nichols, was recorded in the second report. My only son, Benjamin Sturgis, was born January 24, 1904.

HENRY WASHINGTON PRESCOTT. For three years I studied at the Harvard Graduate School. Since then I have been teaching Greek and Latin, 1898–99, at Trinity College, Hartford, Connecticut; 1899–1901, instructor at Harvard. In 1901 I was appointed instructor in Latin at University of California, and in 1904 appointed assistant professor of classical philology at the same university. I have published several papers on classical philology. Am a member of the American Philological Association.

WILFRED HORACE PRICE. I have taught in secondary schools continuously since graduation. In June, 1898, I was elected principal of the Wallis Grammar School, Peabody, Massachusetts, which position I held until September, 1902, when I resigned to accept the position of superintendent of schools of the Holliston, Medway, and Sherborn District. This district consists of about forty-five schools, including three high schools. I married, April 4, 1900, Emma Burleigh Chase. I belong to the Jordan Lodge of A. F. & A. M., Peabody; the Royal Arch Chapter, and the Knights Templars, Milford. I also belong to the Jasper Hill Golf Club, Holliston; and the Superintendents' Club, South Framingham. My present address is Holliston, Massachusetts.

BENJAMIN SIDNEY PRIEST. For several years after graduation I was in the retail lumber business in Waltham and Watertown, Massachusetts, but since January, 1904, I have been conducting a business in Boston — the manufacturing of Mosaic lamp shades, domes, and special lighting effects. I was married, April 10, 1900, to Mary Isabelle Temple, and have two children: Emily, born December 28, 1900, and George Temple, born November 25, 1902.

THOMAS EMERSON PROCTOR. I have continued making plantations of trees and shrubs at my place in Topsfield, Massachusetts, having now collected most of the commoner species under cultivation in New England. I belong to the Natural History Society of Boston, Massachusetts Horticultural Society, and the American Forestry Association.

JAMES PURDON. During the first year after graduation I was a special student in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. After that time I was in the offices of several Boston architects, and in February, 1902, I opened an office at 8 Beacon Street, Boston, for the practice of architecture. I have remained there ever since. I am a member of the Boston Society of Architects and Boston Architectural Club.

OSCAR QUICK. For several years after graduation I was instructor and assistant professor of physics at the University of Illinois. Since 1902 I have been an assistant examiner in the United States Patent Office, and have also been evening instructor in physics at the George Washington University, Washington, District of Columbia. I was married at Cambridge, March 12, 1904, to Carrie Morrison Brown, daughter of William and Rosannah Brown. I have a daughter, Marion Emma, born March 22, 1905. I belong to the following societies: Harvard Club of Washington, the Masonic order, i. e., A.O.O.

JOHN GORDAN QUIGLEY has not replied to the secretary's letters.

ROBERT LOVEJOY RAYMOND. For the first three years after college I was in the Harvard Law School, receiving LL.B. degree in 1898; then spent one year in the law office of Ropes, Gray & Loring, Boston; then became a member of the firm of Raymond, Potter & Westengard. I am now practicing law at 62 Devonshire Street, Boston. Married, April 13, 1901, Mary Minturn Higbee, and have one son, Robert L., Jr., born at Boston, January 29, 1902. Went on stump through Massachusetts for Republican party in presidential campaign of 1900. Belong to Light Battery A, M.V.M.

JOHN BERTRAM READ. Studied at the Harvard Law School for six months, then went into the office of William Read & Sons, Boston, where have been ever since. Married, October 21, 1897, Grace Mary Goodwin. Have three children: John Bertram, Jr., Eleanor Goodwin, and Richard Welsh. I belong to Longwood Cricket Club, Oakley Country Club, and Tiffin Club.

BROOKS REED. Since October, 1895, I have been with Walter Kimball & Company, Boston, importers of works of art of all kinds, such as pictures, pottery, etc. I was married, September 1, 1903, to May Isadore Sproul, daughter of Charles Frederick and Josephine Dupray Sproul.

WILLIAM HALE REED. After leaving college I spent two months in Europe, and then entered business with my father, as a reporter on his paper, the Taunton Daily Gazette. The business was incorporated in 1898 as Wm. Reed & Sons Co., and I became president of the corporation. November 1, 1900, I became managing editor of the paper, and still continue in that position. In 1896 I represented Ward 4 in the Taunton Common Council, and in 1900 the same ward in Board of Aldermen. Have been in music considerably — singing with the Harmonic and Orient male quartets; was for five years in the choir of the First Congregational (Unitarian) Church, and am now vice-president of the Taunton Choral Union. I was married, October 9, 1903, at Acushnet, Massachusetts, to Emma Belle Robinson, daughter of Thomas J. and Sarah Hall Robinson. Have a son, William Robinson Reed, born August 14, 1904. I am a member of the Taunton Winthrop Club, Bristol Club, Taunton Boat Club, Taunton Yacht Club, Segregansett Country Club; president of the Taunton Social Club, and am one of the directors of the Boston Investment Company.

LOUIS CLARK RENFRO. Since June, 1895, I have been employed by Jordan, Marsh & Company, Morris Simon, and A. Shuman & Company, all in Boston. I am still with

A. Shuman & Company. Received degree A.M. from Harvard in 1896.

CALE YOUNG RICE. In 1896 I took my A.M. at Harvard; in '96–'97 held the chair of English at Cumberland University; resigned it for the profession of poetry and poetic drama. Have published "From Dusk to Dusk" and "Song-Surf," two volumes of lyrics, the first of which is now out of print, and the second to be had of E. H. Bacon & Co., Boston. McClure, Phillips & Co., New York, have bought out my two poetic dramas, "Charles di Tocca" and "David"; "Yolanda," the third, will appear in the fall of 1905. If these books are not known to any one who is interested, or if they do not make themselves known in time, they are not worth knowing, so no more need be said of my profession. I was married, December 2, 1902, to Alice Caldwell Hegan, daughter of Samuel W. and Sallie P. Hegan. I have been to Europe and done or received various other things of which mention would be tedious to me if not to others.

GEORGE BURR RICHARDSON. I have continued my connection with the United States Geological Survey, spending the summers doing geologic field work in different parts of the country, and the winters preparing reports in Washington. The summer of 1902 was spent in northern California with J. S. Diller, '79, on the "Redding Quadrangle," and in 1903 six months were devoted to a reconnaissance in western Texas. I was married to Irene Dashiell, daughter of Thomas Rowan and Frances Howry Dashiell, at Birmingham, Alabama, June 23, 1904. The following summer was spent in the valleys of Utah Lake and the Jordan River, Utah. Since the last report was issued I have joined the Cosmos Club of Washington, District of Columbia. I have published, besides a few articles in scientific journals: "The Indiana Folio," Geologic Atlas of the United States, Folio Number 102, United States Geological Survey; and "Report of a Reconnaissance in Trans-Pecos Texas," Bulletin Number 9, University of Texas Mineral Survey.

HENRY HYSLOP RICHARDSON. After leaving college I was connected with the Boston Elevated Railway until the summer of 1902, when I entered the office of J. Murray Howe & Bradlee, real estate, 38 State Street, Boston, where I now am.

WILLIAM HOLDERMAN RIDDLE. Died January 23, 1897. See secretary's second report, page 98.

RALPH CURTIS RINGWALT. After graduation I spent three years teaching argumentation and English composition in Columbia. Then I returned to the Law School and took a degree in 1901. Since 1901 I have been practicing law in New York, but have devoted an increasing amount of time to writing and editing. I have published "Briefs for Debate" (1896), with Walter Brookings; "Modern American Oratory" (1898); and "Briefs on Public Questions" (1905). In 1901 I made a four months' trip in England and on the Continent. I am a member of the Harvard Club of New York and of the Players.

JOSEPH ROBBINS. Died October 15, 1897. See secretary's second report, page 99.

GEORGE WASHINGTON ROBINSON. I continued as assistant to the Dean of the Harvard Graduate School until September 1, 1904. I have been secretary of the Graduate School since that date. I was married, September 18, 1894, to Mary Bell Nickerson. I have four children: Weld Snell, born July 30, 1895; Edmund N., born July 17, 1898; Hilda Violet, born November 20, 1899; and Oliver Vincent, born November 9, 1901.

WILLIAM WALKER ROCKWELL. In August, 1904, I returned to this country, after being absent for four years as foreign fellow of the Andover Theological Seminary. Attended the lectures of Harnack, in Berlin, during the winter of 1901–02, and spent seven semesters at the University of Marburg studying church history under the direction of Mirbt. Here I received, in 1903, the degree of Licentiate of Theology, which, though not well known in America, the Germans rate a trifle higher than Ph.D. My book "Die Doppelehe des Landgrafen Philipp von Hessen," based on research in the archives at Weimar, Dresden, and Marburg, was published at Marburg in 1904. During the vacations I visited Paris, Switzerland, Italy, and England. Am instructor in history in Andover Theological Seminary, and a member of the Andover Golf Club and of the American Historical Association.

LOUIS JACOB ROESS. Studied at Harvard Law School 1895 to 1897, receiving LL.B. degree in 1898. Since then have been practicing law in Oil City, Pennsylvania. Belong to the Ivy, Golf, and Boat clubs of Oil City and to the Elks and Masons.

(This was published in the second report. The secretary has received no reply to his requests for information for this report.)

WILLIAM CHANDLER ROGERS. I prepared myself in Boston for the practice of law. During the Spanish War I served for seven months as a private and battery clerk in Light Battery A, Second United States Artillery. My law office is in the Carney Building, 43 Tremont Street, Boston.

ANTHONY ROSE. After leaving Harvard in the summer of 1896, I returned to California, where I have been teaching ever since. From August, 1896, to June, 1899, taught in the Etna Union High School, and since July, 1899, I have taught in the Centreville High School. I commenced teaching in secondary schools in August, 1896, but had taught two years in the grammar schools of California before entering Harvard. I left Centreville in January, 1902, to teach in the Grass Valley High School. Last September (1904) I resigned my position in Grass Valley to accept the principalship of the Cedarville High School. I belong to the Surprise Valley Teachers' Club and to the Pacific Coast Chemistry Teachers' Association. My marriage to Jessie Keist occurred October 22, 1899.

PIERRE la ROSE. I was in the English department, Harvard University, from 1895 until 1902, first as assistant, then as instructor. I resigned my instructorship in 1902.

HEDLEY VICARS ROSS. Since 1895 I have held positions as instructor in Alleghany Institute, Roanoke, Virginia, and Manhattan College, New York. From 1898 to 1900 I was a student in the graduate department at Cornell University, pursuing studies in English literature, Greek, and history. Graduated with the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, Cornell, 1900. Since then have taught in Weantinaug and Ingleside schools, New Milford, Connecticut, and for the last two years have been doing literary and journalistic work in New York City.

JOHN C ROWE. Was three years at Columbia Law School; graduated June, 1898, receiving degree LL.B. Have since practiced law at 44 Broad Street, New York City. I am member of Harlem Club, Harlem Republican Club, and president of the Central Republican Club of New York City.

ARTHUR JOSEPH RUSSELL. I am an architect at 8 Beacon Street, Boston, in the firm of Brainerd, Leeds & Russell. On April 29, 1897, I married Elizabeth Heard. Have two children: Eleanor Heard, born February 7, 1898, and Arthur Joseph, Jr., born December 11, 1903.

HENRY AUGUSTUS LOW SAND. Since my graduation from the Harvard Law School in 1898 I have practiced law in New York City. After over a year of ill-health, which obliged me to drop work for the time, and, finally, to spend the winter, 1901–02, at Nassau in the Bahamas, I opened an office on May 1, 1902, in the Mutual Life Building, 32 Liberty Street, New York, where I have since remained. I reside at Ardsley-on-the-Hudson, and have rooms at 60 Washington Square, New York. I am a member of the Ardsley, Graduates, and Harvard clubs, beside minor clubs and associations. I am unmarried, and have remained, since resuming practice, continuously in or near New York, and have so far refrained from literary or political activity.

JOSEPH SARGENT, JR. In 1898 I received LL.B. degree from Harvard Law School. After practicing with Nichols & Cobb, lawyers, in Boston for two years, I have practiced law alone. My office is now in the State Mutual Building, 50 Congress Street, Boston. Married, November 1, 1898, Constance Carryl. Have two children: Joseph, 3d, born October 17, 1900, and Constance Carryl, born October 25, 1904. I belong to the University Club of New York.

JAMES HERBERT SAWTELL. Since graduation I have been teaching in high schools in Kansas, and at present I am serving my third year as principal of Emporia High School. I belong to the Current Club, composed of the literary and professional men of this city. Its president is William Allen White. My life moves on like a "tail that is tolled."

ARTHUR BECKER SCHAFFNER. In 1898 I received LL.B. degree from the Harvard Law School, and since then I have been practicing law in Chicago. Since May, 1902, I have been a junior member of the firm of Newman, Northrup, Levinson & Becker, lawyers, at 823 Chamber of Commerce Building. Am a member of the Chicago Bar Association, the Chicago Law Institute, the Illinois State Bar Association. Have done nothing of any importance, but believe that I am making some progress in professional knowledge and experience, and have no other ambition.

JOSEPH WILLIAMS SCHERESCHEWSKY. When the Spanish-American War broke out I left the Dartmouth Medical School, where I was studying, and enlisted, and was assigned to duty in the Army Hospital Corps. In July, 1898, while in Cuba, I was taken sick with yellow fever. Recovered and remained on duty there till I rejoined the garrison at Portland, Maine, in September, 1898, and received my discharge from the army. Returned to the Dartmouth Medical School, where I completed my medical education, receiving my degree in the spring of 1899. I then went to New York and was appointed interne at the French Hospital on West 34th Street. Took the examinations for appointment as assistant surgeon in the United States Public Health and Marine Hospital service in October, 1899. I received my commission November 4, 1899. I served for a short time at the station in New York on immigration duty. Was ordered to Havana, Cuba, in March, 1900, for quarantine duty. I remained there three months and then was ordered to New Orleans, Louisiana, where I was attached to the Marine Hospital. I remained there for two and a half years. In March, 1903, I was detached and sent to New York. There I was in charge of the United States Immigrant Hospital for eighteen months. In October, 1904, I was examined for promotion, and on November 4, 1904, was promoted to the grade of passed assistant surgeon. Coincident with my promotion, I was ordered to Baltimore, Maryland (my present station), on special duty in connection with immigration. My life is such that I do not have much opportunity for joining clubs, but while in New Orleans was a member of the Chess, Checkers, and Whist Club of that city, also the Audubon Golf Club. I also belong to the Association of Military Surgeons of the United States. Married, June 28, 1899, in New York, Bessie Berry Conklin, daughter of George Forby and Anna Duncan Conklin. I have three children: Dorothy Duncan, born September 13, 1900; Mary Elizabeth, born February 28, 1903; and Henry Waring, born December 26, 1904.

MAX LEOPOLD SCULL. During the Spanish War I served as gunner's mate on the "Harvard." Since that time I have lived in Mexico and Europe. I am now in Paris, continuing my study of painting. During the past few years I have travelled through southern France and Italy, and the past winter I spent in Egypt.

CHARLES EDWARD SEAMAN. From 1895 to December, 1898, I was registered in the Harvard Graduate School; from 1895 to 1897 I was assistant in history; and from 1897 to 1899 assistant in government. In 1896 I received the A.M. degree, and in 1898 I passed the general examination for the Ph.D. in history and political science, but, owing to a trip abroad in 1899, did not complete the work. I visited various European countries and the far East, remaining until July, 1900. Upon returning to Cambridge in 1900 I was called to take charge of the newly established department of commerce and economics in the University of Vermont. I was married, September 10, 1902, to Florence Leyden DePauw of Indianapolis, daughter of the late Washington Charles and Frances Marion DePauw. I have one daughter, Frances DePauw Seaman, born April 14, 1905. In June, 1903, greatly to our regret, I was compelled to resign from the University of Vermont on account of my wife's health. After a few months in Europe we returned to the United States, coming to Los Angeles in March, 1904, where I am temporarily residing.

FREDERICK EDMUND SEARS. Since the second report I have continued to teach physics at St. Paul's School, Concord, New Hampshire, where I began in 1895. I was married on July 28, 1903, at Portland, Maine, to Mary Ellen Balch, daughter of George Beall and Mary Ellen Booth Balch of Baltimore. We have one child, Frederick Edmund, Jr., born on February 8, 1905. I spent the summer of 1901 in Belgium, France, England, and Scotland. In 1902 I had printed a pamphlet for use in teaching physics in secondary schools; revised in 1904–05. Am a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. For the present year, 1904–05, I am on leave of absence from St. Paul's School.

WALTER EDWIN SEVERANCE. For a year after graduation I taught in the Westerly (Rhode Island) High School, then, 1896–99, in the Portland (Maine) High School.

In 1899 I went to the Quincy (Massachusetts) High School, where I remained two years. I then moved to Braintree, to take charge of the High School there. In June, 1902, I received my Master's degree, for work done chiefly in Sanskrit. I left Braintree in December, 1904, to move to Cohoes, New York, to become principal of the Egberts High School.

MOSES AUSTIN CARTLAND SHACKFORD. I have left the service of the J. P. Jordan Paper Company, Boston, and am now a clerk in the Strafford Savings Bank, Dover, New Hampshire.

PHILIP PRICE SHARPLES. The additions to be made to the account of my life are much wrapt up in the political events of Cambridge. The accession of a strongly partisan Democratic mayor, backed by a Democratic Board of Aldermen, led, in the spring of 1903, to my losing the position of inspector of milk and vinegar. The crisis came on my refusal to appoint a protégé of the mayor as assistant, a man totally unfit to hold a public office. During the summer and fall I took a very active part in the work of a very exciting and exhaustive campaign, which resulted in the election of a Non-Partisan mayor by fifty-seven votes. In February of 1904 Mayor Daly reappointed me inspector of milk, and I have held the office since. In the fall of last year I succeeded our classmate, Howland Dudley, as secretary of the No-License Committee, and took part in another successful campaign for No-License. Since June, 1904, I have been engaged in work of a biographical nature on the papers of the late Frederick Law Olmstead, landscape architect.

CARLETON ANDERSON SHAW. I have been buying cotton in Mississippi during the past two winters. My address is Yazoo City, Mississippi.

WILMON HENRY SHELDON. I studied four years in the Harvard Graduate School, receiving the A.M. degree in 1896 and Ph.D. in 1899. Taught philosophy in Wisconsin State University for a year; then for a year at Harvard.

Became assistant in philosophy at Columbia University, New York, in September, 1901, holding this position until the summer of 1903, when I was appointed tutor. I was married, on June 16, 1903, at Richmond, Indiana, to Elisabeth Franc Dunham, daughter of Gilbert Tobey and Emma Crocker Dunham. In the summer of 1904 travelled through the Canadian Rockies, southern Alaska, and northwestern United States. Have published "A Case of Psychical Causation" in the Psychological Review, November, 1901; "The Concept of the Negative" in the Philosophical Review, September, 1902; "Intensity" in the Journal of Philosophy, Psychology, and Scientific Methods, April, 1904; "Review of Dewey's Studies in Logic," ibid., February, 1904. Was secretary of the section in logic at the World's Fair Congress of Sciences, St. Louis, September 19–25, 1904. Have given a number of public lectures in New York City on semi-philosophical subjects. Am a member of the American Philosophical Association.

LEONARD BENJAMIN SHOENFELD. Since graduation I have travelled in Germany, Austria, France, Switzerland, England, and Italy. I studied one year at the School of Art, Philadelphia, and at present I am engaged in the cloth business with H. W. T. Mae & Co., 83 Worth Street, New York City. I was married, April 2, 1903, to Adèle Joseph, daughter of Frederick and Fanny Joseph. We have one daughter, Kathleen Barbara, born December 28, 1903.

HERBERT ROLAND SIMONDS. From September, 1896, to March, 1904, was manager of the firm of A. A. Simonds & Son, Dayton, Ohio. From March, 1904, to the present time have been president and treasurer of the same firm. Am a director of the Dayton National Bank and also two other companies. Am a member of the Dayton Golf Club.

FRANCIS STUART SIMPSON. Left Nova Scotia, where I had been principal of the New Glasgow schools, August, 1903. I taught as principal in Red Deer, Alberta, till July, 1904. Then I bought out real estate, loan, and insurance business in Red Deer, Alberta, at which work am at present employed. I was married, July 12, 1899, to Mary Alice Putnam. Have two sons: Douglas Stuart, born April 2, 1900, and Charles Allen, born August 15, 1901, at New Glasgow.

CHARLES EDWARD SMITH. Since leaving Harvard I have been continuously at work in Fall River, first as a clerk in a bank, then in a mill office, and now as a cotton goods broker.

GEORGE LAWRENCE SMITH. My life since the publication of the last report has been briefly as follows: I left the office of Peabody & Stearns, architects, in November, 1902, and went to work soon afterwards for Putnam & Cox. In November, 1904, I opened an office for the practice of architecture at 70 Kilby Street, Boston, Room 96. I am a member of the Boston Society of Architects. I was married to Charlotte Eliot, daughter of Henry Ware and Charlotte C. Eliot of St. Louis, on September 5, 1903, and moved to Dedham, where I now live. A daughter, Theodora Eliot, was born, July 25, 1904.

HARRISON WILLARD SMITH. I have been at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology as instructor in electrical engineering. In May, 1905, I received the appointment of assistant professor of electrical engineering at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. I have published a report on photographic work of the eclipse expedition to Sumatra. I am a member of the American Physical Society, the Astronomical and Astrophysical Society, National Electric Light Association; associate member American Institute of Electrical Engineers; member of University Club of Boston, and Boston Yacht Club.

JEROME CARRUTH SMITH. After leaving the Harvard Law School in 1898 I practiced law in the office of Whipple, Sears & Ogden, Boston, for one year. Since 1899 I have been practicing law alone. My present office is at 84 State Street, Boston. I married, September 5, 1900, Ethel Gertrude Simonds, and have a son, Jerome Carruth, Jr., born September 2, 1904.

WILLIAM AUSTIN SMITH. From 1895 to 1898 I studied at the Seabury Divinity School, receiving B.D. degree. In 1898 I became rector of St. John's Church, Providence, Rhode Island. I lived in Italy from November, 1901, to June, 1902. Returned to this country, and was rector of St. Columba Chapel, Newport. In October, 1902, I came to Milwaukee as rector of St. Paul's Church, where I am now. I was married, June 29, 1904, to Annie Breed Smith, daughter of Joseph Newhall and Caroline Fuller Smith. Am a member of the Milwaukee Country Club, Town Club, University Club, and the Fox Point Club.

WILLIAM HEMANS SMITH. Present address unknown.

LAIRD WINGATE SNELL. For two years after leaving college I taught in the Thacher School, California, and then entered the Andover Theological Seminary. Was licensed to preach in May, 1899, and in June, 1900, I was installed pastor of the Union Congregational Church, North Brookfield, Massachusetts. In 1902 the industrial collapse of the town of North Brookfield made it impossible for my church (the second and smaller Congregational church in town) to continue to support a pastor, and the people reluctantly received my resignation. Through the kindly interest of Prof. Geo. H. Palmer I received and accepted a call to the First Congregational Church in Boxford, Massachusetts (Professor Palmer's summer home), and was installed there October 30, 1902. Early in 1904 Mrs. Henry C. Potter (wife of Bishop Potter of New York) requested me to take charge of a new club-house, to be opened in the fall, for men of the East Side, New York City. I accepted, resigned my pastorate in Boxford, July 31, 1904, and became director of the Edward Clark Club, 73 Cannon Street, New York, October 1, 1904. I have a summer home on Mt. Desert — a lakeside camp near Somesville (Mt. Desert P. O.), Maine. I was married, December 24, 1900, to Laura Mary Skinner.

FREDERICK STEDMAN SNOW. I have continued the practice of medicine at 2 Humboldt Avenue, Roxbury, Massachusetts, which I began in 1899, after graduation from the Harvard Medical School. I was married, June 12, 1899, to Amy Louise Brooks, and have a daughter, Ruth Field, born August 18, 1902. I belong to the Massachusetts Medical Society, and am examiner for the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York.

THORNDIKE SPALDING. I am still practicing law at 40 Water Street, Boston. I have served four years in the Cambridge Common Council, and was president the last year. Am a member of some Republican committees, but very largely have retired from politics. Have joined the Boston Bar Association, am a life member of the Harvard Union, belong to several Masonic bodies, and am now a 32d degree Mason and a Knight Templar.

HENRY BENNING SPENCER. After leaving college I accepted an appointment as clerk in the superintendent's office of the Elgin, Joliet & Eastern Railway, at Joliet, Illinois, in September, 1895. I became chief clerk to superintendent, October, 1896, and was appointed assistant superintendent of the Alabama Great Southern Railroad at Birmingham, Alabama, December 1, 1897. I was appointed superintendent of Southern Railway Company at Louisville, September 1, 1898; assistant general manager of St. Louis-Louisville lines of the Southern Railway Company at St. Louis, January 1, 1901, and general manager of same lines, February 1, 1901. At the present time I am occupying that position. I hold other positions as follows: director Kentucky and Indiana Bridge & Railroad Company; director and member of Executive Committee of Terminal Railroad Association of St. Louis; director American Exchange National Bank of St. Louis; director of Louisiana Purchase Exposition Company; and am on following committees: Transportation, Fine Arts, Anthropology, and Ethnology. I was married, April 30, 1902, to Katharine Price, daughter of John W. and Violet B. Price of Louisville. I am a member of the following clubs: St. Louis Club, University Club, Noonday Club, Round Table, Country Club (all of St. Louis); and of the Pendennis Club, Country Club, and Louisville Golf Club, of Louisville.

FRANK NICHOLAS SPINDLER. Was in the Harvard Graduate School for three years, receiving A.M. degree in 1896. Since then I have been teaching psychology. In the fall of 1901 I accepted the position as teacher of psychology and pedagogy in the State Normal School, Stevens Point, Wisconsin, where I now am. My work has been pleasant and profitable. Our school is up to date and progressive, with a good faculty of university men. I took a pleasant trip to Nova Scotia in summer of 1902. I have published several articles in psychological magazines.

JULIUS STAAB. Is living at Albuquerque, New Mexico.

JOSEPH LEWIS STACKPOLE. I was graduated from the Harvard Law School in 1898, and since that time I have been practicing law, in particular patent law, with the firm of Fish, Richardson & Storrow, Boston, which has become Richardson, Herrick & Neave. I was admitted to that firm in October, 1902. In 1901–02 I delivered a course of twelve lectures on patent law at Harvard Law School. I was married, October 16, 1899, to Katherine Whiteside Brown, and have two children: Joseph Lewis, born July 20, 1902, and Elizabeth, born July 22, 1904. Belong to the Country Club, Brookline; Beverly Yacht Club, Tennis and Racquet Club, and Somerset Club, Boston.

WILLIAM EVERETT STARK. I continued to teach in the Rindge Manual Training School, Cambridge, until June, 1901. In August of that year I went to Colorado Springs to take charge of the Ferris School. The next year, while retaining the management of the Ferris School, I acted as principal of Cutler Academy — the preparatory department of Colorado College. Since September, 1903, I have been principal of the High School department, Ethical Culture School, New York City. I am a member of the National Educational Association, the Schoolmasters' Association of New York and vicinity, the Head-Masters' Association, and the Harvard Teachers' Association. During the year 1900–01 I took some work in the Harvard Graduate School, and received the degree of A.M. in June, 1901. I have engaged neither in writing books nor in visiting foreign countries, as my time has been sufficiently occupied with the days' work and with adjustments to somewhat violent changes of location. My marriage to Eleanor Parker Fiske, August 3, 1899, was recorded in our last report.

EDWIN HARRISON STEEDMAN. I have continued actively in the manufacturing business, with very gratifying results, and with very little to break the monotony. I am superintendent of the Curtis & Company Manufacturing Company, St. Louis, and also a director in Curtis & Company.

CABOT STEVENS. I was with the General Electric Company, Schenectady, New York, from September, 1895, to December, 1898. Since then I have been electrical engineer for Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Brooklyn, also operating superintendent since July, 1901. I am a member of the Harvard Club of New York, Crescent Athletic Club, New York Electrical Club, and associate member of American Institution of Electrical Engineers.

WALDO WARLAND STEVENS. Worked for State Board of Agriculture (Massachusetts) on Gypsy Moth department, became inspector. Went to Massachusetts Agricultural College for post-graduate work in botany and entomology. Secured position as instructor of science at Rayen School, Youngstown, Ohio. In September, 1901, accepted appointment to teach science at Shattuck School, Faribault, Minnesota. In 1902 secured situation as instructor of science and mathematics at Betts Academy, Stamford, Connecticut, which position I now hold. During the last two years I have served as an assistant at vacation camps for boys. Travelled in Bermuda in winter of 1897. I am a member of the New York Club, of the Phi Sigma Kappa, and St. Paul Lodge F. & A. M., Ayer, Massachusetts.

ALEXANDER FRANCIS STEVENSON, JR. I received degree of M.D. from Rush Medical College, Chicago, in 1898. After a short pleasure trip through England and the Continent I spent eighteen months as interne at the Presbyterian Hospital, Chicago. Was abroad in 1900 for a ten-month stay, seven months of which I worked in Vienna and Berlin. Returned to accept a Fellowship in Internal Medicine at Rush Medical College, 1901–1902, during the first year of which I was also resident physician at the Presbyterian Hospital; and during the second year of which I was assistant to Dr. Frank Billings. I went back to Vienna and stayed one year. Since October 1, 1903, I have been in private practice in Chicago, and am now associated with Dr. H. B. Favill. I am attendant at the Memorial Institute for Infectious Diseases, medical examiner for the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co. of Milwaukee, and belong to the Chicago Medical Society, Chicago Pathological Society, American Medical Association, Edgewater Golf Club, and the Saddle and Cycle Club.

JOSEPH TRUMBULL STICKNEY was born, June 20, 1874, at Geneva, Switzerland. He was the son of Austin Stickney, '52, professor of Latin at Trinity College, and Harriet Champion Trumbull; he was thus in the fifth line of descent from Jonathan Trumbull, Harvard, 1727, Governor of Connecticut. Much of his boyhood he spent abroad, and except for a year at Cutler's School, New York, he received his early education from his father. This rare experience — an early intimacy with the old world, the privileged communion with a mind like Professor Stickney's, an ideal fellowship between father and son — had already deepened those interests in young Stickney which it is the purpose of college life to arouse. At college his courses, following the ancient program, were mainly in the classics and English composition, with an admixture of mathematics, Sanskrit, and philosophy. He was a member of the Signet and O. K. societies, and, from his freshman year, an editor of the Harvard Monthly; to this publication he made, both before and after graduation, varied and incessant contributions — essays, fiction, and poetry. He graduated in 1895, magna cum laude, with honors in classics.

After graduation, instead of taking a readier path to the doctorate in this country or in Germany, Stickney was for seven years a student at the Collège de France and the Sorbonne, Paris, enjoying the intimacy and winning the affection of scholars like Lévi and the brothers Croiset. In February, 1903, he received the degree of docteur ès-lettres, being the first American to win this high distinction. His thesis in French, "Les Sentences dans la Poésie Grecque," has been pronounced by a competent French critic, Masqueray, one of the most important studies of Hellenic literature that has appeared in France during recent years; his Latin thesis, "De Hermola Barbari Vita et Ingenio," includes the publication of hitherto unedited letters of the Venetian humanist, which Stickney discovered in the library at Lucca. These first fruits, following so extended a preparation, were an earnest of a brilliant career in scholarship.

Yet to Stickney scholarship was not a goal, but an incident in a higher ideal. As his teacher, Lévi, wrote of him, he was not only un travailleur acharné, but un esprit délicat, un philologue doublé d'un littérateur. His sensitive nature shrank from the pedantry in which learning is sometimes enveloped; he had no part with those whose occupation, to quote from his undergraduate verse, was to

> "Reckon that Castalia's fountain ran a gallon to the hour."

His calling was poetry, and to that end he devoted his finest energies. His publications in the Monthly and a first volume of poems — "Dramatic Verses," Boston, 1902 — which includes some of his earlier work, contain noteworthy achievements in diverse veins, and were a prophecy of still greater things to come. A tendency to the dramatic, obvious even in his undergraduate productions, came to fruition in the "Prometheus Pyrphoros," and in an unpublished play, which, with other pieces, will be edited by some of his friends.

In 1903 Stickney received an appointment as instructor in Greek at Harvard College. In the first and only year of his service he made an unusual impression on all classes of students with whom he came in contact. They were won by those qualities which M. Lévi had remarked — une fraîcheur et une vivacité séduisantes. His method in teaching was not to present the entire anatomy of a subject, but to arouse enthusiasm for essentials, and to develop in detail the problems which awakened immediate interest — a hard method for a plodder, but the only one possible for a genius so vivid as his. Men came to him not for dictation, but for that vitalized information which awakens intelligence. A graduate course on Greek elegiac and lyric poetry met, naturally, in his room. There, too, he gave weekly readings from Plato's "Republic" to all students who cared to come; and many came, to listen to his exquisite translations and animated comment. He was impressed with the moral and interpretative functions of the teacher, the value of his influence on wider circles. Partly for this reason, and partly because of his passion for the drama, he was largely influential in originating plans for the performance of a Greek play — the "Choephoroi" of Æschylus — to be given by the department of classics. He was to have acted the leading part, and he was the life of the undertaking. Thus his endeavor was in all ways to vivify and to propagate learning, not to dissect it. A rare intellectual leadership, a command of affections and enthusiasms, was in store for him.

From this splendid promise he has been called by an untimely death. During the past spring he suffered much from an affection of the eyes; towards the end of the summer the cause of the disease was found to be a tumor on the brain. The need of an operation was apprehended, when he showed encouraging signs of recovery. But suddenly, on October 11, he was seized with convulsions, and immediately expired. The future had many achievements in store for him, but his life is complete as it is — complete in his present attainments, complete in his ideals, which are embodied in the memory of him as a permanent inspiration for us who hold his image dear.

E. K. Rand, '94.

EDWIN TENNEY STIGER. I am still connected with The University Press, in Cambridge, as at the time of the last report. Last fall I changed my residence from Cambridge to Watertown. Since the last report I have not been more than a day's journey from Boston, except for a short trip to Jamaica. In October, 1904, I was married to Marion Moore Noblit, daughter of Joseph Chandler and Elizabeth Katherine Moore Noblit of Chadd's Ford, Pennsylvania. My only club is the Colonial of Cambridge.

RUFUS WHITTAKER STIMSON. After graduation I returned to Harvard as a student at the Divinity School, and was given degree of A.M. in 1896. While at Harvard I had been credited with somewhat more than the equivalent of two years of divinity school study. A certificate to this effect admitted me to the senior class at Yale Divinity School, where I went especially to secure Prof. F. C. Porter's courses in Old Testament and New Testament Theology. There I was graduated in 1897 with the degree B.D. An appointment to the professorship of English, with rhetoric, English literature, elocution, and ethics as my subjects for instruction, at Storrs, now Connecticut Agricultural College, followed in the summer of 1897. This position I held four years. In the fall of 1901 I was made acting president of the college, and the following summer president, which office I still hold. I preach occasionally (June, 1904, I delivered the seventh baccalaureate sermon) and give frequent addresses on educational subjects. I was elected chairman of the College Section of the Association of American Agricultural Colleges and Experiment Stations for the present year, and am, ex officio, chairman of Program Committee for the next annual meeting. I am lecturer of Mansfield Grange, 1905, and member of Connecticut State Grange. I am also a member of the Connecticut Valley Harvard Club. I have written "The English Language and Literature," published in the Annual Report, 1899, of the Connecticut State Board of Agriculture, and subsequently reprinted in pamphlet form, and "The Outlook for Agricultural Education in New England," published in Cornell Countryman, 1904. Have travelled in Canada, provinces of Quebec and Ontario; and in the United States, as far west as Minnesota, Iowa, and Missouri, and as far south as Georgia, — partly for pleasure, but principally for studying methods and results in agricultural operations on the farms, at the schools and colleges, and at the experiment stations. I was married, October 4, 1899, to Helen Morris.

ELMER EDGAR STOLL. I spent the first year after graduation at the Harvard Graduate School, receiving A.M. degree in 1896. During the succeeding years I travelled abroad and taught English at Adelphi College. Since the last report I have travelled in Europe, studied in Berlin and Munich, and at the latter place received Ph.D. I am now publishing a monograph on John Webster. I was married, July 16, 1902, to Harriet Ageeter, daughter of Frederick and Martha J. Ageeter of Lima, Ohio.

JOHN PERCIVAL SYLVESTER. From 1895 to 1899 was instructor in chemistry in Harvard College. I also studied in the Harvard Graduate School, receiving A.M. degree in 1896 and Ph.D. degree in 1899. During the year following I was professor of chemistry in Ohio University. Since June, 1900, have been treasurer and general manager of The Sylvester Co. of Boston, owners of the Danvers Iron Works — a rolling mill at Danvers, Massachusetts. I was married, in Somerville, Massachusetts, on June 6, 1901, to Adelaide Rebecca Edmands, daughter of Albert William and Mary Bartlett Edmands.

WHITMAN SYMMES. I was admitted to the San Francisco bar in 1896, making a specialty of mining law, and practiced as a member of the firm of McClaughry & Symmes, 1896–1897. In the fall of 1897 I returned to technical mining work, for which I had been trained in the College of Mines of the University of California before going to Harvard. In 1899 I was superintendent of the California Borax Co. During 1900 I acted as consulting mining engineer in British Columbia, and as consulting engineer upon dredging and harbor improvement work about San Francisco Bay. In 1901 I went to Manila to make estimates and bids upon the contemplated improvement of the harbor there, and became engineer and manager for the Atlantic, Gulf & Pacific Co., constructing the new port of Manila. I also had charge of the construction of the Coaling Station for the United States Navy, across the bay at Cavite. In 1903 I was associated with the Stauffer Chemical Co., and acted as manager of the California Vigorit Powder Co., both of San Francisco. I have spent 1904 as consulting mining engineer and as attorney in cases involving mine titles. I am at present engaged in the practice of my profession, and have my office and laboratory at 630 Harrison Street, San Francisco. I also am acting as manager of the Sucker Creek Mining Co. of Oregon. I am a member of the American Chemical Society, the American Electro-chemical Society, and the Society of Chemical Industry of London.

HENRY RUSSELL TALBOT. I received B.D. degree from the Cambridge Theological Seminary, and, after being ordained to priesthood in 1899, began work in Boston. After three years at St. Stephen's Mission Church, Boston, I volunteered for service in the foreign field, and was sent to Manila, Philippine Islands, in charge of the Anglo-American Church, reaching there February 9, 1902. Owing to illness, brought on by the tropical climate, I was forced to return to the States in 1903. After a period of recuperation I was elected Dean of the Cathedral of All Saints, Albany, New York, being installed April 4, 1904.

ARTHUR PAGE TEELE. I was admitted to the Suffolk County bar in September, 1898. Since then I have been practicing law at 42 Court Street, Boston. Married, February 12, 1900, Winifred Whittemore, and have one child, Mary Page, born August 1, 1903.

JOHN WILLARD THOMAS. He received M.D. degree from Harvard in 1900, and practiced medicine in Cambridge for about two years. In the summer of 1902 he moved to New Orleans, Louisiana, and since then the secretary has not heard from him. Present address unknown.

VICTOR SUMNER THOMAS. I was master at Milton Academy for two years after graduation, having leave of absence from the Harvard Graduate School for that period. I received the A.M. degree from Harvard in 1896, and studied in the Harvard Law School from 1897 to 1900, receiving LL.B. degree. I then practiced law for a year in Philadelphia, as assistant in the office of Melick, Potter & Dechert. I received LL.B. degree from University of Pennsylvania. In 1901 I opened my own law office in the Harrison Building, Philadelphia (connection still retained). At present I am practicing law at Bullfrog, Nye County, Nevada. I am a member of the bar of Pennsylvania and of Nevada.

FREDERICK PUTNAM THOMPSON. Since leaving college I have been engaged in business, first with the Southern Railway, and now with the Weber Railway Joint Manufacturing Co., New York City. I am a member of the Harvard Club, Underwriters' Club, and the Crescent Athletic Club, all of New York.

JAMES LINTON THOMPSON. Since the last report I have been married to Miss Celeste Harrison, daughter of Nathaniel Hooe Harrison. The ceremony took place on the 1st of October, 1903, at my wife's home, Macon, Mississippi. After my marriage I changed my residence from my father's house at 330 West 86th Street, New York City, to 487 Clinton Avenue, Brooklyn. I am still living at this address. So far as my occupation is concerned I have very little to add. I am still associated with the Thompson, Norris Co. The home office and factory are situated in Brooklyn, but the company owns and operates factories in Boston, Massachusetts, and Brookville, Indiana. The products manufactured are corrugated paper, corrugated paper specialties, granulated cork paper, and stiff boxes of various kinds.

DEXTER TIFFANY, JR. After studying law at Harvard for two years and reading law in St. Louis for a year I received LL.B. degree from Harvard "as of 1897." Since then I have been serving in the army (1898) and navy. I left the U. S. S. "Culgoa" for duty at Cavite, July, 1901, returning from the Asiatic Station in June, 1902, on the U. S. S. "Manila." I cruised the next winter in the West Indies with the First Torpedo Flotilla. I was commissioned postoffice paymaster, November, 1902, and paymaster, March 3, 1903. I was ordered to duty at Navy Yard, Norfolk, Virginia, in December, 1903. I am not married. Since the last sketch of my life I have joined the Army and Navy Club of Manila; the Army and Navy Club of Washington, District of Columbia; the Military Order of the Carabao, of the Philippines; the Virginia Club, and the Country Club of Norfolk. I am also a life member of the Harvard Law School Association.

WILDER TILESTON. I am still engaged in the practice of medicine in Boston. Have been assistant in chemistry at the Harvard Medical School and one of the district physicians to the Boston Dispensary. I am now on the visiting staff of the Long Island Hospital in Boston Harbor. I was married, November 18, 1903, in Chicago, to Clare Esther Van Auken Williams, daughter of Charles A. and Adelaide Van Auken Williams. Mrs. Tileston died at Palermo, Sicily, January 14, 1905.

MARTIN BUEL TINKER. After receiving M.D. degree from the University of Berlin, June, 1899, I practiced for a year in Philadelphia, and was also demonstrator of surgery in Jefferson Medical College. From 1900 to 1903 I was assistant resident surgeon to the Johns Hopkins Hospital, and since that time I have been lecturer on surgery, Cornell University. I am also surgeon to Clifton Springs Sanitarium. My marriage to Ethel Bates, daughter of Rev. Alfred K. and Louise Strong Bates, occurred May 4, 1905. I am a member of the Syracuse (New York) Harvard Club, and was for a year (1901) a member of the Deutsche Gesellschaft für Chirurgie.

JAMES RUSSELL TROTTER. Present address unknown.

WILLIAM MONROE TROTTER. I am still in business as negotiator of mortgages in real estate, insurance broker, and real estate agent at 262 Washington Street, Boston. Since the fall of 1901 I have been editor and publisher of The Guardian, a weekly newspaper devoted to the interests of colored Americans. It is the largest, and probably the most widely read, publication of its special class in existence. With its establishment my decision to enter the lists against discrimination because of color took tangible form. Its motto, addressed to its specialized constituency, "For Every Right, With All Thy Might," indicates its policy. All that is of significance in my personal history since has been in connection with the contest against color line discriminations. I was delegate from Boston to the national convention of the Afro-American Council held in Louisville, July 1, 1903. I was, until recently, secretary of the Boston Suffrage League, a society which grew out of the arrest and imprisonment of two men, of whom I was one, for attempting to put questions to Dr. B. T. Washington at a mass meeting of colored people in Boston. In 1903 I was a delegate to the national convention of the Negro Suffrage League of the United States, and in June, 1904, was a delegate to the second national convention of this league at Chicago. In October, 1904, I was chosen president of the New England Suffrage League, a league to work for the enforcement of the 13th, 14th, and 15th articles of the Federal Constitution, for a national "anti-Jim-Crow" bill, and for national aid to southern education. As editor of The Guardian I supported Theodore Roosevelt for President. I have made three public addresses: one on "Scientific Charity," before the Boston Literary and Historical Association, and two on the "War Amendments, How to Secure their Enforcement," before the Men's Sunday Forum, at New Bedford, Massachusetts, and before the Newport (Rhode Island) Lyceum. I married, June 27, 1899, Geraldine Louise Pindell.

HENRY D TUDOR. I am still practicing law at 82 Devonshire Street, Boston. I am not married, and I have not adopted any children. Not being a literary light, I have carefully avoided writing any books or articles, and none of the learned societies have as yet taken notice of my existence. I have held no offices of profit, honor, or trust other than inspector at elections and trustee of one or two estates. I am a member of the St. Botolph and Tennis and Racquet clubs of Boston, and of the Harvard and Manhattan clubs, New York. Went to Egypt in 1902, and then to Rome, and home by way of Gibraltar. In 1904 I went on a cruise to the West Indies, Cuba, and South America.

DAVIS FRANCIS TURNBULL. Since graduation I have been in business of various sorts. In February, 1902, I started to show an engineer a mining property on the Orinoco River, Venezuela, but ran in front of the Matos Revolution; arrived at the property, stayed eight hours to show ten square miles, and then returned to Trinidad, British West Indies, where I stayed one year, waiting to have conditions favorable to take another expedition to the mines. In April, 1903, I returned home. In November I went to work for Wickes Bros., of Saginaw, Michigan, as a boiler salesman, with headquarters in Pittsburg, where I joined the Harvard Club. After six months' stay I returned to New York. Lived one month in Scranton, Pennsylvania, where I joined the Scranton Engineers' Club.

ALFRED ELWYN UPHAM. Was principal of the Newmarket, New Hampshire, High School for two years. Since then have been superintendent of education at the New York State Reformatory, Elmira, New York. Married, October 19, 1899, Margaret Marshall Spier.

(This was published in the second report. The secretary has received no reply to his requests for information for this report.)

WALTER LINDSAY VAN KLEECK. I received degree LL.B. from Harvard in 1903. Editor Harvard Law Review, 1901–1903. Since September, 1903, I have been engaged in the practice of law in Boston, with an office at 419 Old South Building.

JOHN FAIRFIELD VAUGHAN. From June, 1896, to January, 1902, I was assistant to chief of electrical department of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, as engineer in charge of design and construction of the electrical equipment of six lines formerly operated by steam. Also engineer for Stamford & Meredith (Connecticut) Street Railway System. Since January 1, 1902, I have been employed by Stone & Webster, engineers, Boston, as engineer in railway, lighting, water power, and other work, especially in connection with high-head water power development and high-tension electrical transmission of power. Married, January 26, 1902, Ellen Thaxter Batchelor, daughter of

Rev. George and Priscilla Stearns Batchelor. I have one daughter, Elizabeth, born June 12, 1903. I am associate member of the American Institute of Electric Engineers. Have written a few technical articles for engineering journals and a paper on high-head hydraulic work.

ROBERT WALCOTT. From July, 1895, to September, 1896, I travelled around the world. During the next three years I studied law at Harvard, receiving LL.B. degree in 1899. I am now practicing law alone, with an office in the Exchange Building, 53 State Street, Boston. In August, 1904, with William Brooks Cabot, I explored a part of Labrador not previously mapped. I belong to Tennis and Racquet and Union Boat clubs.

BROOKS WALKER. In '95–'96 was engaged in the manufacture of boots and shoes with Walker, Taylor & Co.; September, '96, to June, '98, studied at the Harvard Law School. Admitted to the bar, February, 1899. Am in practice for myself at 629 Tremont Building, Boston. From June, 1897, to September, 1897, travelled in England, Holland, Belgium, France, and Germany. From January, 1898, to April, 1898, made a trip through the West Indies and South America. Belong to Elensis Lodge, Free and Accepted Masons, and since February 8, 1899, have been a trustee of the George H. Brooks trust.

(This was published in the second report. The secretary has received no reply to his requests for information for this report. Address, care of Rio Grande, Sierra Madre & Pacific Railway, Huervas Casas Grandes, Chihuahua, Mexico.)

TOWNSEND WALSH. Since leaving college I have been continuously connected with theatrical productions. I have been business manager of "The Wizard of Oz," from its first performance at Chicago, June 16, 1902, up to the present time; also in the same capacity with "Babes in Toyland," musical extravaganza. My permanent address is Players' Club, New York.

EDWARD HENRY WARREN. I was instructor in political science at New York University, 1895–96. During the same year I studied at Columbia, and received M.A. degree. 1896–97 I studied political economy in the Harvard Graduate School, and in the following year entered the Law School, where I received LL.B. degree in June, 1900. I practiced law in New York from 1900 to 1904, when I came to Harvard Law School as assistant professor.

JAMES MURRAY WASHBURN. I was four years at Chicago Medical College and one year and six months at Mercy Hospital, Chicago, Illinois, receiving degree of M.D. from Chicago Medical College, 1899. After my marriage, June 29, 1901, to Helen Van Brunt, I went abroad, and from September, 1901, to April, 1903, studied in Vienna and Berlin. A son, Edward Stevenson, was born in Berlin, June 27, 1902. In April, 1903, I returned to this country, and in October began the practice of medicine in Chicago, Illinois.

PAUL WASHBURN. The period since the last report has been taken up with an early and late application to business. Continuing with the same firm, I am now general manager of J. A. and W. Bird & Co., building supplies, etc. Our head office is at 34 India Street, Boston, with branch offices in New York, Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Minneapolis, New Orleans, Atlanta, and Montreal. I am also treasurer of the American Painting and Decorating Company, which, since the last class report, has been incorporated under the laws of Massachusetts. This company, besides doing a local business, with head office at 128 Milk Street, Boston, takes large contract work throughout the United States. I married, April 27, 1897, Mary Louise Brown, and have two children: Paul Carruth, born January 4, 1898, and Dorothy Morehead, born October 13, 1899. My home address is 342 Beacon Street, Boston.

GEORGE ARTHUR WATERMAN. Since graduation from the Harvard Medical School, and service in the Massachusetts General Hospital, I have been devoting my time to the practice of medicine, making a specialty of diseases of the nervous system. I have been, during the past three years, assistant in neurology in the Harvard Medical School, assistant neurologist to the Massachusetts General Hospital and to the Long Island Hospital. Have published a book in connection with Dr. J. J. Putnam, entitled "Clinical Diagnosis of Nervous Diseases," and various articles on medical subjects. I belong to the University Club and several medical clubs and societies.

ALFRED SIGISMUND WEILL. I received LL.B. degree from Harvard in 1898. Since then I have been practicing law. November 14, 1901, I married Louise Steele Young, Radcliffe '96, daughter of Thomas and Margaret Young. After a visit to the Bermudas I settled in Philadelphia, where I have since resided, practicing law at 1222 Stephen Girard Building. Am a member of the Germantown Cricket Club.

ALVIN WERTHEIMER. My occupation, importation and manufacturing of kid gloves, is the same as previously given. I have inflicted no books upon the public, and my articles are certainly not worth mention nor recollection. Travelled in Europe from October, 1903, until May, 1904, visiting England, France, Germany, Austria, and Hungary. I made the same trip, January to December, 1904, but visited Switzerland instead of Hungary. I belong to the Republican Club of New York.

THOMAS WESTON, JR. After teaching school for a year at Billerica I went to the Harvard Law School, graduating in 1899. Since then I have been practicing law at 42 Court Street, Boston, with Weston & Weston. Member of the Newton Board of Aldermen for 1904 and 1905.

RICHARD WHEATLAND. I am a clerk in David Pingree's office in Salem. Married, June 2, 1896, Mary Kemble Robinson. Have five children: Stephen, born March 29, 1897; David Pingree, born May 13, 1898; Lucia Pickering, born June 26, 1899; Anna, born October 12, 1900; and Martha, born November 25, 1903. From August, 1896, to May, 1897, was in Europe with my wife, in England, France, Italy, Gibraltar, and Spain. Belong to several small local charitable and political and social organizations and to Eastern Yacht Club, Marblehead.

JOHN THOMAS WHICHER. Since September, 1895, I have been with E. C. Stanwood & Co., bankers and bond dealers, 95 Milk Street, Boston. I belong to the University Club, Boston; Harvard Club, New York; Graduate Club, New Haven, Connecticut; and Hartford Club, Hartford, Connecticut.

NORMAN HILL WHITE. Since October, 1895, I have been treasurer of the Boston Book-binding Company; I control Small, Maynard & Co., publishers, and am director of the Brookline National Bank. Have published "Trimmings from a Binder of Books," 1898. I married, October 15, 1896, Gertrude Steese, and have a son, Norman Hill, Jr., born September 13, 1897. I belong to the Exchange Club, Boston; Corinthian Yacht Club, Marblehead; and Brookline Country Club.

SAMUEL PEREGRINE WHITE. I studied in the Harvard Law School, receiving LL.B. degree in 1898. I am now a lawyer with private practice, also manager of the Bankers' Surety Company of Cleveland, Ohio. My office is 60 State Street, Boston. I married, June 27, 1904, Helen Torrey Andrén, daughter of Alban and Helen Torrey Andrén of Beverly, Massachusetts. My residence is Beverly.

ALEXANDER WHITESIDE. After graduating from the Harvard Law School in 1898 I became a member of the Massachusetts bar, and began practice in Boston. On July 1, 1901, I became a partner in the law firm of Warren & Garfield, and have remained so. I should be delighted to comply with the request of the secretary and make this account of my life, since the last class report, a detailed one, had I anything to say of sufficient general interest to form the basis of such an account. Close attention to such a profession as the law, in which success comes slowly, if at all, with such recreation on the side as is consistent with my advancing years, constitute an existence which, although it develops many matters of absorbing interest to myself, includes few which can be reported to the class. I am a member of the Union Club, Union Boat Club, and Tennis and Racquet Club, all of Boston.

RAYMOND LEE WHITMAN. I lived in New York City until February, 1900, at Hamilton since then. I have been in the cotton commission business and also telephone manufacturing and exchanges, — treasurer of Couch & Seeley Company, Boston; president of Puritan Telephone Company, Boston; and president of Peoples' Telephone Company, Haverhill. I married, April 12, 1899, Florence Henrietta Hood.

HOLMES WHITMORE. Studied at the Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge, and was ordained in May, 1898. I then spent a year at the Harvard Divinity School, receiving A.M. degree. Made assistant at St. George's Church, New York City, where I was three years. I have now taken a church of my own at Dayton, Ohio. I am greatly enjoying my life here in the middle West. I have become interested in community affairs, and am connected with a number of local clubs and societies. For one thing, I am chaplain of the Third Ohio Infantry, and take great interest in that work. I find that people like to have "parsons" take a share in the common life of the community, while it is certainly good for the parsons themselves.

HOWARD WHITMORE. After graduation I studied law at the Harvard Law School, from which I received the degree of LL.B. in June, 1898. In the autumn of that year

I entered the law office of Elder, Wait & Whitman, Boston, with whom I remained for one year. Since then I have been in business for myself. For the past three years I have been located at 95 Milk Street, Boston, where I have had an office with Howland Dudley, a classmate. I was married, at Cambridge, in May, 1903, to Helen Waterston Hinkley, and have one child, Miriam. For the past five years I have been much interested in the work of the Wells Memorial Institute for Workingmen, of Boston, of which I am a trustee. During that time I have established and had charge of the Legal Aid Society for the benefit of the members of that institute and of the Peoples Institute, which does a work similar to that of Wells Memorial. I belong to Zetland Lodge, A. F. & A. M., of Boston.

MYRON WILLIAM WHITNEY, JR. Studied singing four years. Have filled professional engagements in this country and abroad since. Have travelled through England, France, Switzerland, and Italy. Belong to the Harvard Club, New York.

JAMES KELSEY WHITTEMORE. For two years after graduation I was in the Harvard Graduate School. During the following year I was in Paris, and then spent a winter in Göttingen, Germany. Since October, 1899, I have been an instructor in mathematics at Harvard.

PARKER WILLIAMS WHITTEMORE. Since March, 1901, I have been treasurer and general manager of the Laconia Car Works, with an office in the Board of Trade Building, Boston. I was married, January 1, 1896, to Grace Jones Sinclair. I have travelled in Italy, Spain, Germany, Switzerland, France, and England.

CHESTER JAMES WILCOMB. The request for the second chapter of my post-Harvard career found me at Greenville, New Hampshire, busy with the duties of the Baptist ministry. You may be sure I had enough to do; and it was not entirely with regret that, after three and one-half years, I decided to take the rest cure, whatever changes it might bring. I left Greenville, July 1, 1903, and soon after came to New York; and in the fall I began further study at Union Theological Seminary and Columbia University, at which latter institution I was a candidate for the degree of Ph.D. (I am still a candidate!) It was a pleasure to meet W. T. Brewster, '95, who was also taking courses at Teachers College. In April last, while at Columbia, a position was offered me in the Brooklyn Latin School, as master of the department of modern languages. I accepted the position, and I am still there, teaching boys to parler and sprechen. In addition to this work, which I find very pleasant, I am teaching English to foreigners in one of the numerous City Evening Schools. Just at this time, naturally, the Russian element is prominent in the evening schools, and I am getting some first-hand information regarding the feelings of the Russian peasantry toward their government. I married, February 20, 1900, Jessie May Hollister.

DAVID PARSONS WILDER was born, October 27, 1872, at Medway. He came from a family of lawyers. His father, David Parsons Wilder, Sr., received three degrees from Harvard University — A.B., A.M., and LL.B. Chief Justice Parsons, of Massachusetts, and Theophilus Parsons, author of "Parsons on Contracts," were relatives. He prepared for college at the Boston Latin School, and entered Harvard with the class in the autumn of 1891. After receiving his A.B. degree, in 1895, he went to Colorado Springs, Colorado; studied law at the University of Colorado, and received the degree of LL.B. from there in 1897. He at once began the practice of his profession at Colorado Springs, and was associated with the following firms which succeeded each other in the order named: Brooks & Armit; Brooks, Stimson, Wilcox & Campbell; and Lunt, Brooks & Wilcox. He was a member of the last firm, with offices at Cripple Creek, Colorado, where he afterwards practiced independently. He was the first lawyer appointed on the Colorado

State Board of Health; he was also attorney for the receiver of the Bi-Metallic Bank of Cripple Creek, and counsel for the Colorado Springs & Cripple Creek Railroad Company, — all of these offices he held at the time of his death. His conscientiousness and high professional ideals gave him a leading position at the bar of his adopted state, and his political influence was strongly felt in the Republican party, which, on September 13, 1904, nominated him for the office of District Attorney for the Fourth Judicial District of Colorado. His social and family life was particularly happy. June 22, 1896, he married Flora May Pearson, whose family was one of the oldest and most influential in the city of Niagara Falls, New York. There were two children by this marriage: Jeannette Pearson, born May 9, 1897, and Kathryn Van Rensselaer, born November 13, 1898. He was a member of the El Paso Club, Colorado Springs; the Rocky Mountain Harvard Club; the Cripple Creek Club, of which he was also a director; a member of Cripple Creek Lodge, No. 110, F. & A. M.; and of Cripple Creek Chapter No. 33, R.A.M. He died suddenly, at Cripple Creek, Colorado, October 14, 1904, from an attack of heart failure, and was buried at Niagara Falls, New York, leaving his wife and two daughters surviving him.

ALFRED SAMUEL WILLIAMS. My occupation is practically the same as when the last report was published. I am still managing the Byfield Woolen Company, of which I am treasurer. I was married, January 15, 1902, to Maude Frances Keller, and have one child, Jasper Keller, born November 2, 1902.

EARNEST PORTE WILLIAMS. After graduation I spent the remainder of the year at home. During the following year I travelled in the British Isles and on the Continent. I then took up the study of law and business. Since 1901 I have spent most of the time at my home in Bellefontaine, Ohio, where I am interested in banking and other business. I visited the Bermuda Islands in 1903, California in 1904, and Florida and Cuba in 1905. I was a member of the Council of the Associated Harvard Clubs which met in St. Louis, December 3, 1903.

FREDERICK BRADLEE WINSLOW. After receiving M.D. degree from Harvard in 1900 I spent a year at the Massachusetts General Hospital as surgical house officer. I then continued my medical studies for a year in Germany, returning to Boston in April, 1902. I was married in Buffalo, October 1, 1902, to Mary Stedman Williams, daughter of G. Stedman and Mary Harrison Williams. Since then I have been engaged in the study and practice of medicine in Boston.

ROBERT MASON WINTHROP. Entered the diplomatic service in the spring of 1902 as First Secretary of Legation at Brussels. After fifteen months in that capital I was transferred in the autumn of 1903 to Madrid, where I occupy the position of First Secretary of Legation.

WILLIAM BURNS WOLFFE. I was a member of the firm of Pierson & Wolffe, 35 Nassau Street, New York City, until January, 1901; then general manager of the Pullman Automatic Ventilator Company, Washington, District of Columbia. I am now a broker at 30 Broad Street, New York City, having my office with Ashwell & Co., but am contemplating a change of business.

GUSTAV WOLLAEGER, JR. After leaving Harvard in 1895 I entered the Law School of the University of Wisconsin, and graduated with the degree of LL.B. in 1897. In July, 1897, I engaged in practice of law as a member of the firm of Sheridan & Wollaeger. In August, 1899, was appointed, by acting Governor Stone, regent of normal schools of State of Wisconsin, to succeed my father, who died at that time. I married, January 18, 1900, Helen Luedke, daughter of H. August and Emma Luedke. During that year I made an extensive trip through Europe and the Orient.

In January, 1901, I was elected a director and assistant secretary of the Concordia Fire Insurance Company of Milwaukee, one of the largest fire insurance companies of the Northwest, and in April, 1901, I was appointed a court commissioner in and for Milwaukee County, by the judges of the circuit court of that county. I have two children: Harriet, born March 3, 1902, and Clarence, born September 6, 1903.

GEORGE La MONTE WOODARD. I am engaged in the oil business, as producer, with my address at 1587 Broadway, Beaumont, Texas. On October 1, 1904, I was married to Jessie Morey Bell, daughter of Lafayette and Helen Bell.

WILLIS PATTEN WOODMAN. I received the degree A.M. from the Harvard Graduate School in 1896. Taught Greek and Latin for two years in Pembroke Academy, Pembroke, New Hampshire. In 1898 I again entered the Graduate School, and, after spending a year in Rome, in June, 1902, received the degree of Ph.D. from Harvard in the department of the classics. The title of my thesis was "De arte piscandi apud antiquos Græcos." The following year I was instructor in Greek at Princeton University. Spent the next year at home, and for part of the time served as bookkeeper in my father's office in Boston. Am now classics master in the Morristown School for boys, at Morristown, New Jersey. Am a member of the American Philological Association.

HERBERT RICHARDSON WOODS. Was in Boston for two years. Since then have been in New York in charge of the New York office of the Joseph W. Woods & Son Corporation, 58 Leonard Street. Married, December 15, 1897, Aline Griffin, daughter of the late Captain Samuel P. and Emily E. Griffin.

(This was published in the second report. The secretary has received no reply to his requests for information for this report.)

RALPH FRANK WOODWARD. From 1895 to 1899 I lived in Honolulu, Hawaii, where I was superintendent of Kamehameha Normal School. I was married, February 2, 1898, to Grace Richards of Montclair, New Jersey. I spent 1899 and 1900 in Europe, travelling extensively over the Continent. I am now an assistant in Lyms School, New York City.

JOHN WINTHROP WORTHINGTON. After receiving LL.B. degree from the Harvard Law School in 1898 I began practicing law in Boston, with French & Curtiss, 89 State Street, where I am at present. I am living at Dedham, Massachusetts.

ROBERT DUFFIELD WRENN. Since the publication of our last class report I have continued in the banking and brokerage business, in New York City, with my two brothers, under the firm name of Wrenn Bros. & Co. My life has been almost entirely one of business, with no opportunity for foreign travel, and only occasional trips to the South and West in this country. I have been enabled to keep in touch with Harvard affairs, however, by frequent visits to Cambridge, in connection with football matters and other undergraduate interests.

HERBERT HILARION YEAMES. 1895–96 was a student of classical philology in the Harvard Graduate School, and took my A.M. degree. 1896–97 and 1897–98 taught in private preparatory schools for boys in Buffalo, New York. In May, 1898, went as a private with the 65th Regiment of the National Guard of New York to Camp Black, Hempstead Plains, Long Island. There was mustered into United States service and thence transferred to Camp Alger, Fairfax County, Virginia. Remained there till September. The regiment was mustered out in November at Buffalo. Came to Boston to become the private secretary of Bishop Lawrence, with whom I remained until September, 1904, when I entered on my duties as instructor in Greek and German at Wesleyan Academy, Wilbraham. July 21, 1904, I was married to Grace Evelyn Trowbridge, daughter of John Townsend and Sarah Adelaide Newton Trowbridge of Arlington, Massachusetts.

FREDERIC YORSTON. For three years after graduation I was in the office of the Registrar of Deeds, Pictou, Nova Scotia. Since then I have been in the office of the Montreal (Quebec) Star, first as reporter and copy reader and now as city editor.

WILLIAM STERLING YOUNGMAN. Since graduation from the Harvard Law School in 1898 I have been engaged in a variety of law practice, appearing a few times in State and Federal courts and before the legislature. I am fond of jury cases, but my most important work has concerned corporations, wills, and trust estates. As counsel for the petitioners I secured passage of four acts of the legislature; three relating to the Charles River dam and basin, and the fourth relating to the public schools of Boston. I have served as captain and aide-de-camp on Second Brigade Staff, M.V.M., and now judge advocate on same staff. I am secretary and counsel of the Charles River Basin Commission in charge of the work of constructing the Charles River dam and water park. I married, October 21, 1903, Helen Isabel Yerxa, daughter of Henry Detrick and Sarah Emery Yerxa of Cambridge.

TEMPORARY MEMBERS OF THE CLASS AND SPECIAL STUDENTS

HORTON SUMNER ALLEN. In June, 1892, I went into the employment of the Old Colony Railroad, auditor's office, where I remained until January 1, 1893, when I accepted a position with the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company in Boston, commencing work in the shop of the electrical department. Soon I was transferred to the position of inspector, covering a large portion of the suburban territory, and then advanced to the position of manager: first at Newton Highlands and afterwards in charge of the Newton exchange. On October 1, 1895, I was appointed special agent of the Boston Division, which position I still fill. On June 25, 1901, I was married to Edith E. Lyman, daughter of Dr. Jabez B. (deceased) and Lucy D. Lyman of Salem, where I have since made my home. Our only child, Ferry Baldwin, was born June 26, 1903. Until this year I have never filled any public office or engaged in any political work, but, at the solicitation of a large number of friends, I accepted the nomination and was elected to represent my ward in the Common Council of Salem. I am a member of the following organizations: State and National Society of Sons of the American Revolution, and the Salem Chapter of the same organization, the Essex Institute, the Telephone Society of New England, Salem Board of Trade, Salem Merchants' Association, Salem Billiard Club, and several smaller associations. At present I am vice-president of the Salem Republican Club. I am also a member of the following Masonic bodies: Dalhousie Lodge, Newton Royal Arch Chapter; Gethsemane Commandery, Knights Templars of Newtonville; and Adoniram Council, Royal and Select Masters of Waltham.

CARL EDWARD BACON. I am still in the publishing business in Chicago, and in connection have travelled considerably; first in the middle Western States, and, during the last five years, in the South, where our headquarters are in Atlanta, and on the Pacific Coast, where we have a depository in San Francisco. In the summer of 1902 I was in Europe for four months, principally in London, Paris, Vienna, and Budapest, and for a few weeks in Norway, Sweden, and Denmark. In 1904 I was again abroad, this time five months; visited North Africa, Spain, Italy, France, England, and Scotland.

CHARLES FRANCIS DORR BELDEN. In 1895 I entered the Harvard Law School, receiving the degree LL.B. in 1898. Lived at Niagara Falls, New York, from July, 1898, to February, 1899. In November of 1898 entered law offices of Lawrence & Tuttle, Niagara Falls, New York. Took New York State Bar examination in January, 1899, and was admitted to practice in February. Served as secretary to the Faculty of Law of Harvard University from March, 1899, to September, 1902. Appointed assistant librarian of the Law School, September, 1902. Leisure time devoted to study of early history and development of the English law. Director Harvard Dining Association, 1901–02, 1902–03; president of the Association, 1903–04. Member of Harvard Law School Association, Harvard Union, Old Cambridge Shakespeare Association, and Cambridge Social Dramatic Club.

LOUIS RATHBONE BEVER. After leaving Harvard I was elected secretary of the Star Pickle Works of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, holding this office until the middle of February, 1898, when I became interested in a company that was being formed in New York for the purpose of prospecting in the gold fields of Alaska. I was appointed associate manager. The prospecting party consisted of nineteen men — doctors, carpenters, and men of all trades — mostly from New York State. We left St. Paul the last of February, 1898, outfitting in Seattle, and sailed on the sixth of March, on the steamer "Valencia," for Cooks Inlet. Arriving there, after a very stormy passage, we prospected the various streams and rivers with more or less success. I stayed in Alaska seventeen months, and returned to take a position as superintendent of the Tykoon Mine, in the Black Hills of South Dakota. For the past year I have been studying law in the Kansas City Law School, with the intention of practicing mining law. Have joined the Masonic Order, the Knights of Pythias, and other minor organizations.

KINSLEY BLODGETT. I am rector of Trinity Church, Menlo Park, California.

FREDERICK DEWOLF BOLMAN. After leaving college in 1893 I was for two years with R. G. Dun & Company, at Kansas City. Since then I have been in the cattle business in Kansas, and I am now cashier of the State Savings Bank, Leavenworth, Kansas.

CHARLES WYATT BOYDEN. Since July 1, 1892, I have been in the banking business in Sheffield, Illinois; since January 1, 1900, as a member of the firm of A. W. Boyden & Son, bankers. Married, September 28, 1897, Sarah Annie Boyden.

HOMER BOYER. I spent two years in France and Germany, and since 1898 I have been at Fay School, Southborough. I spent the summer of 1903 in Italy, Austria, and Germany. My work is decidedly congenial, but my life seems so uneventful that there is scarcely anything worth recording.

MARTIN GROVE BRUMBAUGH. I was president of Juniata College, Huntingdon, Pennsylvania, and professor of pedagogy, University of Pennsylvania, until 1900. In that year I was appointed Commissioner of Education, Porto Rico. In 1902 I returned and resumed chair of pedagogy and continued as president of Juniata College. I have lectured on pedagogy all over eastern United States, and have written on pedagogy in many journals, and also on "Training of Sunday School Teacher," twenty articles for the Sunday School Times of Philadelphia. Was elected to Phi Beta Kappa (1904). With Miss A. H. Hall I wrote the "Standard Primer" (1903). I married, in 1884, Anna Königmacher, and have two children: Mabel Amanda, born in 1887, and George Edwin, born in 1890.

FREDERICK WILLIAM BURGESS. I was married, August 23, 1903, to Zaidee Palmer, daughter of Dr. Edward Dorr Griffin and Cecilia Louisa Gale Palmer.

ALBERT EDWARD CARROLL. I am president and treasurer of the Rushton-Carroll Company, Providence, Rhode Island, manufacturing woolen, worsted, and cotton machinery. I was married, March 2, 1901, to Annette O. Hugus. For the past few years I have been spending my winters in Southern California. During the summer and fall of 1903 I was in Europe. Besides my business in Providence I have interests in the West, being president of the San José di el Companero Mining Company of Sonora, Mexico. I have recently been elected treasurer of a corporation that is to build a railroad from the Gulf of California into the mountains of Mexico. This road is to open an enormous agricultural country and also give access to mines of considerable importance. I belong to two Southern California clubs.

DAVID DEMAREST CASSIDY, JR. I am still in the manufacturing business as vice-president and secretary of the Amsterdam Knitting Company, also as proprietor of the Cassidy Cap & Muffler Company, both of Amsterdam, New York. I have invented, patented, and am manufacturing a knit face and head protector, also a cap. On April 9, 1902, I was married to Mabel Antoinette Swift, daughter of Marcus George Barker and Mary Milne Swift of Fall River, Massachusetts, and have two children: Marcus Swift, born February 21, 1903, and Katrina Swift, born July 13, 1904.

Am a member of the Fort Johnson Club, B. P. O. Elks, Amsterdam Lodge 101, Amsterdam Board of Trade, the Antlers Country Club, and the Montgomery County Historical Society. I am a little more bald and carry weight for age, but otherwise am unchanged.

JOHN CASWELL. After spending two years at the Harvard Law School I was engaged for six months in the bond and stock business in Boston. Since then I have been in no business, and have spent most of my time in hunting and fishing and travelling. I belong to the Union Club of New York, the Myopia Hunt Club of Boston, and the Country Club of New York. I am also inspector of rifle practice of the Eighth Massachusetts Infantry. I was married, September 12, 1894, to Gertrude Robbins. Have two children: John, Jr., born March 8, 1898, and Elizabeth Robbins, born August 12, 1901.

PAUL CROCKER. Since leaving Harvard I have been engaged in railroad work. Am train master, Fitchburg Division, Boston & Maine Railroad, and also secretary and clerk of the Fitchburg Railroad Company. I am a member of the Boston Athletic Association.

FELLOWES DAVIS, JR. I entered College of Physicians and Surgeons, — Columbia, — in fall of 1895, graduating with degree of M.D. in spring of 1899. Received hospital appointment at New York Hospital, 7 West Fifteenth Street. Since graduating from New York Hospital in July, 1901, I have been practicing medicine in New York City, located at my present address, 58 West 47th Street. Was abroad for a short trip to England last summer (1904). Married Gertrude Agostini, daughter of Joseph and Louisa M. Agostini, December 7, 1904. Am a member of the Union Club, Harvard Club, and Knickerbocker Club of New York City, and am on the attending staff of one of the hospitals of this city, as well as a member of several medical organizations.

EDWARD MIFFIRN DEVEREUX. April 1, 1903, appointed assistant treasurer of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Co. My office is 2 Wall Street, New York City.

CARL DREYFUS. After leaving college I entered my father's business in Boston, — shirt manufacturing and wholesale men's furnishing goods. On January 1, 1896, was admitted as a member of the firm of Jacob Dreyfus & Sons, having charge principally of the financial end of the business. Married, April 6, 1899, Lilian Gertrude Shuman. In 1902 took the Mediterranean trip to Italy, spending several months among the haunts frequented by the poets Byron and Shelley, for the purpose of literary research. Again in 1904 visited Europe, coaching during the summer from London to Liverpool, through Devonshire and Wales. Am now life member of the Harvard Union, The Harvard Club of New York, Twentieth Century Club, and Boston Trade Club.

LEWIS WARREN DUNTON. I am still with E. Jones & Co., boot and shoe manufacturers, where I have been since leaving college. For the past three years have had charge of their Boston office and sales department at 183 Essex Street.

SPENCER EDDY. In October, 1903, I was sent to St. Petersburg as first secretary of the Embassy, where I have remained continuously.

SAMUEL ALDRICH ELLSWORTH. After leaving college I studied law for a year in office of Kent & Dewey, Worcester. I then became connected with the Mechanics' National Bank, where I now hold the position of paying teller. I was married, September 4, 1900, to Annabel Barrett, daughter of F. W. and Genevieve Willard Barrett, and have one son, Warren Aldrich, born April 30, 1901. Am a member of the Republican City Committee of Worcester and belong to one social organization — the Hancock Club.

FRED FARWELL. I am engaged in real estate brokerage and farm agency work at Newport, New Hampshire.

PERLEY GREENE FLINT. I am now treasurer of the Fred F. Field Company, shoemakers, Brockton. My marriage to Elsie Lillian Ewer occurred September 16, 1896.

WILLIAM CHADWICK FORDYCE. I have lived in St. Louis since leaving the university in 1895. My business has been of a very varied character, but most of my time has been given to the operation and construction of railways in the Southwest. At the present time I am president of the Little Rock & Hot Springs Western Railroad Company, a corporation owning and operating a line of railroad in the state of Arkansas. I have also engaged in many other railroad construction enterprises in Illinois, Oklahoma, Arkansas, and Texas. A considerable part of my time is devoted to the care and development of electric street railways, water works, gas works, and electric light and power enterprises. I married, on June 16, 1902, Christine Orrick, daughter of John C. and Penelope Allen Orrick of St. Louis, Missouri, and have one child, William C., Jr., born December 25, 1903. I have met with a fair degree of success since leaving the university, much of which can be properly attributed to the advantages enjoyed during my residence there. My time has been so fully occupied with the care of numerous business enterprises that I have not indulged in literary pursuits, and have, therefore, written no books or articles. I am a member of the University Club of St. Louis and of the Florissant Valley Country Club of St. Louis County.

FRANKLIN SENTER FRISBIE. Studied at Boston University and received LL.B. degree in 1895. Have been associate editor of the American Historical Register. Am member of the firm of C. C. Philbrook & Company, 307 Colonial Building, Boston, also treasurer of the Consolidated Fruit Company of Porto Rico. Am a member of the New Hampshire Historical Society; formerly secretary and subsequently lieutenant governor of the New Hampshire Society of Colonial Wars; member of the Medal of Honor Legion; secretary and now treasurer of the New Hampshire Society, of the Cincinnati. Have published article on the "New Hampshire Society of the Cincinnati," American Historical Register, November, 1894, also "New Hampshire at the Siege of Louisburg in 1745," American Historical Register, June, 1895.

(This was published in the second report. The secretary has received no reply to his requests for information for this report.)

FREDERICK GILLMORE. After leaving college was connected with my brothers in produce business in Boston under name of Gillmore & Co. In 1896 went to Louisville and stayed there a short time, after which I went to Pensacola, Florida, where I have ever since been connected with the Gulf Transit Co., which is the export department of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Co. I am now assistant agent of the above company. Married, June 17, 1899, at Pensacola, Nellie Alston Cravey, daughter of Dr. J. Z. and Mary Lockhardt Cravey. I have two children: Frederick Cravey, born September 7, 1901, and Mary Lockhardt, born October 18, 1904.

HAZEN LABURTON GOODRICH was born in Haverhill, June 19, 1870. He was associated with the class one year as a special student. After leaving college he went into business, and in 1897 became a partner in the shoe manufacturing firm of Hazen B. Goodrich & Co., Haverhill. He continued in this firm until his death, December 9, 1901, in Haverhill. He left a widow and one daughter.

TIMOTHY FRANCIS GOULDING. I received M.D. degree from Harvard in 1896. In August, 1898, I was appointed acting assistant surgeon United States Army, and in 1901 I was captain and assistant surgeon in the United States Volunteers, going to Manila in January of that year. I returned from Manila, January 16, 1903, stopping at Hong Kong, Canton, and Shanghai, China; and Tokio, Kioto, Kobe, Yokohama, Osaka, and Nagasaki, Japan. I am now practicing medicine in Boston. I belong to the Association of Military Surgeons of America.

VENZO GRANT. For one year studied medicine at College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York City. Since that time have resided on my farm at Navarre, Stark County, Ohio. Joined the Freemasons at Caldwell Lodge 330, Bolivar, Ohio, in 1899.

(This was published in the second report. The secretary has received no reply to his requests for information for this report.)

WILLIAM EDWARD GREENOUGH. On June 4, 1894, I entered the employ of the Boston Evening Transcript, and June, 1905, finds me still laboring on that admirable newspaper. Probably few men who have taken up newspaper work as a means of livelihood have managed to stick to one office as I have done in the past eleven years. When I started I was set at work in the telegraphic news department, where I learned to reel off headlines as a spring poet composes his rhymes. When the Transcript established a New York office I was sent over to assist H. T. Parker, a brilliant writer, then employed as special correspondent for the Transcript. I remained there nearly a year, returning to become a reporter. In the course of time I was appointed assistant city editor, and that position I have retained to the present writing. Incidentally I am the editor of the modest but impeccable Boston Weekly Transcript. This does not yield me free tickets to theatres, or even tenders of staple goods in lieu of cash for subscriptions: but it has given me practical experience in making up a newspaper, which promises to be invaluable when, in a few years, I purchase the entire Transcript plant. Speaking of theatres, I have taken more or less interest in theatrical doings, and at present I act as press representative for the leading theatre in Boston. I will not disclose the name of this theatre, because the seventeen other theatres in town might take exceptions to my statement. Such work may not be classed as eminently literary in scope, but it pays well. Aside from these two pursuits I have little to chronicle. I belong to no clubs, have never mingled in society, and have never been west of New York or south of Washington. On June 12, 1901, I married Grace Nichols Travis, daughter of Floyd and Katherine Davenport Travis, and the family, though a distinctly happy one, still consists of two persons.

ORLANDO DAVIS HAMMOND. I received A.B. degree from Harvard in 1896 and LL.B. Harvard Law School in 1899. I am now practicing law in Memphis, Tennessee, at 57 & 59 Equitable Building. I married, February 16, 1901, in Rosemont, Pennsylvania, Lilian Kirk McDowell, and have one child, Martha Bonner, born August 1, 1903. In 1901 I spent six months in European travel. Belong to Tennessee Club, Memphis Country Club, Memphis Jockey Club, Business Men's Club, Board of Trade, Tennessee Bar Association.

JOHN HEARD. I have been in business in Cuba for four years till a year ago, both on a sugar plantation and as a member of a Havana mercantile house dealing in agricultural supplies. I am now in business in Boston.

JOHNSON WASHINGTON HILL. I am now pastor of the Third Baptist Church, Lawrence, Massachusetts, and field secretary of the Colonial Baptist Missionary Convention. I am also secretary of the Massachusetts Rural Protective Association and of the New England Suffrage Convention. This year I am a senior in the Boston University School of Medicine. In 1904 I received D.D. and LL.D. degrees from Guadalupe College, Texas. I have been appointed justice of the peace, also notary public, in Massachusetts, and am chairman of the Executive Board of the Baptist Ministers' Conference of Boston and vicinity. I am also on the boards of the New England Baptist Missionary Convention and of the Colonial Baptist Missionary Convention, and a member of several benevolent organizations. I married, in December, 1898, Estelle Easton Mason, and have three children: Estelle Easton, born July, 1899; Ruth Emery Nancy Victoria, born October 3, 1901; and Gladys Candace Lydia Helena Magdalena, born June 16, 1904.

ARTHUR LAMBERT HOBSON. After the Mitchell Paper Company was sold in the summer of 1902 I was out of active business until December, 1904, when I was elected treasurer of the St. Croix Paper Company. I was married, June 10, 1896, to Alice Cary Gale, and have four children: John Lambert, born August 17, 1897; Alice Gale, born November 2, 1898; Arthur Lambert, Jr., born February 4, 1902; and Katherine Brown, born February 23, 1905. I belong to the Algonquin Club, Exchange Club, and Brae Burn Country Club. Have continued to live in Boston.

WILLIAM FREDERIC HOGG. After leaving Harvard College I engaged in manufacturing carpets in Worcester, Massachusetts, and was made secretary and then vice-president of the Worcester Carpet Co. Upon this firm being sold out I started making carpets under the name of the Hogg Carpet Co., of which I was the treasurer, and upon this being combined with a larger industry, I continued the manufacture of carpets in Philadelphia, trading under the name of the Durham Carpet Co. I was married, August 27, 1902, to Anne Frances Spring. Have taken my vacations by travelling, going to Europe a great many times, spending one winter in Cairo, Egypt, and last winter in Nice along the Riviera. I belong to the Worcester Club and the Exchange Club of Boston.

ALBERT REYNOLDS HUIDEKOPER. I have been engaged in a general business; director in several banks and treasurer of several companies. Have taken one trip to West Indies.

ALEXANDER HUTCHINS. My life since leaving college has been uneventful. I entered the employ of Sampson, Murdock & Company, Boston, and am still with them in a position of increased responsibility. I am manager of the Albany branch, and I have also managed temporarily for the same firm the Lawrence and Taunton directories. My best address is the home office in Boston, 155 Franklin Street. I am away from Boston about eight months of the year.

JOHN WILLIAM HUTCHINSON. Since leaving college I have been connected with Sweet, Dempster & Co., Chicago, wholesale dealers in hats and caps. The concern was founded in 1868 by my father.

JOHN PERHAM HYLAN. I am still assistant in philosophy at Harvard. In 1901–02 I was teaching doctor of philosophy, and in this capacity gave a short course of lectures on "Methods of Psychological Research." I continued research work in the Psychological Laboratory through the year 1902–03, and at the end of that time I had published in the Psychological Review, volume X, numbers 4 and 5, "The Distribution of Attention." This study had occupied me more or less closely for five years. In 1902 the study which I had made in Professor Kraepelin's laboratory at Heidelberg was published jointly with him in his "Arbeiten" (IV Band, 3 Heft): title, "Ueber die Wirkung kurzer Arbeitszeiten." In 1903–04, in addition to my Cambridge work, I was given a position to teach psychology at the Sloyd School for Teachers in Boston. There, in addition to the work of a teacher, I was given the problem of developing the psychological basis of Sloyd, — a problem which continues to develop both in scope and interest. During the next year my work at this school increased and covered an outline of educational theory. I was married, December 30, 1903, to Alice Harriet Wicker, formerly of Cambridge. We lived in Somerville until June, when I bought my present residence at Stoneham, — a small fruit farm half a mile from the village. It is our hope to maintain here some of the healthful simplicity which is too rapidly disappearing from New England life. On October 27, 1904, our son, Dudley Lyford, was born.

ARTHUR LORING JACKSON. In July, 1901, I resigned from P. T. Jackson & Co., of Boston, to become manager of the Chicago-Bolivian Rubber Co. Remained as manager of this company in Bolivia for almost three years, returning to the United States in June, 1904. I was married, December 10, 1902, to Pauline Fay Stone, daughter of William E. and Kate Fay Stone of Cambridge, at the American Legation in Lima, Peru. During my three years in Bolivia I have made many trips on mule-back through all the northern portion of Bolivia and some of the southern part of Peru. I have crossed the Andes eight times into the rubber country, and on the last trip, accompanied by my wife, I went far down the Beni River, going down and coming up on native rafts. While in Boston, during the last six months of 1904, I formed the Andes Trading Co., of which I am the general manager, living in La Paz, Bolivia. I am an honorary member of the Harvard Traveller's Club.

HERBERT FRANKLIN JENKINS. I am till advertising manager of Little, Brown & Co., publishers, Boston.

MORRIS LEIDY JOHNSTON. I am a lawyer, practicing in Chicago. No degrees have been conferred upon me since last report. Have visited England and France for a three months' tour, for pleasure mainly and for business partly. I was married, November 4, 1903, to Grace Douglas, daughter of Albert and Lucia Douglas. I am a member of the Chicago Club.

SHOKICHI KASAHARA. Returned home, Tokio, in 1894. Since 1895 have been working in the Bank of Japan, Tokio.

(This was published in the second report. The secretary has received no reply to his requests for information for this report.)

GEORGE LUTHER LINCOLN. I received my A.B. degree in 1896 and A.M. in 1897. I then went into teaching, first as an instructor in French at Leland Stanford University, and then as assistant professor in Kansas State University. I spent the summer of 1900 in Europe. Next year I shall be back at Harvard studying and instructing.

MARK LEE LUTHER. With the exception of three years of travel and law study after leaving Cambridge, I have been continuously employed in literary work in New York City. My output, aside from magazine contributions, consists of three books: "The Favor of Princes" (1899); "The Henchman" (1902); and "The Mastery" (1904); all novels, and all published by the Macmillan Company. I was married, April 8, 1901, to Grace Montagu Richmond.

WILLIS LYMAN. I am still teaching modern languages in the Irving School, 35 West 84th Street, New York City. I have spent one summer in Belgium and Italy and two summers on Long Island. I expect to be either in France or Germany during my vacation this year.

CHARLES REED LYON. I was member of firm of G. R. Lyon & Company, general merchandise, Waukegan, Illinois, from September 1, 1893, to July 1, 1901; since July 1, 1901, member of G. R. Lyon & Sons. We are steadily developing and increasing our business, according to lines established by department stores in large cities. I have been a director in the Security Savings Bank at Waukegan since January 1, 1900. I married, June 20, 1900, Maude Janet Smibert, daughter of James and Harriet Delia Smibert. I belong to the Country Club, Waukegan, Masonic bodies, Waukegan Lodge 78, Chapter 41, Commandery 12, The Elks, B.P.O.E., and in Chicago to Oriental Consistory and the "Medina Temple" of the Shrine, also to the Harvard Club of Chicago, Ashland Club, and Hamilton Club.

CLARENCE EDWARD MACK. Since 1894 have been with Elias Block & Sons, distillers of Pennsylvania and Kentucky whiskies, 2317 Grandview Avenue, Walnut Hills, Cincinnati, Ohio. In the interests of my business, and occasionally for pleasure, have visited every state in the Union and almost every city of over ten thousand inhabitants. Have averaged ten months a year for the past seven years in travelling, — about seven months for business and three for pleasure. Was abroad from June to October, 1900, travelling for pleasure in England, Germany, France, Austria, Switzerland, and Belgium.

(This was published in the second report. The secretary has received no reply to his requests for information for this report.)

CHARLES REUBEN MARSH. I am still in the real estate business in Boston. Have been abroad three times. I belong to the Puritan Club and Country Club of Brookline.

JOHN WILLIAM DRAPER MAURY. I received the degree of M.D. from the New York University in 1898. During that time of study I worked also at Cambridge, to complete a graduation thesis. That work had been interrupted by an attack of typhoid fever, which occurred at the end of my junior year at Harvard. December 1, 1899, I received diploma from City Hospital, New York. At present I am practicing general medicine, with preference for surgery. Am editor City Hospital Alumni Association, author of "History of City Hospital," a small text-book on surgery, entitled "Surgical Differentials," and of many surgical editorials in the Medical News. Am now engaged in directing and developing the Surgical Laboratory of Columbia University. From this laboratory I have published papers on experimental surgery, entitled "A Modification of the McGraw Elastic Ligature," and "Twine in Lieu of the Elastic Ligature for performing Gastro-Enterotomy." In recognition of this work I was given a fellowship by the Rockefeller Institute, and I am now trying hard to earn my salt. I am a fellow of the New York Academy of Medicine, of the County, State, and American Medical Associations. There are no "offices of profit" connected with the profession of medicine. I visited southern Europe in '95. I was married, June 12, 1901, to Alice Hortense Pray, and have one son, Henry Draper, born April 5, 1903.

ARTHUR MOORE MORSE. I left college near the end of my freshman year. Since that time I have been engaged in the business of life insurance at Worcester, — State Mutual Life Assurance Company. Belong to the Winter Club.

HENRY WARREN MORSE. Since 1901 I have continued in the hotel business in the East and South. For the past two winters I have managed the Foothills, a new resort hotel in the famous Ojai Valley, Nordhoff, California. During the summer I am located at my eastern house, The Winneegan, Baker Island, Massachusetts.

LEE JAMES NINDE. A few desultory remarks is all that can be culled from my life of the past four years. In the smaller towns of the middle West there is little to gratify cosmopolitan tastes. Our opportunities for startling experiences are very limited. We follow the regular round of work and pleasure that cheers but does not inebriate. Until about a year ago I remained in a law partnership with my two brothers. I then entered into partnership with Mr. Henry Colenck, one of the older members of our bar. I married, October 8, 1900, Joel Abbott Roberts.

JOHN LEONARD NORTON, JR. From 1900 to May, 1904, I was on the staff of the Commercial Appeal, a morning daily of Memphis, Tennessee, as commercial editor. In June, 1904, I quit newspaper work to enter wholesale dry goods and commission business with the firm of Norton, Pratt & Co., 10 North Second Street, Memphis, Tennessee. Belong to Chickasaw Guards Club, Memphis.

GALE BENTON ORWIG. On January 1, 1895, I purchased an interest in the Northwest, a newspaper published at Napoleon, Ohio, and have since become manager of same. Married, May 26, 1898, Elsie Marie Bradley. Have one son, Benton Bradley, born February 3, 1899.

GEORGE FITCH PALMETER. Lived in Chicago until 1900. At present in Berlin, Wisconsin, assisting my father in managing the Riverside Park Farm. Belong to the Masons and to the Harvard Club of Chicago.

(This was published in the second report. The secretary has received no reply to his requests for information for this report.)

FREDERIC RICHARD POW. I am still cashier of First National Bank, Salem, Ohio.

HENRY PRENTISS. I married, December 30, 1903, Leslie Boynton, daughter of Frederick G. and Helen K. Boynton. My office address is 52 Broad Street, Bangor, Maine.

WILLIAM ARTHUR PRESTON. I have been in New Ipswich, New Hampshire, since last report, and am still with the New Ipswich Telephone Co. I am a member of the Republican Club of this town and a member of the Souhegan Country Club.

FREDERICK ALPHONSUS QUINN. Since leaving college I have been identified with the leather and shoe business. The two years that followed my leaving Cambridge were spent in the West in the leather business. I returned to Boston to enter the employ of K. J. Quinn & Co. (a family affair). This concern, as manufacturing chemists, manufactures exclusively for the leather trade. My home, eight months of the year, is very pleasantly situated in the town of Weymouth, Massachusetts. The winter months we spend in Boston. I was married, November 18, 1896, to Mary Elizabeth Carroll, daughter of John and Mary Carroll, and have two children: John William, born March 4, 1900, and Catherine Mary, born April 30, 1904. I am much interested in the society of Knights of Columbus.

SAMUEL NICHOLSON RHOADS. Since leaving college my work has been chiefly zoölogical research. Married, April, 1898, Mary Allen Cawley. Have one son. In addition to research have been farmer and real estate dealer. Have been in the old-book business for two years in Philadelphia; proprietor and manager now (1905) of the Franklin Book-shop, 1105 Walnut Street, Philadelphia. Specialty, natural history and Americana. Published privately in 1903 a two hundred and sixty-six page octavo volume on the "Mammals of Pennsylvania and New Jersey," illustrated by nine plates and a faunal map. Had previously published a "Reprint of Ord's Zoölogy," Philadelphia, 1894. Discovered and described fifty new species of North American Mammals, etc., etc., in about one hundred and fifty brochures published by scientific journals in America. Am now preparing for publication the Titian R. Peale MSS. journals, made during the Wilke's Exploring and the Long's Rocky Mountain Expeditions. These journals, with the exception of three missing ones, made on the Wilke's Expedition (which are greatly desired), are in my possession. I am now life member of Academy of Natural Sciences of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; president Haddonfield Library Co., New Jersey; full-fledged member American Ornithologists' Union; member and founder of Delaware Valley Ornithological Club of Philadelphia, one of the most flourishing old bird clubs of the United States, with a live and working membership of young men meeting fortnightly, doing and publishing in original research.

GEORGE SHERMAN STOUGHTON RICHARDS. I was graduated from the Divinity Episcopal School, Cambridge, in 1893, and received M.A. degree from St. Stephen's in June, 1895. Since then I have travelled extensively through Germany, Italy, and France, spending the year of 1904, after my marriage, in Italy and France. At present I am studying metaphysics. My marriage to Katherine Noland Dudley, daughter of Rt. Rev. Thomas Underhill and Fanny Corcoran Dudley, occurred March 29, 1904.

EDWIN ARLINGTON ROBINSON. I am author of "The Torrent" and "The Night Before," 1896; "The Children of the Night," 1897; and "Captain Craig, a Book of Poems," 1902.

JOHN GEORGE ROBINSON. I am still rector of St. Thomas' Church, Dover, New Hampshire. In February, 1902, at a meeting of citizens, organized to oppose the liquor business in this city, I was elected president. Although New Hampshire was at that time a prohibition state, we had in Dover one liquor shop to every one hundred and thirty inhabitants. A bitter struggle followed, in which I was obliged to stand as the representative of prosecution. In ten months we won out, and in such a way that it was generally recognized the saloon could not run in Dover under that law. I have worked some on the Sunday School problem, and held the office of the State Sunday School Association, which includes all denominations, an office which is no sinecure. In February, 1904, I made a journey to Egypt and Palestine. I travelled independently, spending six weeks in Palestine on horseback, taking two horses and a native horseman, and visiting many places of interest, out of the ordinary line of travel, both east and west of the Jordan. It was a most interesting and illuminating journey. I returned in July by way of Asia Minor.

ALONZO ROTHSCHILD. Have lived in New York City, Cambridge, and East Foxboro; engaged in study and farming. Married, September 11, 1895, Meta Robitscheck, daughter of Herman Robitscheck and Ernestine Robitscheck. Have two children: John, born April 17, 1897, and Ruth, born January 24, 1899. Have belonged to the New York Press Club, Cambridge Conferences, Anti-Imperialist League, Free Religious Association, Society for Ethical Culture, Patrons of Husbandry, and was president of Good Government Club, New York City; also member of council of Good Government clubs and member of local school board, East Foxboro.

(This was published in the second report. The secretary has received no reply to his requests for information for this report.)

FRANK LEE DRUMMOND RUST. I am still an eye surgeon, with offices at 543 Boylston Street, Boston. I am also assistant professor of ophthalmology in the Tufts Medical School. For the past few years I have made an annual automobile trip through Europe. I was married, January 27, 1904, to Ethel Grace Haskins, daughter of John and Hannah Hodgdon Haskins. I am a member of the Union, Puritan, and Automobile clubs of Boston, and the Eastern Yacht Club and Country Club of Brookline. I also belong to the Massachusetts Medical Society, the New England Ophthalmological Society, and the Boston Medical Library.

EDWIN WARNER RYERSON. In 1897 I received M.D. degree from the Harvard Medical School. Spent one year at the Children's Hospital, Boston, and then, after a six-month stay in Europe, began practice in Chicago. I have lately been appointed adjunct orthopedic surgeon to St. Luke's Hospital, surgeon to the Chicago City Railway, and medical examiner to the Union Mutual Life Insurance Company, and was last year secretary of the Chicago Orthopedic Society. I also joined the American Medical Association and the Mississippi Valley Medical Association, and have been for several years physician and surgeon to the Chicago Parental School. I married, December 6, 1904, Adelaide Kendall Hamilton, daughter of David Gilbert and Jane Kendall Hamilton. Every Saturday afternoon in the summer I sail in the races of the Saddle and Cycle Club one-design raceabouts, and spend the remainder of my leisure time in arguing with a thoughtless automobile. Life is very cheerful and rather strenuous in Chicago, and the only cause for regret is that we see so little of our old classmates.

CHARLES WARREN SAXMAN, JR. I am continuing my work in mining of various kinds in different parts of the country. At present I am engaged in coal mining in Pennsylvania.

GEORGE FREDERICK SCHWARZ. Since leaving college I have devoted much time to the study of forestry, and in January, 1899, I became connected with the Bureau of Forestry, United States Department of Agriculture. I remained in the government service until April, 1904, when I tendered my resignation in order to continue my work as a forester in a private capacity. For the National Bureau of Forestry I prepared a number of scientific reports. One of these, dealing with the question of the influence of forests upon water conservation, was published by the government, with illustrations, in 1903; another, I believe, is now in press. I have also contributed a few short articles and critical reviews to scientific journals. In 1903 I visited British Columbia, and last summer, 1904, western Europe. Since the second class report I have joined the Society of American Foresters, the National Geographic Society, various state forestry associations, and the Cosmos Club of Washington, District of Columbia.

ROBERT GOULD SHAW, 2d. I am now living in Brookline. Married, February 6, 1903, Mary H. Converse, and have a son, Gould, born April 12, 1904, at Brookline.

WALDO HENRY SHERMAN. I am in Washington, continuing my studies in civics, having resigned my position in New York City in 1903 for that purpose. My marriage to Abbie Imogene Phillips, August 17, 1893, was recorded in the last report.

BENJAMIN DALAND SHREVE. Since November 8, 1895, I have been with the Shreve, Crump & Low Company, 147 Tremont Street, Boston. I belong to the Eastern Yacht Club, the Salem Club, and the Salem Country Club.

GEORGE HARRISON SHUMAN. I am a member of the firm "E-J" Electric Installation Company. I married, June 17, 1903, Lillian Beatrice Ehrenreich of New York. Belong to Electrical Contractors' Association, New York Building Trades Association, New York Electrical Society, and the Young Men's Christian Association.

EDWARD SLADE. I was with the American Bell Telephone Company till the autumn of 1896, and proprietor of the Slade Electric Company of Quebec, Canada, 1896 to 1899. From October, 1899, to March, 1903, I was general manager of the Jacques Cartier Electric Power Company of Quebec. At present I am one of the proprietors and treasurer of the American Asbestos Company, Ltd., of Black Lake, Canada. I married, September 26, 1896, Euphemia Tudor, and have two daughters: Euphemia Louise, born May 22, 1897, and Rosamond Tudor, born March 9, 1898. I belong to the Brookline Country Club; the Norfolk Country Club; Union Club of Boston; Tennis and Racquet Club; Harvard Club, New York; Quebec Garrison Club; Victoria Curling Club, Quebec; and am honorary member of the Officers' Mess Club, Royal Canadian Artillery, Quebec.

GEORGE THOMAS SMART. From 1894 to 1902 I was Congregational minister at Manchester, Vermont. Since then I have been called to the pastorate of the Newton Highlands Congregational Church, Newton, Massachusetts. I received D.D. degree from Middlebury in 1900. I have given three courses of lectures: 1902–1903, on "The English Satirists"; 1903–1904, on "The Poets and Prosemen of the Nineteenth Century"; and, 1904–1905, on "The English Cathedrals." In 1904 I published a short study of Wordsworth, and at present I have a study of Christian conduct, entitled "Life's Stages," in the press. I spent the summer of 1903 in Great Britain. I was married, August 22, 1888, to Charlotte Beatrice Hurlbert, and have two sons: Stephen Bruce, born June 10, 1889, and Paul Harvey, born January 13, 1892. I belong to the Boston Browning Society and several ministerial clubs.

HENRY BURNSIDE SMITH. I am instructor in Latin at Denver (Colorado) High School. Have delivered addresses before Denver Teachers' Club and other educational organizations. I was married, March 24, 1902, to Nellie L. Ward, daughter of Silas E. and Mary Ellen Ward, and have a daughter, Ada Lorene, born March 24, 1903.

IRA ANDREW SMITH. As a musician have been connected with numerous theatres, concert companies, and theatrical companies. Travelled in New England, New York, and eastern coast states, 1893–96; in Canada and Florida, 1896–97.

(This was published in the second report. The secretary has received no reply to his requests for information for this report.)

LOUIS EDWIN SMITH. I have been in business in Salem, first as bookkeeper for H. N. Smith, then in the life insurance business with the Equitable Life Assurance Society, and since January 1, 1905, with the Prudential Insurance Company. I belong to the Colonial Club and to the Now and Then Association, both of Salem.

JEWELL DAVID SORNBORGER. Am a student, Cambridge.

FRED MICHAEL STEIN. Since the last report I have continued in the firm of S. Stein & Co., importers and jobbers of woolen goods, without interruption. I was married, November 26, 1904, to Beatrice Cecilia Borg, daughter of Simon and Cecilia Borg. I have done a little civic work in the last four years, and in 1902 I assisted in the management of the campaign of William Traverse Jerome, as one of his personal assistants. Since that time I have been engaged in active civic work with the East Side Civic Club, which organization I assisted in forming. I also helped in establishing an East Side daily paper, as a protest against the dishonest practices of many influential papers of that district. I am a member of the Harvard Club of New York, the Century Country Club, the Harmonic Club, the Chamber of Commerce, the City Club, the Aldine Association, and the East Side Civic Club, of which I am vice-president.

JULIUS STERNFELD. I received LL.B. degree from Harvard Law School in 1895, and began the practice of law in Montgomery, Alabama, August, 1895. I am now in second term as assistant United States attorney for the middle district of Alabama. I was appointed special assistant United States attorney in July, 1903, by the Attorney-General of United States, in charge of the peonage and "whitecapping" cases. I pursued the investigations vigorously into remote parts of the country, and as a result of these prosecutions and investigations, the vicious labor law of Alabama has been declared unconstitutional, hundreds of human beings have been given their freedom, and labor itself placed upon a higher and nobler plane. I was named by President Roosevelt, in June, 1904, to be special assistant Attorney-General in certain peonage and "whitecapping" cases, and made the argument and brief in the Pace Peonage test case in United States Court of Appeals for Fifth Judicial Circuit. Am engaged in the general practice of the law.

HORACE NATHANIEL STEVENS. After leaving college in 1892 I went into the dry goods business, and since October, 1902, I have been in the commission dry goods business with my brother's firm, J. P. Stevens & Co., New York. I belong to the Harvard Club of New York, Squadron A, Baltusrol Golf Club, and the New England Society.

EDWARD CARROLL TABER. I have continued as treasurer of Taber Lumber Company, Keokuk, Iowa, since my last report, spending a good deal of my time the past three years at Duluth and Virginia, Minnesota, in connection with my business. Am a member of the Duluth Commercial Club, Virginia Club, Keokuk Country Club, Keokuk Club, and have served as director in last two named clubs. I expect to continue in my present business indefinitely.

ARTHUR WILSON TARBELL. I became assistant editor of The National Magazine in March, 1896, and editor from 1897–99. Since 1900 I have been editor of The Brown Book, Boston. I married Edith Stone Kendall, daughter of George A. and Achsah Hawes Kendall of Newton Centre, Massachusetts, October 1, 1902. I have a son, Donald Kendall, born November 8, 1903. My residence is 15 Standish Street, Newton Highlands. I went abroad once in 1895, twice in 1899, and once in 1903, taking in England, France, Germany, Holland, Belgium, and Switzerland. Have written travel articles for magazines more or less regularly. I am a member of the Twentieth Century and Economics clubs of Boston.

EDWARD RANDOLPH LAIDLEY TREAT. Since leaving college I have been associated with my father, Atwater J. Treat, in the merchant tailoring business at Indianapolis, Indiana, under the firm name of A. J. Treat & Son. On the death of my father, in 1902, I succeeded him in the business and am still conducting it under the same firm name. I was married, January 11, 1900, to Eva Pauline Henderson, daughter of Howard E. and Isabelle Henderson. Have a daughter, Virginia Pauline, born December 22, 1901. I have travelled through England, Scotland, Ireland, and France. I belong to the Columbia Club of Indianapolis.

CARL SCHURZ VROOMAN. I have written a pamphlet called "Taming the Trusts," and the following articles: "Twentieth Century Democracy," Arena, November, 1899; "The Best Side of Paris," Outlook, January 24, 1903; "The Tyranny of Servants — A Fable," Arena, February, 1903; "Europe from a Cycle Saddle," Pilgrim, June, 1903; and "Cycling through Tuscany and Umbria," Pilgrim, August, 1903. For two years, 1898–1900, I was a regent of the Kansas State Agricultural College. In 1900 I went abroad, and spent eighteen months in studying social and political conditions in France, Italy, Switzerland, England, Belgium, and Holland. I was married, December 28, 1896, to Julia Green Scott, daughter of Matthew Thompson and Julia Green Scott. I am a member of the American Branch of the Society for Psychical Research, the American Academy of Political and Social Sciences, and the Twentieth Century Club, Boston.

JAMES SAMUEL WADSWORTH. Have been engaged in farming, hunting, and racing. Married, December 18, 1895, Julia Kennett Whittaker. Have two sons: James Livingston, born October 12, 1897, and Christopher, born March 30, 1900. Belong to the Union Club, Knickerbocker Club, and City Club.

HENRY PICKERING WALKER. Since leaving college I have been engaged in electrical work with various companies. In the fall of 1902 I accepted a position in the General Electric Company at Schenectady, New York, and have been with them since. During the Spanish War I served in Porto Rico with the First United States Volunteers, as second and first lieutenant.

ALLEN WARDNER. From June, 1900, to May, 1901, I was in Arizona and New Mexico "punching" cows. On returning to the East I went to work for the National Biscuit Company at Cambridgeport, where I was employed until December, 1903, when I went to Chicago to take charge of a factory for the same company. I left the employ of the National Biscuit Company in October, 1904, and came to San Francisco to accept a position with the Oregon Railroad & Navigation Co., where I am at present.

SAMUEL WEILL. After graduation from Buffalo Law School I practiced law in Buffalo until February, 1903, when I became associated with The Stein-Bloch Company, at Rochester, New York. I was married, April 19, 1899, to Bertha N. Stein, daughter of Nathan and Mina Stein of Rochester, New York.

JOSEPH DEUTSCH WEIS. In June, 1898, I received M.D. degree from Harvard and then began service as house officer at the Massachusetts General Hospital. I was instructor in histology in the Harvard Medical School for a year, and spent a year abroad in study and travel. I have also been an Austin teaching fellow in surgical pathology in the Harvard Medical School and assistant in bacteriology there. In 1902 I came to New Orleans to practice internal medicine. I became director of the Clinico-Pathological Laboratory, Tours Infirmary, 1904. I am chief of clinic to the Chair of Clinical Medicine, Tulane University Medical School, and visiting physician to the Charity Hospital, New Orleans. I have published a few articles on medical topics. I belong to the following clubs and societies: Louisiana State Medical Society, Orleans Parish Medical Society, Medical Research Club, American Association of Pathologists and Bacteriologists, American Medical Association, American Association for the Advancement of Science, and the Round Table Club of New Orleans.

STRAFFORD WENTWORTH. Have been in business in Boston since 1894, — wool and telephones. Was first with Luce & Manning, then Mills & Harding, Wentworth & Company, now Wentworth & Blake.

(This was published in the second report. The secretary has received no reply to his requests for information for this report.)

HOWARD EARLE WHITING. I was park engineer, Cambridge, 1895–96; general superintendent of parks, Cambridge, 1897–1902; treasurer of the J. D. Jewett Company, Boston, 1902–04; with J. Ransom Bridge & Co., in stocks and bonds, from October, 1904, until dissolution of the firm in December, 1904. I am now with Burnham, Bennett & Co., members of the Boston Stock Exchange, 131 State Street, Boston. I married, November 1, 1899, Bertha Florence Dearborn. Have two sons: Howard Earle, Jr., born January 7, 1901, and a boy (not named), born June 29, 1904. I travelled through Italy, Greece, Turkey, Egypt, and the Holy Land in the early part of 1898. Belong to the Colonial Club, Cambridge; Tedesco Country Club, Swampscott; and Apollo Club, Boston.

JACOB POTTER WHITTREN. At the present time my official position is Deputy United States Mineral Surveyor for Alaska, which position I have held for the past two years, with headquarters at Nome, Alaska. I am also civil engineer for the Solomon River Ditch Company, the Dry Creek Ditch Company, and the Topkeep Ditch Company, all operating in the district of Alaska. I was married in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, November 24, 1904.

WILLIAM LLOYD WIDDEMER. After leaving Harvard I spent three years as examiner in the University of the state of New York (English branches). I resigned from the university to study law. I served clerkship in offices of Hon. Geo. H. Stevens, and graduated from Albany Law School, receiving the dean's prize. I was admitted to the bar in September, 1901, and am now engaged in practice.

JAMES HUNT WILLIAMS. Have been editor and publisher of the Norwalk Chronicle, Norwalk, Ohio, since December, 1895. Married, June 30, 1896, Carrie D. Fox. Have two sons: Frederick Fox, born October 18, 1898, and Theodore, born May 23, 1902. Am a life member of the Whittlesey Academy of Arts and Sciences, Norwalk, Ohio. In 1900 I joined the Ohio National Guard as a member of the headquarters staff of the Fifth Infantry. January 1, 1904, I was appointed a personal aide on the military staff of Governor Myron T. Herrick of Ohio.

WILLIAM ARTHUR WING. I am still with the Potomska Mills Corporation (cotton), New Bedford, Massachusetts. I travelled abroad in 1901. I have studied law at Boston University and in the office of Robt. F. Raymond, New Bedford. Belong to the Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Phi Delta Phi fraternities, and Society of Mayflower Descendants.

HOWELL THOMAS WOOD. Received LL.B. degree from Boston University Law School. Am now practicing law at 30 Court Street, Boston. Am secretary of Jamaica Plain Business Men's Association and a member of Ward 22 Republican Committee. Have in preparation "The Sunday Law of Massachusetts."

(This was published in the second report. The secretary has received no reply to his requests for information for this report.)

BEN JAMES WORMAN. In the fall of 1895 I went to Outing Publishing Company offices as business and editorial assistant to the head of that company, and in 1896 became editor-in-chief and business manager of the company. Since 1900 I have spent my time in leisure, country life, and travel. I have travelled extensively in America and in Europe. I married, April 28, 1897, Ama Mahala Atkinson, and have two children: Virginia King, born May 1, 1898, and Elliott Parker, born May 1, 1901. Belong to the Albany Press Club, Albany Automobile Club, Albany, New York; and to the Bessborough Club, Westport, New York.

CHARLES BURTON WORMELLE. After graduation from the Harvard Medical School in 1898 I studied medicine for four months in London and Paris. On returning I served for two years as house officer at the Boston City Hospital, and in April, 1901, I received an appointment as house officer at the Children's Hospital, Boston. I am now in private practice, with an office at 551 Boylston Street, Boston. I belong to the Allston Golf Club.

HARRY JAMES YOUNG. Since last report I have continued my work in structural engineering, being engaged with Purdy & Henderson, New York and Boston, and the Cambria Steel Company, Johnstown, Pennsylvania.
